FEAR OF WAR STIRS CONGRESS

ALDERMEN GIVE GROUND ON 10% UNION PAY CUT

New 5% Proposal Up to Mayor Today.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

More than three weeks ago the finance committee of the city council voted a 10 per cent cut in the pay of the city's union employés for 1941. The purpose of the cut, they agreed, was to keep the year's operating budget within anticipated revenue.

Since then the leaders of the committee have asserted that they would not be bluffed out of the pay cut, even in the face of a strike ultimatum handed them by representatives of the 20 unions whose members are involved.

A New Plan Bobs Up.

Last night, however, three days before the budget comes up for final passage by the council—on Thursday—the aldermen announced that a new plan would be considered. This was after a hearing before a subcommittee during which the unions argued against the 10 per cent cut.

The new program, the aldermen said, also would keep the city budget down. However, it would reduce to about 5 per cent the union employés' pay cut and would extend the 5 per cent reduction to all city employés who receive salaries comparable to those of the union men. Most of the union salaries involved range from $3,000 to $4,500 a year. Approximately 1,700 union men are employed by the city. About 2,300 other employés would be affected by extension of the cut.

Await Mayor's Views.

The aldermen admittedly were doubtful as to how Mayor Kelly will receive their new proposal. The mayor returns to the city today. When the finance committee voted the pay cut he complimented its members.

[The city's practice of spending more than it receives in revenue has caused a rise in unpaid bills that threatens the return of payless paydays. Story on page 3.]

The new proposal came after the unions had handed a compromise to Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the finance committee, at yesterday's hearing. The unions said they would accept putting all the city union employés on a straight daily pay basis with double time for overtime and pension rights and vacations protected.

At present these employés are on an annual salary basis. Their pay, according to a report submitted to the alderman by a budget survey committee, is higher than that for comparable jobs in private industry.

Inequalities Discovered.

"Under the 10 per cent cut proposal we said we would take no man below the daily union scale," said Arvey, who is also chairman of the subcommittee. "We have learned from our staff investigation that this would create many inequalities. It is impossible to determine all job classifications at this time. We are prepared, therefore, to make a recommendation to Mayor Kelly tomorrow. We will notify the unions of our decision on Wednesday."

While Ald. Arvey would not reveal the details of the new proposal, he indicated it would include a recommendation that a commission be named to investigate all city union jobs this year in order to adjust them all to the wages paid union employés by private industry.

Sees Greater Savings.

"We are reiterating our original stand," said Arvey. "We thought we would save $340,000 under the 10 per cent cut, but we found some men worked six days a week instead of the regular five and others had other differences of working conditions. Because of overtime such variations would have reduced the saving. We still contend that there is need for adjustment between city paid union salaries and outside salaries.

"I think we will save more than the $340,000 under the new plan. We insist the 1941 budget must balance at its present $54,391,000."

The subcommittee has revealed that the city has no accurate way of determining how many hours a day an employé works or how many days a week. One alderman said: "The department superintendents don't help us on that. Usually they are members of the same union as the men and will stand by whatever the men say. We hope a negotiating and investigating commission can find out the facts."

130,000 JAM CITY FOR CONVENTIONS

Record Crowd Expected to Spend 7½ Millions.

Chicago, the convention city of the nation, found hotel rooms yesterday for one of the greatest multitudes of out of town visitors in the city's history.

William J. Hennessy, convention manager of the Chicago Association of Commerce, estimated that the city has 130,000 visitors, most of whom will remain until the end of the week. Many will still be here next week.

Hennessy estimated that the crowd will spend 7½ million dollars here.

Three Great Trade Shows.

Three great trade exhibits opening in the same week accounted for the bulk of the crowd. These were the national furniture shows at the Merchandise Mart and the American Furniture Mart and the National Shoe Fair at the Stevens hotel.

Hennessy said the furniture shows brought 24,000 and the shoe fair 30,000. Thirty allied exhibits and conventions accounted for many thousands more. The household appliance show at the Palmer House attracted 6,000.

Other gatherings included the National Association of Hardwood Wholesalers at the Congress, the National Shoe Retailers' association and the National Boot & Shoe Manufacturers' association at the Stevens, the National Association of Housing Officials' midwest conference at the La Salle and the National Wholesale Jewelers' association at the Sherman. Numerous private companies had exhibits and conventions.

All Taxed to Capacity.

Ken Williams, vice president of the Greater Chicago Hotel association, said that every hotel in the loop was sold out and that hotels thruout the city were taxed to capacity. Some late comers were sent to Evanston hotels.

The hotel association, coöperating with the Association of Commerce, found accommodations for the tremendous number thru a central housing bureau. Branches were maintained in the loop hotels. Guests who could not be given rooms downtown were found hotel lodgings in the outlying hotels.

Many of the gatherings will terminate late this week, but the furniture shows will continue next week.

Great Britain Takes First Major Step to Draft Labor

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP).—Britain's insistent demand for speed and more speed on the home front in what every Englishman believes will be the most decisive year of the war was met by Prime Minister Churchill today with the dramatically timed creation of three new executive bodies [councils] to deal with production, imports, and postwar reconstruction.

In the first major move to draft labor, Churchill put into the hands of three members of his government sweeping powers over the men and women who constitute these islands' industrial forces. They are Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, who was placed in charge of a new production organization; Minister of Supply Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, who is to boss the all important import group, and Minister without Portfolio Arthur Greenwood, who will make a study of postwar reconstruction.

Vital Business of Food.

While Sir Andrew's group attends to "the vital war business of bringing food from overseas, supplying the fighting forces and keeping the life of the country going," Bevin's organization "knowing what our output must be, must achieve it."

Bevin's council [or "executive," as each of the three new bodies were defined in an official announcement from No. 10 Downing street] will get broad authority to do what it likes with raw materials, with factories and workshops of Britain.

The official statement's reference to allocation of labor was the first official intimation that the government may use powers granted last May 22 to say where and how available manpower is to be used.

Join Existing Committees.

In a move to insure even further coördination, the newly created chairmen will sit with the heads of the existing committees of defense, home policy and food policy to advise the war cabinet concerning the home front. Sir John Anderson, lord president of the council, will sit as chairman of all these groups.

The speed which Churchill hopes the new executives will reach, the government's official statement said, "will help the war cabinet take on an even faster tempo."

It was asserted that if there should develop any threat of departure from the government's policy, "the guiding hand of the prime minister and the war cabinet will always be there to rectify it."

The first major reorganization of Churchill's wartime government, it was interpreted as designed to streamline activities and cut to a minimum delays resulting from overlapping functions of agencies hastily established in the first year of the war.

Associated with Bevin in the production organization, which replaces the production council, are Lord Beaverbrook, minister for aircraft production; Capt. Oliver Lyttleton, president of the board of trade; and Sir Andrew.

Sir Andrew's import executive includes Lord Beaverbrook, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty; Capt. Lyttleton and Lord Woolton, minister of food. They represent Britain's chief importers.

Plan Ministry Later.

The announcement said Greenwood had taken responsibility for a study of reconstruction and postwar problems, and that later on, when the war's end can be more freely foreseen, a ministry would be formed for this purpose.

Greenwood meanwhile will be chairman of a group of ministers whose object will be to find practical solutions for immediate problems of transition from war to peace, also to outline and presently to amplify policy for the years immediately following the war, "which will command the support of the nation as a whole and enable united action to proceed in peace as in war."

Churchill himself assumed responsibility for insuring that the work of the imports and production bodies would correspond with general policy.

PRESIDENT ASKS FULL U. S. AID TO BEAT DICTATORS

Proposes Unlimited Sending of Arms.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt's message to congress today proposing to dedicate the United States to the destruction of the dictatorships of Germany, Italy, and Japan was the first gun in a mighty legislative battle, the greatest since the league of nations fight two decades ago.

The interventionists in both senate and house rallied solidly to the President's program to supply arms in unlimited volume to Great Britain, Greece, China, and any others that will prosecute war on the dictators until the totalitarian form of government is exterminated.

Prepare to Fight Project.

The noninterventionists girded for stubborn opposition to the President's project, which they view as going far beyond a realistic defense of the United States from attack and embracing an attempt at world policing and foreign conquest that would require the dispatch of our navy to Asia and of a huge army to Europe.

Mr. Roosevelt personally appeared to read his message at a joint session of house and senate at 2 p. m. [1 p. m. Chicago time].

Claiming virtual unanimity of the American people in his support, the President bore himself confidently and aggressively in delivering the most momentous Presidential message to congress since Woodrow Wilson in 1917 called for a declaration of war on Germany. For 40 minutes he read clearly and forcefully, now and then tossing his head defiantly.

Gives Pledge for America.

It was in a specially loud voice and with a particularly belligerent manner that he proclaimed:

"Let us say to the democracies: 'We Americans are vitally concerned in your defense of freedom. We are putting forth our energies, our resources, and our organizing powers to give you the strength to regain and maintain a free world. We shall send you, in ever increasing numbers, ships, planes, tanks, guns. This is our purpose and our pledge."

The President defied the dictators to regard American aid to their enemies as an act of war.

Conspicuously lacking from the message was any such pledge as Mr. Roosevelt and his party gave in the Presidential election campaign that American troops will not be sent overseas. He contented himself with saying that the foes of the dictators do not need manpower "but do need billions of dollars worth of the weapons of defense."

Warns Future Is Unknown.

That he does not close the door to the dispatch of an army to Europe was indicated, however, by that passage of the message in which the President said: "No one can tell the exact character of the emergency situations that we may be called upon to meet. The nation's hands must not be tied when the nation's life is in danger."

As defined by the President our national policy is:

1. "All-inclusive national defense."
2. "Support of all those resolute peoples, everywhere, who are resisting aggression and thereby keeping war away from our hemisphere."
3. Never to "acquiesce in a peace dictated by aggressors and sponsored by appeasers."

Mentions Fifth Columnists.

In dilating upon the danger which he said confronts the United States, the President asserted that the dictators' fifth columnists already have gained admission to the United States and Latin America to prepare the way for the landing of regular troops.

Mr. Roosevelt asked congress to vote whatever funds are necessary to finance the production of armament for the foes of the dictators. He said it would take billions of dollars, how many he did not undertake to estimate. To arm Britain, Greece, and China he said he would not recommend a money loan to be repaid in money, but a loan of the actual war equipment.

The message was almost entirely devoted to the war program and observations on the progress of defense production, including extenuation of lagging airplane manufacture and a recommendation of higher taxes to meet a part of the national defense cost.

LEADERS WARN OF DANGERS IN ROOSEVELT TALK

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—A thread of fear ran thru the utterances of senators and representatives who voiced their reaction today to the message of President Roosevelt.

Senator Taft.

That fear, it was evident, was prompted by a realization that the United States now seems irrevocably pledged to war—"war on the world"—as one congressman put it. And many noted a war dictatorship appears near for this nation.

From the outright advocates of American participation in the war came high praise of the speech as "a great message from a great leader." But even from some of the most loyal administration supporters came the reluctant admission that the President had "covered a little too much territory."

Foresees Dictatorship Here.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], one of the noninterventionist leaders, regretted the speech had not been made before the election.

"It was intended to frighten the American people to a point that they would surrender their liberties and establish a wartime dictatorship in this country," he said.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], supporter of aid to Britain short of entering the war, said he thoroly disapproved the method of loaning munitions abroad suggested by the President.

"He is asking again for unlimited personal authority to loan abroad as much as he sees fit, without coming to congress for appropriations or further authority, and confusing inextricably our already confused defense program with that of England," Taft said.

Calls It "War Upon World."

The "war upon the world" theme was stressed by several members. The phrase itself came from Representative George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.], who said:

"President Roosevelt today declared war upon the world. He announced that the United States will impose its principles of government and philosophy by force of arms, if necessary, on every continent."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] said the President had made a "strong plea for peace thru war-by-proxy."

"For the sake of America," Vandenberg added, "I hope his program will never have to go farther."

"It was a fine speech," said Senator Allen J. Ellender [D., La.], administration supporter, "but I think the President covered a little too much territory."

Illinois Senators Disagree.

There was a sharp cleavage of opinion between Illinois' two senators.

"The speech proposes a course of action that brings us another step closer to actual participation in European war," said Senator Wayland Brooks, Republican. "We should extend aid to countries fighting for principles of freedom against the aggressor nations but should not indulge in acts that will make us voluntary participants in war or neglect our own national defenses."

"It was a great American speech," asserted Senator Scott Lucas, Democrat, "that should be reassuring to all Americans who believe America is in peril thru the machinations of the old world dictators."

"I agree with most of what he said," said Representative Charles A. Gifford [R., Mass.]. "If he hadn't embraced the whole world it would have been better."

Puts It Up to Congress.

"He is still making war speeches," remarked Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], "but the important thing is for congress to exercise its responsibilities and do what it thinks is best. I am still for keeping out of war over there."

Representative James W. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.] said he was in general accord with the foreign policy laid down in the speech.

"I am glad that the President emphasized that the period ahead is to be a period of personal sacrifice and not personal profit," commented Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.].

"If there was ever any doubt as to Mr. Roosevelt's intentions," said representative Dewey Short [R., Mo.], "it is now dissipated. It is as clear as sun light that he is getting us into war. It points to repeal of the neutrality and the Johnson acts."

[Reports of the comments of foreign capitals on the President's speech will be found on page 2.]

SCHEME TO LEND ARMS IS CAST AS ONE MAN SHOW

Plan to Vest Powers in Roosevelt.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—Legislation now being drafted to carry out President Roosevelt's arms lending program would give him unrestricted discretionary authority to turn over to Great Britain and other nations any amount of war equipment and supplies heretofore or hereafter ordered for the army and the navy.

While congressional leaders were awaiting details of the President's program to give "full support" to the nations engaged in war against the Berlin-Rome-Tokio axis powers, it was learned that funds to finance the arms lending scheme are to come out of regular appropriations for the army and navy.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to request armaments appropriations aggregating 10 billion dollars in his 17 billion dollar budget for the 1942 fiscal year, to be submitted to congress on Wednesday. Congress last year made available more than 13 billion dollars in cash and contractual authority for the army and navy.

Dig Up Obscure Law.

Under the proposed authorization legislation Mr. Roosevelt could lend any part of the warships, airplanes, tanks, guns, ammunition, and other war munitions produced with these appropriations to the nations fighting the totalitarian powers.

The basis for the authorization legislation, according to well informed congressional leaders, is to be an obscure law known as the Pittman act, which was passed in May, 1940. This law authorizes the secretaries of war and the navy to manufacture guns and ammunition in government arsenals and build warships in the government navy yards, or otherwise procure such munitions, for sale to the government of any American state. Sponsored by the late Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], who was chairman of the foreign relations committee, the measure was described as an effort to promote Pan-American solidarity in defense of the western hemisphere.

No Limit on Amounts.

According to administration spokesmen in congress, the President's program contemplates amendment of the Pittman act to authorize the lending of war equipment acquired by the war and navy departments and to make it apply to other nations as well as to the Latin-American states.

Administration spokesmen emphasized that there would be no limit on the quantity of equipment the President could lend to foreign governments. The British government alone is negotiating munitions orders aggregating 3 billion dollars under President Roosevelt's assurance that this government will take delivery of the munitions and lend them to the British.

Administration legal experts are drafting the proposed legislation for submission to congressional leaders and introduction in congress later this week. It is expected to go to the foreign affairs committee of the house and the foreign relations committee of the senate, which handled the Pittman bill.

Before Fiscal Committees.

Congressional leaders also indicated that the senate and house banking and currency committees will consider the legislation. These committees handle all lending legislation, including authorizations for the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Legislation increasing the lending authority of the Export-Import Bank in order to permit a loan to Finland was considered by both the senate banking and currency committee and the foreign relations committee.

While emphasizing that President Roosevelt's plans are nebulous and subject to change, congressional leaders discounted earlier reports that a government corporation, probably a subsidiary of the RFC, would be created to handle the acquisition and lending of armament to Great Britain, Greece, and China.

Nevertheless, Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, is moving heaven and earth, with influential backing in congress, to grab the munitions lending job for himself. Jones discussed the program this afternoon with his fellow Texan, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

Jones is the autocrat of the RFC, with its virtually limitless authority to borrow and lend money and its galaxy of lending satellites. The RFC already is deeply involved in foreign relations thru the Export-Import business last year, when congress passed a bill authorizing it to create corporations to finance, build, or purchase plants for the production of armament and to lease or operate plants. The same law authorized the RFC to acquire strategic war materials and to make advance payments for such materials against future deliveries. This authority would fit in with the President's proposal that war equipment lent to foreign governments be repaid after the war, either in kind or in raw materials.

The RFC went into the munitions Bank, which makes political loans to foreign governments, and other subsidiaries engaged in the acquisition of such strategic materials as rubber and tin.

If the RFC subsidiary should be given the job of handling the arms lending program it could finance its own production, outside the budget and the direct national debt, in addition to acting as agent for arms produced ostensibly for the army and navy.

OIL MAN TO HAVE HEARING ON ROLE AS PEACE ENVOY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP). — Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] today said that William Rhodes Davis, international oil operator, will be permitted to tell an interstate commerce subcommittee of the circumstances surrounding "peace proposals" which he reportedly communicated to the state department several months ago.

Davis had written Wheeler urging that congress investigate reports that Davis was working for peace "on Hitler's terms" and that he was aiding Germany and Italy to obtain oil from Mexico.

"I feel that Mr. Davis ought to be permitted to make a statement about the charges that have been circulated about him," said Wheeler, who is chairman of a committee set up to investigate foreign influences which may be interfering with the defense program.

A night view of the Chicago skyline, titled "Shoreline," won the first prize yesterday for L. D. Bartholomew in the first photographic exhibit of CHICAGO TRIBUNE news cameramen.

The exhibit, in which 300 photographs were entered, was held on the first floor of Tribune Tower last week The public was invited to judge, with the result that 5,300 persons cast votes for first, second, and third places.

Second place went to William C. Loewe for his "Old Dobbin," a wintry study of a milkman's horse. Third place was won by Edward B. McGill for his night shot of a Venice in Chicago scene, called "Century of Progress Gondolier."

WARSHIPS SAIL FROM HAWAII ON TRAINING CRUISE

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Jan. 6 (AP).—Holidays are over for the United States fleet, too, and today various units steamed to sea for training. Among the vessels departing were the battleships New Mexico, flagship of the commander in chief, Oklahoma, Mississippi, and Idaho, heavy and light cruisers, and destroyers. The ships were expected to return to their Pearl Harbor base Friday for week-end leaves for the personnel.

Jumpy Bandit Apologizes After Shooting Realty Man

A nervous bandit apologized last night after shooting Herbert H. Heyman in the knee and robbing him of $200. Heyman, 31 years old, and a real estate broker, was getting out of his car in front of his home at 5485 Cornell avenue when the gunman confronted him. The robber took Heyman's money, representing rental collections, and suddenly fired. "I didn't mean to shoot you," apologized the bandit as he fled. Heyman was taken to Michael Reese hospital. He described the gunman as "very nervous."

ROOSEVELT TALK 'MASTERLY' VIEW, BRITISH DECLARE

Nazis Say Speech Repeats 'Well Known Attitude.'

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP).—Official circles in London tonight termed President Roosevelt's message to congress "a terse and masterly presentation of the world situation."

"This most interesting speech is being studied with the greatest possible appreciation," it was said.

"Well Known Attitude."

BERLIN, Jan. 7, Tuesday (AP).—Germany's first news of President Roosevelt's message to the United States congress was a 200 word summary carried by DNB, official German news agency, which called it a New Year's communication in connection with the opening of congress.

Authorized commentators kept silent, however, indicating the German reaction would be given only after most careful study of the message in the highest quarters.

DNB said the message conformed to Mr. Roosevelt's "well known attitude on international affairs." The agency emphasized Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation that war materials be made available to the democracies without the immediate thought of payments. It also emphasized his contention that such a policy would not be an act of war.

Even More Committed.

ROME, Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt's message to congress was bad news to the Italians. Italians realize, it was said, that the United States is being made ever more committed to an axis defeat, and that each speech the President makes is stronger than the last. Today's was regarded as the strongest of all.

From comment in qualified circles, however, it is evident Italy is firmly convinced that before American help can become effective Britain will have been beaten.

What was considered new and alarming in the message was the expressed determination that America will not acquiesce in an axis dictated peace. This was regarded as the greatest commitment yet to come out of Washington, D. C., and it is realized to be fraught with genuine peril of a clash.

Italy and Germany, it was pointed out, are committed to winning the war and instituting a "new order." If the United States wants to prevent this, the presumption is she must fight.

"Removes Any Doubt."

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 6 (AP).—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, praising President Roosevelt's message to congress, declared in a statement tonight:

"Since the outbreak of war, the forces of freedom have had no support of comparable strength, magnitude, and durability."

He described the President's message as "downright, direct, and decisive," and said, "If aggressor nations were ever in doubt, they now know where the United States stands and the lengths to which that country is prepared to go in its determination to thwart their ambitions."

The prime minister and most of his cabinet listened to the broadcast of the Roosevelt message.

Predicts Struggle in Pacific.

TOKIO, Jan. 7, Tuesday (AP).—The Japanese newspaper Kokumin editorially predicted today that Japan and the United States would "fight like wildcats" in the Pacific after the collapse of Britain, which it predicted.

"It is safe to predict that Britain will be wiped off the European map by autumn at the latest," the editorial said. "The collapse of Britain and American participation [in the war] will put an end to the import of the European war, shifting the scene to the Pacific where the new world war will be staged.

"In that eventuality Japan and the United States will fight like wildcats as the main forces of the belligerents."

The paper said that altho America had not declared war "she actually is init." It added:

"Had Germany been bellicose she would have found more than enough reasons to declare war against the United States for past contemptuous utterances and illegal deeds. The same applies to Italy and Japan."

Takes Yankee Clipper

New York, Jan. 6 [Special].—Harry L. Hopkins left aboard the Yankee Clipper for London today as President Roosevelt's personal representative to Great Britain.

To all questions Hopkins replied he could say nothing. He said he would return "when I have finished," adding: "It won't be too long."

His composure left him only once during the interview, when he was asked whether he might be compared with Col. Edward M. House, who went to Europe for President Woodrow Wilson as the United States was being drawn into the first world war. He frowned, appeared ruffled, and shook his head.

Hopkins said he would not, under any circumstances, accept a permanent diplomatic post, indicating he would not succeed Joseph P. Kennedy as ambassador to London. He is expected to confer with Prime Minister Winston Churchill and other British leaders.

MINISTER HAILS CLOSE RELATIONS OF U. S., CANADA

MONTREAL, Jan. 6 (AP).—Jay Pierrepont Moffat, United States minister to Canada, cited settlement of several outstanding problems between Canada and the United States today as examples of "applied friendship" between nations.

Moffatt, addressing the Canadian club, cited particularly the Ogdensburg declaration of joint defense, and noted that it brought no uttered criticisms that closer relations between Canada and the United States might imply less close bonds between Canada and Great Britain.

"The friendship between any two [of the three countries] thrives in direct proportion to the friendship between all three," he said, "and Canadian-American relations are at their closest today at the very moment when British-American and Canadia-British relations are likewise untroubled by even a cloud."

Dutch East Indies to Fight Aggression, Says Envoy

Dr. Alexander Loudon, minister of the Netherlands to the United States, last night told a group of financial and industrial leaders in the Chicago club that the Netherlands East Indies would fight aggression from any quarter, with or without aid, to the limit of their strength. Dr. Loudon was introduced by Robert A. Gardner, toastmaster at the dinner.

WALKOUT HALTS OPERATIONS ON NAVY CONTRACT

Akron, O., Jan. 6 (AP).—A strike halted operations today at the Pittsburgh Valve Fittings corporation factory here where equipment was being made for the United States navy. Harry Mulkins, president of the American Federation of Labor local, said 500 workers struck in protest against management policies of negotiating wage adjustments with individuals instead of with the union.

Aircraft Workers Vote Strike.

Farmingdale, N. Y., Jan. 6 (AP).—C. I. O. workers at the Ranger aircraft engines division of the Fairchild Airplane and Engine corporation, which makes engines for army and navy training planes, voted tonight to strike Thursday night. More than 200 men are involved.

The union, local 661 of the aircraft organizing division of the United Automobile Workers of America, voted to delay the start of the strike from Tuesday to Thursday at the request of the national defense commission so that an effort could be made to settle the dispute.

Negotiations have been going on since Sept. 1. The union seeks a 5 cent an hour pay raise.

ILLINOIS PILOT KILLED IN BRITISH PLANE ACCIDENT

Salem, Ill., Jan. 6 (AP).—A cablegram from the air ministry in London advised Mrs. Naomi Leckrone here today that her husband, Philip, British royal air force pilot "was reported to have lost his life as the result of an aircraft accident" yesterday. "Full particulars will follow," the message said.

Leckrone, formerly an automobile mechanic, left Salem last July 26 en route to London. On Oct. 8 the air ministry announced he had been assigned to the Eagle squadron, a unit of Americans in the royal air force. He suffered shock concussion on Oct. 28 but recovered.

Besides his widow, Leckrone is survived by two small children and his parents.

New York, Jan. 6 (AP).—A 10 minute summary of President Roosevelt's message to congress was broadcast in German to Germany by the British radio this afternoon. It was heard by CBS here.

CONGRESS FINDS MR. ROOSEVELT WAS THE WINNER

Counts Electoral Votes in Archaic Rite.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt was formally declared by congress today to be the first third term President in the history of the republic.

Both houses solemnly participated in the archaic ceremony at which the 531 electoral college votes are counted. At the end, scarcely to anyone's surprise, Vice President John N. Garner, self styled "lame duck No. 1," announced that the result was 449 to 82 in favor of Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and Henry A. Wallace of Iowa against Wendell L. Willkie of Indiana and Charles L. McNary of Oregon.

Entry of the Ballots.

The votes were carried to the house chamber in two mahogany inlaid chests by two pages who preceded the members of the senate. Senators and representatives seated themselves under the new steel girded ceiling of the house chamber which was installed to strengthen a sagging roof. The formerly beautiful chamber now looks something like Wabash avenue and Lake street under the "L."

The two chests were opened. Senators Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.] and Tom Connally [D., Tex.] and Representatives George H. Tinkham [R., Mass.] and Robert Ramspeck [D., Ga.], acting as tellers, examined the certificates sent in by the 48 states testifying to the results of the electoral college vote.

Members Become Noisy.

Members were quiet while the results from the first few states were announced but broke into noisy conversation as the balloting proceeded. Finally, Representative Karl Stefan [R., Neb.] protested.

"The house is not in order," he declared. "A President is being elected and we want to hear what's going on!"

There was laughter. Vice President Garner asked for order but didn't get it.

The tellers were nervous. Senator Austin brought the house down by announcing that Missouri had cast 15 votes for Roosevelt and 15 votes for McNary. Representative Tinkham matched that one a few moments later by declaring that North Dakota's four votes had been cast for Willkie and Wallace.

Sarcasm Is Apparent.

The Democratic party's dislike for Vice President Elect Wallace may or may not have caused Senator Connally to put a sarcastic emphasis upon one word whenever he intoned the phrase announcing votes for Wallace.

"—— votes for Henry A. Wallace for VICE President," drawled Connally time after time until the whole chamber was chuckling.

Army Flyer Killed; Chute Saves 2d in Hawaii Crash

HONOLULU, Jan. 6 (AP).—One army lieutenant was killed and another bailed out safely in a spectacular collision of two pursuit planes three miles southwest of Wheeler field today. Second Lieutenant James J. Weigel was killed. Second Lieutenant H. A. Hanes, piloting the second plane, bailed out. Hanes' home town is Armington, Ill. He is a graduate of Illinois State Normal university at Normal. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hanes.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HAS QUIT AID GROUP OVER REDS, SAYS N. Y. PAPER

New York, Jan. 6 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dr. John Haynes Holmes, noted clergyman, have resigned as sponsors of the American Rescue Ship mission, the World-Telegram said today, because they objected to the auspices under which the relief organization operated.

After citing that scores of prominent Americans, including theologians, college presidents, and others similarly distinguished were among the sponsors, the newspaper said:

"They took this step upon learning that these well-known names are being used as fronts for an enterprise that was conceived and has been administered almost wholly by known communists and active communist sympathizers."

The mission is currently engaged in raising $300,000 for a ship to bring Spanish refugees from Marseille, France, to Vera Cruz, Mexico.

DEFENSE COUNCIL AND STELLE MAP STATE PROGRAM

Plans for the Illinois Emergency Defense council were discussed at the executive mansion in Springfield yesterday during a meeting called by Gov. John Stelle. Murray M. Baker of Peoria, chairman of the council, asked heads of the eight committees to outline suggested activities for presentation at a meeting next week.

Committee chairmen at the meeting were Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago, agriculture and production; Larry J. Benson, Chicago, civil protection; Mrs. Edward J. Lehman, Sidney, welfare and consumer interest; Stuart Duncan, La Salle, public works and housing; Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, Harvey, industrial resources and production; Ralph E. Fisher, La Grange, human resources and skills; Dean C. M. Thompson, Champaign, education and morale; and Paul Hanson, Chicago, public health.

Allen Moore of the National Advisory Defense commission reported on operations of 37 other state commissions. Also at yesterday's meeting were a number of Illinois state officials.

U. S. General Will Observe Air Battles in Britain

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 6 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Carlyle H. Wash, commandant of the fifth wing, bombardment, U. S. air corps, said today he had received orders to procede at once to London as a military aviation observer. He said he would meet Brig. Gen. Millard F. Harmon of Hamilton Field, Cal., in the east and they would make the trip to England together. The observation assignment, General Wash indicated, was for an indefinite period.

COL. M'CORMICK DESCRIBES RISE OF MIDDLE WEST

Traces Area's Background of Patriotism.

The settlement and development of the middle west—where sectional and foreign attachments both have been forgotten—were described last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in an address over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. The address was made during the Chicagoland Concert hour.

Col. McCormick said that whereas the old colonies in America had been chartered by foreign rulers, the states of the Northwest territory were created by the American nation.

"They have no colonial history and no colonial ties," he said. "Their mother country is America. Their first settlers, veterans of the Continental army, brought with them the fierce patriotism of the soldier; veterans of each succeeding war have continually renewed the flame. Arrivals from east and south have absorbed this fervor, have mingled with and intermarried with the military settlers, and have forgotten both sectional and foreign attachments. From this background springs the middle west's uncompromising patriotism."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's address:

"Last week I spoke about the coming of all of the races which have made the American race.

"Tonight I will talk of the events and the migrations which led to the settlement and development of the region commonly called the middle west.

"The Frenchman, Cartier, like other early discoverers, was looking for China. He thought the St. Lawrence river came from there and named the rapids at Montreal 'La Chine,' the French for China. Here the capital, Montreal, was established and from here explorers pushed out over the radiating waterways.

Progress South Halted by Indians.

"Northward the Ottawa river rose in an interminable wilderness. To the south progress by Lake Champlain was stopped first by the warlike Iroquois and then by English and Dutch settlers. To the west the water highway extended unvexed for thousands of miles.

"Ascending the St. Lawrence river, crossing Lake Ontario, and passing Niagara falls, the French empire builders came to a convenient promontory on the south shore of Lake Erie, which they named Presque Isle, and fortified.

"A few miles inland they found the headwaters of the Allegheny river on French creek. Floating down that stream to the confluence of the rivers that form what is now known as the Ohio river, they built Fort Duquesne and clashed with a young man who was to loom large in French, British, and American affairs—George Washington.

Chicago Portage Discovered.

"Farther west they met no opposition. Marquette and Joliet discovered the Chicago portage; La Salle followed the Mississippi to its mouth and claimed the entire valley for his sovereign. Du Lhut, another famous French explorer, navigated Lake Superior to its western tip.

"In that far off day the French placed the same misguided confidence in forts that they did last year. They built tremendous structures at all strategic points—Fort Duquesne, Fort St. Louis, Fort Chartres, Fort Vincennes, Fort Niagara, all of which were to fall or to be evacuated.

"There was no such western pathway for the English settlers as the St. Lawrence river. The only easy pass, thru the Appalachian mountain range, that of the Mohawk valley in New York, was held by the mighty Iroquois nation. South of that the valleys were too steep for the explorer's canoe.

People Turn to Sea.

"The New England colonies, moreover, were contained by the province of New York and Canada. Their people turned to the sea.

"Expansion of Pennsylvania was definitely stopped by Braddock's defeat.

"It was from the southern colonies, therefore, that western extension began: the famous Daniel Boone and the almost forgotten Henderson crossing the divide and establishing settlements that were to grow into the states of Kentucky and Tennessee.

"The conquest of New France by Forbes, Johnson, Amherst, and Wolfe did not immediately change the status of the western country, for King George III. forbade the colonists to settle west of the Allegheny mountain range and thereby furnished one of the three main causes of the revolutionary war.

Clark Welcomed by Settlers.

"After Spaniards from St. Louis had advanced as far as St. Joseph, George Rogers Clark of Virginia, raising an army in Kentucky, captured Kaskaskia and Cahokia on the Mississippi, Vincennes on the Wabash, and the falls of the Ohio, and repelled an attack on St. Louis.

"The French settlers welcomed him, and the territory from which the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin were later to be formed was ceded to the United States in the peace treaty.

"After the peace the Indians resisted the encroachments of settlers. They defeated the army of Gen. St. Clair in the year 1791, and dominated the country west of the mountains until overthrown by Gen. Wayne at the battle of Fallen Timbers in 1794, but another battle had to be fought at Tippecanoe in 1811.

Settlers Battle Indians.

"The little known war of 1812, beginning with the Fort Dearborn massacre, was primarily a war of the western settlers against the Indians, and this was entirely successful, altho it was not until 1828 that Gen. Dearborn raised the American flag at Sault St. Marie or until 1832 that the Blackhawk war moved the red men across the Mississippi.

"It will be seen, therefore, that the middle west was originally occupied by the French; taken from them by the British; invaded by the Spanish; and finally conquered by George Rogers Clark, acting for the state of Virginia, which ceded it to the continental congress.

"Whereas the old colonies had been chartered by foreign rulers, the states of the Northwest territory were created by the American nation.

Colonial Ties Lacking.

"They have no colonial history and no colonial ties.

"Their mother country is America.

"Their first settlers, veterans of the Continental army, brought with them the fierce patriotism of the soldier; veterans of each succeeding war have continually renewed the flame.

"Arrivals from east and south have absorbed this fervor, have mingled with and intermarried with the military settlers, and have forgotten both sectional and foreign attachments.

"From this background springs the middle west's uncompromising patriotism."

THE CONCERT HOUR

Music heard on the program, as interpreted by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus, directed by Henry Weber and by Miss Marion Claire, included "The Triumphal March" from Grieg's Sigurd Jorsalfar; Franz Schubert's "Serenade," with Miss Claire; Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance No. 9"; "Long, Long Ago," with Miss Claire; Elgar's "Salut D'Amour"; German's "Country Dance," from the Nell Gwynn suite; Foster's "Uncle Ned," with Miss Claire; Tschaikowski's "Sleeping Beauty Waltz," and Bizet's "Agnus Dei," with Miss Claire singing. The program was produced by Lou Jackobson, with John Weigel announcing.

Roosevelt Jr. Becomes Simple Wall St. Law Clerk

New York, Jan. 6 (AP).—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. today started his duties as a $2,100 a year law clerk for the firm of Wright, Gordon, Zachry, and Parlin, 63 Wall street. He arrived at 8:45 a. m. at the offices, which are only a few doors from those in which his father started his law career in 1907, at 54 Wall street. Young Roosevelt said his duties would consist of writing memos, filing motions and the other work usual for law clerk, "exactly the same work as other boys employed here," he added.

ROBS TWO MEAT TRUCKERS.

Englewood police last night sought an armed man who robbed drivers for two meat companies. At 6239 South Ashland avenue, he took $60 from Wesley Nielsen, 5731 Bishop street. His second victim was John Schuma, 8115 South Winchester avenue, who lost $12.50 at 63d and Aberdeen streets.

F. D. R.'S 'GOSPEL OF FEAR' RIPPED BY LA FOLLETTE

Wisconsin Ex-Governor Assails Speech.

President Roosevelt in his message to congress preached the gospel of fear, former Governor Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin charged last evening in an address sponsored by the America First committee, which is leading the drive to keep this country out of war.

"After eight years in office, you no longer talk of banishing the 'fear of fear,' Mr. President," La Follette, a former Roosevelt supporter, asserted in a national broadcast. "Today you did something no President has ever done. You preached the doctrine of fear.

"Sentence after sentence you battered at America's faith in herself. You told us that this great nation who won and kept her freedom by herself, is now huddled behind the battered British fleet, that our fate is being decided in Europe!

How Forces Compare.

"More, you told us that 80 million Germans—because you certainly aren't afraid of Mussolini—are going to conquer and hold in subjection the 400 million population of Europe, then conquer Africa, dominate Asia, then cross thousands of miles of ocean and take on 140 million Americans and 15 million Canadians, not to mention the millions to the south of us.

"Do you of the war party mean that our free American farmers—the best in the world—can't do a better job than Hitler's enslaved peasants in Europe? Do you mean that American workers in factories and offices, the most skilled in the world, can't outdo the whip lashed workers of the dictators?

"Do you mean that American business men, the most ingenious and adventurous anywhere, can't compete with the bureaucracy and police ridden manufacturers of totalitarianism? Do you mean that the youth of America aren't as good as the goose stepping youth of the dictators?

Asks "Have We Grown Weak?"

"Do you mean that we have grown so weak and flabby that we must prop up and be propped up by the British empire? Is this what you of the war party mean when you try to frighten us into a war 4,000 miles away? Have you no faith in America?"

La Follette, who asserted that in the President's message he caught a note of elation over "the fact that the American people had no chance to voice their convictions on this vital issue" in the November election. The day is coming, he warned, when we must stop sticking pins in the map of Europe and solve the problems of this hemisphere.

"If we accept the counsel of defeat and despair of the war party, there is no real defending of America. Such a course is only a pathetic hitch-hiking on a British man-o'-war. That isn't the American way.

Freedom Rests on Courage.

"The freedom of America was decided not by battles in Europe, but by the courageous pioneering of men and women who left Europe because they wanted no more of the endless bloodshed and interminable wars of the old world.

"Nobody guarded our liberty for us in this century and a half. We did it ourselves. Nobody is going to protect it for us in the years ahead. There will be a free America only so long as we, and we alone, have the stuff it takes to keep us free."

The aisle which traditionally divides Republicans and Democrats in congress now ought to divide those who believe in America first and those who believe in cringing behind the British empire, he said.

ROOSEVELT NAMES GOVERNORS OF 2 U. S. ISLAND POSSESSIONS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt today nominated Guy J. Swope, former Pennsylvania congressman, to be governor of Puerto Rico, and Charles Harwood of New York to be governor of the Virgin Islands. Swope will succeed Admiral William D. Leahy, who has been sent to France as United States ambassador. Harwood, an attorney and former judge in the Canal Zone, will succeed Lawrence W. Cramer, who resigned.

RIBBING IS GIVEN BOTH STELLE AND GREEN AT DINNER

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6 [Special].—Gov. John Stelle and Governor Elect Dwight H. Green shared equally in the ribbing at an off the record dinner given here tonight by the Sangamo club.

The two met for the first time since the election and then only as the 500 guests at the dinner assembled at the Leland hotel. Except for an exchange of social pleasantries, there was no talk between them, and Green left immediately after the dinner for Chicago.

The governor-elect was the house guest here of W. Converse Staley, president of the Sangamo club, and it was known he took no hand in any conferences bearing on the Republican caucuses tomorrow night in preparation for the convening of the new general assembly Wednesday noon.

There has been no sign of any opposition to the selection of Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago as speaker of the house and Senator Arnold P. Benson of Batavia for president pro tempore of the senate.

CITY'S SPENDING BOOSTS TOTAL OF UNPAID BILLS

Figures Cited as Reason for Cutting Budget.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The city's practice of spending beyond its means has brought a steady rise over the last five years in Chicago's total of unpaid bills and other current debts, figures from City Controler Robert B. Upham's office showed yesterday.

In an effort to reduce the present load of bills, the city council finance committee has recommended a reduced operating budget for 1941 totaling $54,391,000, which is $2,200,000 less than the 1940 operating, or corporate, budget. Council leaders predict that payless pay days will return to Chicago this year unless this reduction is made.

Pass Limits of Revenue.

In urging the adoption of the budget reductions, city finance officials point out that in recent years the city, altho actually spending less than its appropriations, has not held its outlays down to the limit of its cash revenues. This situation has been aggravated by the chronic low rate of tax collections.

Thus in the five years 1935-'39 inclusive, the city spent an average of 82 per cent of its corporate tax levy, but tax receipts were only 78 per cent of the levies for the period.

The effect of this overspending on the city's short term debts is seen in the table below. The table shows the total of short term debts against the operating fund at the end of each calendar year. These include unpaid bills, pay rolls, and judgments. Unpaid bills and pay rolls, exclusive of the judgments, are shown in the right hand column:

Year.	Short term debts [total].	Unpaid bills and *payrolls.
1935	$ 8,664,000	$ 6,990,000
1936	9,432,000	9,180,194
1937	9,683,000	9,208,000
1938	12,848,000	10,751,603
1939	13,405,000	9,782,640
1940	13,782,000	8,818,000

*Unpaid pay rolls are less than a million dollars in any year.

Judgments against the corporate fund rose from $92,669 at the end of 1935 to $4,933,427 at the close of 1940. These judgments were rendered on debts the city incurred after Jan. 1, 1935. The city, moreover, still owes about 2 million dollars in judgments for obligations dating back to 1934 and prior years. These judgments, however, are not payable from the corporate fund, but are paid from a special judgment tax which now runs $1,250,000 a year.

Improvement Since 1932.

The increase in short term debts from 1935 to the present followed several years of improvement over the financial doldrums and payless pay days of 1932 and 1933. On Dec. 31, 1932, overdue payrolls totaled $11,424,227, and the city's total short term debts, including bills and judgments, were $22,425,000.

At that time, moreover, private banks would not buy the city's tax warrants, and money could not be raised to meet the debts. The city's own 67 million dollar traction fund, which had been used as a bank for the sale of tax warrants, was frozen tight with irredeemable warrants.

This situation resulted largely from the "tax strike" following the 1928 property assessment; the property reassessment which brought a delay of an entire year in tax penalty schedules and appropriations by the city council in excess of the city's tax extensions.

Climb Begun in 1933.

In 1933 the city began to climb out of the hole. Tax penalty dates have now been returned to a normal schedule. All except 13½ millions of the previously "sour" tax warrants have been redeemed. Warrants are now being sold at low interest rates. The inauguration of pegged tax levies, started in 1935, makes it impossible for the city to appropriate beyond the tax extensions.

Pegged levies have not, however, prevented the city from spending more than the actual tax receipts. Continued unpaid bills result. The city now pays its creditors at the rate of only 10 per cent every 60 days on unpaid balances. Many sellers to the city add 15 to 25 per cent to their prices because they have to wait so long for their money.

RUSSIAN-TURK AID TO BULGARIA CALLED LIKELY

Sofia Doubts Moscow Has Approved Nazi Grab.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 6 (AP).—Diplomatic sources regarded joint Russian-Turkish resistance to any German push thru Bulgaria as still likely tonight despite German reports that the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has agreed to let the Nazis enter and take over Bulgarian territory.

The arrival here of a high official of the soviet commissariat of foreign affairs, these sources said, suggested that the reports might only be wishful thinking.

Diplomatic reports also indicated that the Turks have concentrated several hundred thousand crack troops in Thrace, close to the Bulgarian frontier.

Reports spread by German official quarters in Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, said Russia had consented to a German move in Bulgaria on consideration that Germany not oppose soviet policy in Finland or in Moldavia, the Rumanian area that adjoins Bessarabia, former Rumanian soil annexed by Russia.

[There was no confirmation of these reports from Russian, Bulgarian, Rumanian or Turkish sources.]

Russia Sends Balkans Expert.

The Russian official, Alexander Mihaicovitch, came to Sofia with the official title of first counsellor of the heavily staffed soviet legation here. The Balkans, however, know him as the director of the middle European division of the soviet foreign commissariat and as Moscow's outstanding expert on Balkan affairs.

Word went the rounds of the chancelleries that Mihaicovitch had seen both Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff and King Boris, but this was not confirmed.

It was recalled that the last visit of a high soviet official to Sofia was followed by the king's talks with Adolf Hitler and was popularly credited with having kept Bulgaria from joining the axis.

Bulgarian towns reported that German troops across the Danube river did not appear to be preparing to cross the river.

This was the Greek orthodox church's Christmas eve in Bulgaria and the 63d anniversary of the freeing of Sofia from Turkish domination. Bulgars attended ceremonies honoring the Russians who died in the battle that won Sofia.

See No Early Push.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 6 (AP).—Altho German official quarters here gave currency today to reports that Russia had agreed that the Germans should enter and take over Bulgarian territory, it was said the Germans were not likely to move into Bulgaria until a heavy freeze or a thaw makes it easy to cross the Danube from Rumania.

German sources said the Bulgarian premier, Bogdan Philoff, had seen the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, and told him that if Russia agreed to German entry into Bulgaria there was nothing Bulgaria could do. There would be no resistance, Philoff was represented as saying.

Keep Eyes on British.

When a Danube crossing is feasible, these sources added, the Germans will go thru Bulgaria to the Greek frontier, but will enter Greece only if the British show "continued signs" of making a drive northward thru the Balkans.

These quarters said the German plans call for practical dissolution of the Rumanian nation. Bulgaria would get northern Dobruja; Hungary, the remainder of Transylvania, and what is left of Rumania would be under complete German military and civil domination. Bulgaria, it was added, also would get an outlet to the Aegean sea.

Turks "Rely on Allies."

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 6 (AP).—With German troops massing in southern Rumania less than 150 miles from Turkey's frontier, Premier Refik Saydam today assured the national asembly that Turkish foreign policy aimed to secure the "safety of the nation . . . in complete reliance upon our allies." Britain is one of Turkey's allies, and relations with Russia long have been cordial. The assembly recessed until March 17.

The newspaper Tan, discussing German "negotiations" with Bulgaria, said "it is very possible Germany is preparing some combination among Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, and Bulgaria."

FOOD SHORTAGE BECOMES MORE ACUTE IN BELGIUM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 [Special].—Shortage of essential food products and certain other materials in Belgium is becoming increasingly acute, the department of commerce reported today. Even potatoes have become so scarce that the existing rations of 500 grams [1.1 pounds] per day is largely theoretical, the report said.

The daily ration of bread, which is the nation's main food item, is entirely inadequate not only for laborers, but for the average person as well. The meat ration is being continually reduced, and it is said that whole milk is available only for infants and invalids.

The ration of butter and margarine fluctuates widely from one month to another. Among the unobtainable items is dried fruit, which came almost exclusively from the United States in prewar years.

New York, Jan. 6 Special.]—Miss Brenda Frazier, beneficiary of principal funds of approximately $3,500,000, will require $52,000 this year for her maintenance and support under the terms of a decree signed today by Surrogate James A. Foley on the application of her mother, Mrs. Frederick Watriss. The same allowance has been granted for the last two years.

Mrs. Watriss in making application, said that this sum would enable her daughter to "continue the same scale of living established by her father," the late Frank Duff Frazier. Brenda was born in 1921 and lives with her mother.

ADMIRAL LEAHY CALLS ON FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER

VICHY, France, Jan. 6.—Admiral William D. Leahy, newly appointed American ambassador, who presented his credentials to Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin this afternoon, is expected to be accredited with all possible haste. It is understood he will be received with official ceremonial by Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, chief of state, in a day or so.

His arrival has aroused high hopes in official circles and among the general public, where there is a feeling that the United States is able to make some promises that will, in some way, benefit France's position. It is the same sort of feeling that was reflected in the public appeal made by former Premier Paul Reynaud to President Roosevelt when it was known that the field was lost for France.

Ambassador Leahy conferred with Flandin for 20 minutes. He placed in Flandin's hands the office copy of his official credentials, the original of which will be given to Petain.

BERLIN RECEIVES IRISH VIEWS ON ALLEGED RAIDS

BERLIN, Jan. 6 (AP).—William Warnock, Ireland's charge d'affaires, visited the foreign office today to present his government's views respecting alleged flights by German planes over Irish territory.

[The Irish department of external affairs formally has blamed the Nazis for the bombing of three areas in neutral Ireland in the past week. It announced Friday that "an energetic protest to Germany against the violation of Irish territory by German aircraft and the loss of life and destruction of properties" was being made. The Irish charge d'affaires in Berlin, it was added, has been "further instructed to claim full reparations and insist that effective steps be taken to avoid recurrence of such happenings."]

GRENADES TOSSED AT U. S. CITIZEN'S SHANGHAI PAPER

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 6 (AP).—Terrorists attacked the American owned Chinese language newspaper Shun Pao with hand grenades for the second successive night tonight.

They flung half a dozen grenades into the building's entrance, injuring five passersby. In a similar attack last night there was no damage.

Eden's Wife Drives Tea Canteen to Serve Army

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP).—Mrs. Beatrice Eden, wife of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, left London today at the wheel of a mobile tea canteen to serve the army. "I'm determined to show my husband I can do my bit," she commented.

NAZIS KEEP MUM AS RUMORS FLY ABOUT BALKANS

Silence Is Likened to That Before Big Smashes.

BERLIN, Jan. 6 (AP).—Everybody in Europe except the Germans seemed to be talking about the Balkans tonight.

No inkling of what the German army in the southeast intends to do, if anything, came from any authoritative quarter. Spokesmen smiled at the flood of rumors, some of which were termed fantastic. "It's a splendid fog and others made it for us," said one.

This confirmed a general impression among correspondents that German authorities rather welcomed the welter of rumors as a screen behind which to perfect any plans.

One definite statement was made. It was that the air force fighting England has not been weakened by the presence of German aviators in Italy.

Volunteers Still Unused.

On the contrary, it was stated officially that replacement of aviators was no problem, that German training periods had not been shortened, and that Germany was not able even to use all those who had volunteered for air service.

Except to indicate that there were no worries over Bulgaria, the foreign office was uncommunicative about the Balkan situation.

To veteran foreign correspondents the official silence strikingly recalled similarly uncommunicative periods before big German blows last year.

Extend Russian Agreement.

As to reported deals with Russia, whereby Russia would be given a free hand in Finland and in Moldavia in exchange for her acquiescence in German occupation of Bulgaria, the only statement forthcoming was that Germany and Russia had extended to August, 1942, existing agreements for payments for commodities exchanged.

This new agreement was described as purely technical and of no bearing on the quantities or nature of goods exchanged.

GAETANI PRINCE SLAIN IN WAR ON ALBANIAN FRONT

ROME, Italy, Jan. 6.—Prince Camillo of Bassiano, 25 years old, has been killed on the Albanian front, it was disclosed today. He was the son of Margaret Chapin of New York and Prince Roffredo of Bassiano.

Prince Camillo was a nephew of Prince Gilasio Gaetani, once Italian ambassador to Washington, from whom he inherited the ancestral estate of Ninfa. The estate has been in the family since Boniface VIII., the Gaetani pope, whom Dante made famous in his "Divine Comedy."

The Gaetani house, which has a history known back to 1190, suffered a heavy loss in the death of Prince Camillo, for he alone was capable of carrying on the direct male line.

Winter Colds
FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE used over 85 years
Victims of colds usually are those whose resistance is low. FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE not only helps to relieve colds, but aids in the building of strong, sturdy bodies. It is rich in the essential vitamins A and D which are needed to fight colds.

Better than a dozen hankies
for opening STUFFY NOSTRILS
What's the use of soiling so many hankies, trying to blow mucus out of stopped-up nostrils? It only piles up the laundry bill. And remember, a lot of violent blowing only makes your nose more sore, red, unsightly, and it very often injures the delicate membranes.
A more economical and gentler way to relieve congestion in your nostrils due to a cold is to insert a little Mentholatum. This delightful ointment will soon break up congested mucus, relieve the smothery feeling, and permit you to breathe normally through the nose. It also relieves sniffling, sneezing, swelling, soreness, and redness.
Mentholatum helps in so many ways that you should always remember this: For Discomforts from Colds—Mentholatum. Link them together in your mind.

PERU AND ECUADOR GUARDS IN HALF HOUR CLASH ON FRONTIER

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 6 (AP).—The foreign ministry announced today that Ecuadorean and Peruvian frontier detachments had engaged in a 30 minute battle Saturday at Corral Viejo, in the disputed boundary zone between the two countries.

The ministry said there were no Ecuadorean losses and added that the Peruvians "launched an unjustified attack" but were forced to retire.

Another government statement said Ecuador had protested to Peru because of the alleged flight of three Peruvian planes "over Ecuadorean territory."

DRAFT INDUCTION TO CEASE FOR WEEK IN STATE

Induction of Illinois draftees under the January quota will be discontinued for one week beginning Thursday, draft officers of the 6th corps army area headquarters announced yesterday. They said the postponement is necessitated by delays in construction of camps to which conscripts will be sent for training. A similar postponement will begin Friday in Michigan.

The postponement will not affect original January quotas for both states. Illinois still will be expected to provide 4,739 men, of whom approximately 2,600 will be called from Cook county. The January induction period will continue into February in both states until quotas are filled. No change has been made in the induction schedule for Wisconsin, the third state of the 6th corps area.

Today the Chicago induction center in the 122d field artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue, will send its first group of 50 draftees to Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, Mich. A second group of 47 will be sent there tomorrow. Draftees from the Chicago center previously had been sent to Fort Sheridan.

BRITISH ADVANCE UNITS APPROACH TOBRUK IN LIBYA

Motor Vanguard 20 Miles from Italian Base.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 6 (AP).—The possibility that British desert troops might sweep past the Italian seaport base at Tobruk and plunge on more than 250 miles across the Libyan sands to attack Bengasi arose tonight. The possibility was suggested as the advance guard of British motorized units threatened Tobruk's outer defenses.

Tobruk, 70 miles across the desert from Bardia, which the British captured yesterday, is the next natural objective. However, it was not quite certain when the British would open a drive on Tobruk or whether they would pass it up for the time being for bigger game—the Cirenaican capital across the desert.

Flyers Pound Tobruk.

At any rate, the British air force pounded Tobruk in heavy raids similar to those loosed upon Bardia in the 48 hours preceding the final land attack which culminated in its capture yesterday. Tons of bombs were dropped on military objectives at the seaport base.

At least one motorized spearhead was reported 20 miles from Tobruk, already blockaded by the British navy.

Australian troops carefully mopped up the Bardia region preparatory to further operations while British tanks moved westward, waiting for orders.

[The British appeared faced with two alternatives if they decide to attack Bengasi next—to drive straight across the desert or to drive around the tip of the Cirenaican hump with the aid of the navy, which contributed materially to the Bardia victory.]

30,000 Prisoners Taken.

The list of prisoners reported taken in Bardia rose to more than 30,000.

Thus Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, commander of the Italians in North Africa, has lost, British reports said, one-third of his army in captured, killed, or wounded men, and his most important eastern base—Bardia—has fallen.

Observers with the British forces said the number of Italians surrendering at Bardia constituted an open invitation to the British to strike on against Bengazi.

The Egyptian press viewed the Bardia victory as removing all danger to Egypt from Italy. It said Bardia, with its useful harbor, has become the key to a British advance into Tripoli, Italian possession just beyond Cirenaica.

Tripoli itself has been heavily bombed by the British air force. A communique tonight said tons of bombs were dropped during the night of Jan. 4-5 on the target area there, which included the power station, customs buildings, docks and shipping in the harbor. Large fires were started and were visible 30 miles out to sea.

Admits Loss of "Strongholds."

ROME, Jan. 6 (AP).—The Italian high command admitted loss of "more strongholds" on the Bardia front in Libya today, but avoided any mention of the fall of Bardia itself as Italians at home exchanged gifts on a chill, gray Epiphany day.

Identification of the North African points from which Italian troops had been routed by the British army was expected to be given the Italian populace only after the holiday, to prevent further marring of the festivity.

The Rome radio said "the Italian army is intact," and added that the invading army in Libya, "far from its bases, faces the same situation as the British said the Italians did at Sidi Barrani," western Egyptian port which was one of the first objectives of the British.

Claim Army Outnumbered.

In an English language broadcast it quoted sources in Turkey and Germany to indicate that the Italian armies in the desert were badly outnumbered, but accounted well for themselves.

One Turkish report cited said the Italians at Bardia were compelled to yield to 800 tanks and a British army of 400,000 men.

The radio quoted Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, as saying that "Bardia never has been looked upon as a vital point for the Italians."

The German version, as broadcast in Italy, was that Gen. Annibale Bergonzoli's troops "held on at Bardia to cover the retreat, that is to give the main body of the Italians time to take up new positions."

Two Routes Lie Before British

(Story in adjoining column.)

With the fall of Bardia and penetration of British units to Tobruk, two possible drives lay before the invaders. One was to follow the coast road west, the other was to sweep across the desert south of Tobruk and attack Bengasi.

BRITISH BUTCHERS URGE ACTION AGAINST CHAOTIC MEAT SUPPLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 6.—British butchers are demanding immediate action by the government to prevent a recurrence of the chaotic meat supply position such as existed this weekend when lines formed outside the half empty shops. Thousands of families not only failed to get their rations, but also went without their traditional Sunday "joint."

A National Federation of Meat Trade official today said the federation is urging the ministry of food to allow butchers to adjust the value of meat supplied to their customers to the actual amount of meat in stock. Under the government ration scheme, each individual in this country is allowed 1 shilling 6 pence [about 30 cents] worth of meat weekly, but transport and importation difficulties have reduced the butchers' stocks even below that figure.

The traders believe the meat supplies will continue to be short and one West End firm today suggested that the ration should be further reduced to 1 shilling 3 pence [about 25 cents].

Ft. Sheridan Army Hospital Ordered Closed to Visitors

The army hospital at Fort Sheridan was ordered closed to visitors until further notice yesterday by Lieut. Col. Fred During, post executive officer, as a precautionary measure to prevent a possible outbreak of influenza among the 6,000 soldiers at the camp. Col. During said the closing is purely preventive and that thus far only 14 cases of influenza and 71 common colds have been reported. A wave of influenza was reported recently in army camps on the west coast and in the central and southwestern states.

Jugo-Slavs Say 550 Nazi Troop Planes Flew to Italy

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Jan. 6.—More than 550 German troop transport planes flew from southern Austria into Italy in the 12 days from Dec. 23 to Jan. 3, Jugo-Slav army sources on the frontier in Slovenia were reported to have revealed today.

FOREIGN LEGION CAPTAIN IS SET FREE BY FRANCE

VICHY, Jan. 6.—Capt. Gaston Robert, officer of the French Foreign Legion, today was acquitted by the summary military court here of charges of serving with the British and of De Gaullist activities.

The brilliant military conduct of this officer in the service of France was advanced as the reason for the verdict, which accords to him the same clemency that was given by Marshal Petain to the De Gaullist officers at Dakar, who since have announced their loyalty to France.

The captain was charged with serving in the British army contrary to law, and to have incited officers and crews of two French submarines to join with Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of the "free French" movement, and the British.

KING OF BRITAIN CREATES KNIGHT IN STEEL WORKS

SHEFFIELD, England, Jan. 6 (AP).—Workers in a huge British steel works cheered today as, for the first time in history, the accolade of knighthood was conferred by an English monarch beneath a factory roof.

King George and Queen Elizabeth visited bomb shattered sections of Sheffield and then inspected the busy steel works.

The king mounted a dais and knighted the factory's managing director, Sir Allen Grant, whose name had appeared on the New Year's honor list. Grant knelt and the king touched him on both shoulders with a sword and said, "Arise, Sir Allen."

DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN HOTEL.

AMY MOLLISON DIES IN BRITISH PLANE ACCIDENT

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP).—Amy Johnson Mollison, Britain's greatest aviatrix, drowned in the icy waters of the Thames estuary yesterday after she was forced to bail out of the aircraft she was flying for the air transport auxiliary.

Surface craft tried in vain to rescue the war-working ladybird who had winged, during her spectacular career, from Britain to Australia and to America, Japan, and China and across Africa.

A seaman from a nearby balloon barrage ship plunged into the water and grasped a body, but lost his grip in the buffeting waves. He himself was reported near death from exposure and was unable to say whether the body was that of the aviatrix or possibly that of a passenger.

Believed Off Course.

For hours searching boats criss-crossed the scene where the 32 year old flyer fell but were unable to find her body.

The searchers did find her flight authorization papers and some gear bearing her name. The papers indicated she was off her course, possibly lost, when her machine fell.

The accident occurred in midafternoon. Lookouts on ships in the estuary sighted the plane about 750 feet up. It started to climb, then suddenly turned and made a long glide into the water.

At about 200 feet a figure with a parachute fluttered away from the plane and plummeted into the water.

As a member of the air transport auxiliary the aviatrix was engaged in flying from one airfield to another, picking up other women pilots who ferried planes from the factories.

Gained Fame at 22.

Amy Mollison, the laughing, happy airwoman—she was known as "Johnny" to fellow pilots—gained world-wide attention in 1930 when she set out in a light airplane for Australia from England.

She reached India in six days, two days under the previous record, but damaged her plane at Rangoon and eventually arrived at Port Darwin, Australia, in 20 days.

Seven months later she tried to reach Peking via Siberia, but was forced down near Warsaw. In six months she was off again across Russia, Siberia, and China to Tokio. In one day she covered 1,650 miles, establishing another new record. English pride in "Johnny" grew, and she was made commander of the order of the British empire.

In 1932 she was married to James A. Mollison, himself already a widely known flyer. A few months after her wedding, she broke her husband's record for a flight to the Cape of Good Hope by 10 hours and 18 minutes.

In 1936 she announced that she and Jim Mollison had decided "soloing" was their best marital course and in 1938 they were divorced.

Amy then turned to glider piloting, aerobatics, and motor racing and became an instructor in the civil air guard.

ITALIANS FORCED BACK IN PUSH ON VALONA–ATHENS

Greeks Report New Gains in Klisura Area.

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 6 (AP).—Greek soldiers pushing thru the Albanian coastal section toward the important seaport of Valona hurled back veteran Italian Black Shirt units today, while other Greek forces scored new gains in the Klisura area, a government spokesman said tonight.

The Greeks were said to have captured more than 200 prisoners in the day's engagements, 173 in the clash with the Black Shirts on the coast.

"Our troops in the coastal sector continued their offensive and drove the enemy from positions to which they had withdrawn the day before yesterday," the spokesman said.

Occupy New Positions.

A battle to the right of the advancing coastal troops resulted in the capture of 10 men and one officer, the spokesman said, while 38 prisoners were captured north of Klisura.

The Greeks were said to have pushed their lines forward in the Klisura sector and occupied positions which the Italians "stubbornly defended."

More villages and a mountain position were captured in the same sector, the spokesman said.

The Greek high command merely reported "renewed patrol and air activity."

Complain of Cold.

ROME, Jan. 6 (AP).—Italian newspapers today said the cold was so intense in Albania that automatic weapons were rendered unusable and "tents shattered as tho made of glass."

Il Giornale d'Italia reported that bad weather limited the Italian air force mostly to scouting flights.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, said that Greek losses in the past two months were four times those of the Fascist forces.

An air base on Malta, British Mediterranean island, was bombed by Italian planes yesterday, the Italian high command reported. One Fas ist naval scouting plane, attacked by two British craft, was said to have shot down one of the two and turned back the other in flight.

TELLS HOW NINE BRITONS SEIZED AN ITALIAN SHIP

WITH THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, Jan. 6 (AP).—Nine British soldiers—captives aboard a 100 ton Italian schooner—helped an Australian destroyer seize the craft and take it to an Egyptian port with 115 Italians imprisoned below deck, the destroyer commander reported today.

The destroyer intercepted the Italian boat on the night of Dec. 29 and fired a warning shot to halt it. When the destroyer's searchlight was flashed on the boat, the captain said, he saw a British sergeant dash up a hatchway and bowl over an Italian guard. Eight other Englishmen battened down the hatches upon 100 Italian soldiers and 15 sailors.

Then, the Australian officer said, the erstwhile captives compelled the Italian commander to make his vessel follow the destroyer to Sollum, the first stage of a journey for the Italians to an internment camp in Egypt.

Manila-Hongkong Cable Fixed; Break 'Due to Wear'

MANILA, Jan. 6 (AP).—The Manila-Hongkong cable, which broke Saturday, was repaired today and normal business was resumed. Operators said the break was due to normal wear.

Actress Has Flu

PAULETTE GODDARD.

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 6 (AP).—Paulette Goddard was recuperating in a hospital today from an illness her physician said was influenza brought on by working in movie rain scenes. The actress faced the cameras for two days in rain scenes, contracted a cold, and was advised by her doctor to go to the hospital. She was expected to return to the studio in a few days.

FIGHTER ACCUSED IN FATAL BEATING OF FILM ACTRESS

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6 (AP).—A coroner's jury decided today the death of Dorothy Laverne, 30 years old, comedienne in silent pictures, was homicidal and she had been "beaten by Hank Hankinson," a heavyweight boxer.

Miss Laverne died Dec. 29, two days after she was found dazed in a hotel. An autopsy report attributed her death to a heart condition induced by beating.

Hankinson is being sought on charges of assaulting and seriously injuring Shang Welch, brother of Fight Manager Suey Welch, on Christmas eve. A witness at the Laverne inquest, Norman Vallenvach, testified he saw Hankinson strike and kick Miss Laverne in an apartment after they met her in Shang Welch's cocktail parlor. Vallenbach said Hankinson and Miss Laverne were "very drunk," and Hankinson was making advances to her.

C. I. O. PROTESTS 'BACK DOOR' PACT ON DEFENSE JOBS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—The United Construction Workers Organizing Committee [C. I. O.] complained to the war department today that because of "a back door verbal understanding" between "the A. F. of L. and the contractor," men had to pay A. F. of L. fees of $54.50 to $220 each to get work at the new explosives plant at Weldon Springs, Mo.

The situation there, Chairman A. D Lewis of the C. I. O. committee said in a letter, is illustrative of "the general practices being tolerated by the government at the expense of thousands of capable workers."

He said that because of the procedure reported at the Missouri plant, "many thousands of unemployed, WPA workers, and C. I. O. members in the area are . . . being barred while the A. F. of L. imports men from cities many miles away."

Foreign Power Offers Australia Cargo Ships

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 6 (AP).—Navy Minister William Hughes announced today an unidentified foreign power had offered to sell Australia a number of reasonably modern but costly cargo ships. Hughes did not say what the government would do about the offer, but said it planned to buy and charter some freighters to augment the construction of steel and concrete ships being produced in the commonwealth.

HORSE AND MULE UNSUNG HEROES OF ALBANIA WAR

They Bring Up Food and Ammunition.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE GREEK ARMY ON THE NORTHERN ALBANIAN FRONT, Jan. 5 [Delayed].—Horses and mules are the unsung heroes in this war, for more than in any other modern war transport depends upon them.

Today I visited an advance supply base and saw how the lines of pack animals keep the stream of ammunition and supplies moving toward the front where no motor vehicle can operate.

In Albania there are hardly any roads which can be used by cars and trucks. Such roads as motor vehicles can traverse are like bad country roads in America with mud holes, rocky fords, and rickety bridges. Cars sink into muddy ruts until their axles strike solid ground and then they have to be dragged out.

Car Put Out of Commission.

My car was put out of commission by hitting submerged rocks in a sea of mud. Chains, tow ropes, and shovels are standard equipment, and the Greeks keep their army vehicles rolling along.

Today I was towed up a road to a point where motor transport turns over the job to animals.

At the bottom of a gorge thru which the road wound, hospital tents receive the wounded on their way back from the front.

A veterinary officer showed me the pack trains toiling up to the front.

Animals Have Hard Time.

"The animals have a hard time," he said. "We have to keep the supplies moving as fast as possible. If road conditions were better the war would go much faster, but the Italians are up against the same conditions, and they depended much more on motor transports."

He pointed to some mules.

"Those are prisoners of war," he said, grinning. "They are good workers."

During the trip down the gorge I passed trucks moving up thru the dusk, but I also passed pack trains. On bad roads and comparatively short hauls, the pack trains can make fairly good time in comparison with the trucks.

Carcasses of animals dotted the road.

"Killed in action," remarked the veterinary officer.

ITALIAN U-BOATS SUNK BY BOMBS, BRITISH REPORT

Also Claim Plane Plants Forced to Move.

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP).—British bombers have sunk or damaged seriously a number of Italian submarines at Bordeaux, France, and have bombed industrial northern Italy so effectively that some airplane plants there have decided to move, the air ministry declared tonight in a summary of damage reported inflicted on the Italian war machine.

The air ministry news service said British bombs had "severely damaged or sunk outright" Italian submarines based at Bordeaux on "several occasions." The attacks on Bordeaux are important counteroffensives to the Atlantic raids conducted by axis submarines based there.

The air ministry bulletin asserted that the British had learned their air raids on Turin, Milan, Alessandria, and other north Italian industrial cities during October had been "so effective that the Italian people attributed almost supernatural powers to our bomb aimers."

A direct hit that exploded an ammunition dump caused widespread damage at Alessandria and vicinity, the bulletin said.

Plane Factory Moved.

At Turin, the Fiat automobile and airplane works were said to have been seriously damaged while at Milan it was asserted that most of the Caproni aircraft factories decided to move farther south and east as a result of British raids.

Attacks on Durazzo and Valona on the Albanian coast, the account continued, have been "extremely successful." In one raid, most of the aircraft on the ground at Valona was destroyed, and at Durazzo a number of fuel tanks were blown to bits.

As a result of British raids on the Dodecanese islands, the bulletin said there had been no operations from those Italian island bases in the Aegean since the outbreak of the Greek-Italian war.

The RAF activity in Africa was declared to have been relatively large with the result that Italian air forces have been "almost completely unable to make their weight felt."

A series of heavy explosions and bright flashes on the French coast, heard and seen across the Strait of Dover despite a muffling fall of snow, indicated tonight that the R. A. F. again was smashing at the "invasion ports."

The air ministry said that in a Sunday night raid on Brest the "docks were battered by many salvos of bombs. Despite an "immense barrage" and challenges from German fighter planes, the British said all aircraft returned safely. [The Germans said two British planes were downed.]

London Spared at Night.

German bombers shunned England tonight, apparently because of adverse weather conditions over northern France.

Light German fighter-bombers attacked London three times today—the first time in weeks that the capital has undergone more than one daylight alarm—and dropped bombs on East Anglia and southeastern points.

The sound of machine gun fire high above London indicated the royal air force clashed with the Germans. The first alarm came during the rush hour and by midafternoon the sirens had wailed three alarms.

In the daylight raids a girl and a man were killed when two bombs hit a London office building.

Make Individual Attacks.

BERLIN, Jan. 7, Tuesday (AP).—Numerous German warplanes made individual attacks on London yesterday dropping fire bombs and explosives and damaging several quarters of the city, the German news agency DNB said today.

Further attacks were directed against important rail lines and crossings in the counties between London and industrial centers of the Midlands.

One plane dropped a number of bombs on eight freight trains north of London, DNB said, and other planes effectively machine gunned locomotives and tank cars and severely damaged tracks and buildings at an unannounced station.

The Wolverhampton airport was attacked, DNB said, and 10 planes in one hangar were destroyed.

Slain in Church

MRS. MARY McCARTHY.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 6 (AP).—Prosecutor Menso Bolt of Kent county said today that a charge of murder would be filed against Willis McCarthy, 34 years old, for the shotgun slaying yesterday of his estranged wife in St. Andrew's Catholic church.

McCarthy, a Detroit salesman, was held in jail under heavy guard while police obtained eye witness statements to the shooting. The prosecutor said McCarthy probably would be arraigned tomorrow.

McCarthy's wife, Mary Jane, 32, who was to have obtained a final decree of divorce today, was felled by the second of two shotgun blasts as she ran down a church aisle. A passerby captured McCarthy after he had stood off parishioners who attempted to seize him and fled from the church.

Nazis Told Their Taxes Will Not Be Increased During '41

BERLIN, Jan. 6 (AP).—There will be no new taxes or any increase in old ones for Germans in 1941, Fritz Reinhardt, Prussian finance minister, said today in an article in a tax publication. He said 1940 had been very successful in Germany from a tax standpoint.

LONDON'S BOMBED CHURCHES TO RISE AGAIN AFTER WAR

Save and Mark Stones of Ancient Buildings.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Churches and other historical buildings wrecked and damaged in Nazi fire raids on London will be demolished stone by stone and rebuilt after the war in their original form, the newspaper Star said tonight.

The work of restoring the churches, many of which were designed by Sir Christopher Wren, will be carried out under supervision of the ecclesiastical commissioners, the paper said. Each stone will be marked so it can be reërected in the right place.

"All debris that could be salvaged has been placed within the building from which it came," London's city engineer said. "Each place has been barricaded so that it will not be destroyed."

Only a few fragments of stained glass swept up when the streets were cleared are missing, he said.

The government's kitchen salvage campaign, started a little more than a year ago, appears to be hanging fire. So far only 300 town authorities have organized regular collections of scraps from kitchens and distribution direct to poultry farms, according to Harold Judd, salvage controler of the ministry of supply.

During the first month the salvage campaign yielded only 7 tons of kitchen scraps, but the total was expanded to 10,000 tons in December. This year Judd hopes to increase the 1940 figures by at least 50 per cent and obtain the active cooperation of the 15,000 authorities in this country in the collection and distribution of kitchen waste.

Judd also aims to boost waste paper collections up to 450,000 tons—a 50 per cent increase over last year.

Text of President Roosevelt's Message to Congress on Defense Requirements and Plans

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's annual message to congress:

"To the congress of the United States:

"I address you, the members of the 77th congress, at a moment unprecedented in the history of the Union. I use the word 'unprecedented,' because at no previous time has American security been as seriously threatened from without as it is today.

"Since the permanent formation of our government under the constitution, in 1789, most of the periods of crisis in our history have related to our domestic affairs. Fortunately, only one of these—the four year war between the states—ever threatened our national unity. Today, thank God, 130,000,000 Americans, in 48 states, have forgotten points of the compass in our national unity.

Disturbed by Foreign Events.

"It is true that prior to 1914 the United States often had been disturbed by events in other continents. We had even engaged in two wars with European nations and in a number of undeclared wars in the West Indies, in the Mediterranean and in the Pacific for the maintenance of American rights and for the principles of peaceful commerce. In no case, however, had a serious threat been raised against our national safety or our independence.

"What I seek to convey is the historic truth that the United States as a nation has at all times maintained opposition to any attempt to lock us in behind an ancient Chinese wall while the procession of civilization went past. Today, thinking of our children and their children, we oppose enforced isolation for ourselves or for any part of the Americas.

"That determination of ours was proved, for example, during the quarter century of wars following the French revolution.

Not Aimed at Dominance.

"While the Napoleonic struggles did threaten interests of the United States because of the French foothold in the West Indies and in Louisiana, and while we engaged in the war of 1812 to vindicate our right to peaceful trade, it is, nevertheless, clear that neither France nor Great Britain nor any other nation was aiming at domination of the whole world.

"In like fashion from 1815 to 1914—99 years—no single war in Europe or in Asia constituted a real threat against our future or against the future of any other American nation.

"Except in the Maximilian interlude in Mexico, no foreign power sought to establish itself in this hemisphere; and the strength of the British fleet in the Atlantic has been a friendly strength. It is still a friendly strength.

"Even when the world war broke out in 1914, it seemed to contain only small threat of danger to our own American future. But, as time went on, the American people began to visualize what the downfall of democratic nations might mean to our own democracy.

"We need not over emphasize imperfections in the peace of Versailles. We need not harp on failure of the democracies to deal with problems of world reconstruction. We should remember that the peace of 1919 was far less unjust than the kind of 'pacification' which began even before Munich, and which is being carried on under the new order of tyranny that seeks to spread over every continent today. The American people have unalterably set their faces against that tyranny.

Says Democracy Assailed.

"Every realist knows that the democratic way of life is at this moment being directly assailed in every part of the world—assailed either by arms or by secret spreading of poisonous propaganda by those who seek to destroy unity and promote discord in nations still at peace.

"During 16 months this assault has blotted out the whole pattern of democratic life in an appalling number of independent nations, great and small. The assailants are still on the march, threatening other nations, great and small.

"Therefore, as your President, performing my constitutional duty to 'give to the congress information of the state of the Union,' I find it necessary to report that the future and the safety of our country and of our democracy are overwhelmingly involved in events far beyond our borders.

"Armed defense of democratic existence is now being gallantly waged in four continents. If that defense fails, all the population and all the resources of Europe, Asia, Africa, and Australia will be dominated by the conquerors. The total of those populations and their resources greatly exceeds the sum total of the population and resources of the whole of the western hemisphere—many times over.

"In times like these it is immature—and incidentally untrue—for anybody to brag that an unprepared America, single handed, and with one hand tied behind its back, can hold off the whole world.

"No realistic American can expect from a dictator's peace international generosity, or return of true independence, or world disarmament, or freedom of expression, or freedom of religion—or even good business.

Talks of Temporary Security.

"Such a peace would bring no security for us or for our neighbors. Those, who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety, deserve neither liberty nor safety.

"As a nation we may take pride in the fact that we are soft hearted; but we cannot afford to be soft headed.

"We must always be wary of those who with sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal preach the 'ism' of appeasement.

"We must especially beware of that small group of selfish men who would clip the wings of the American eagle in order to feather their own nests.

Modern War Moves Quickly.

"I have recently pointed out how quickly the tempo of modern warfare could bring into our very midst the physical attack which we must expect if the dictator nations win this war.

"There is much loose talk of our immunity from immediate and direct invasion from across the seas. Obviously, as long as the British navy retains its power, no such danger exists. Even if there were no British navy, it is not probable that any enemy would be stupid enough to attack us by landing troops in the United States from across thousands of miles of ocean, until it had acquired strategic bases from which to operate.

"But we learn much from the lessons of the past years in Europe—particularly the lesson of Norway, whose essential seaports were captured by treachery and surprise built up over a series of years.

Secret Invasion First.

"The first phase of the invasion of this hemisphere would not be the landing of regular troops. The necessary strategic points would be occupied by secret agents and their dupes—and great numbers of them are already here, and in Latin America.

"As long as the aggressor nations maintain the offensive, they—not we—will choose the time and the place and the method of their attack.

"That is why the future of all American republics is today in serious danger.

"That is why this annual message to the congress is unique in our history.

"That is why every member of the executive branch of the government and every member of the congress face great responsibility—and great accountability.

"The need of the moment is that our actions and our policy should be devoted primarily—almost exclusively—to meeting this foreign peril. For all our domestic problems are now a part of the great emergency.

"Just as our national policy in internal affairs has been based upon a decent respect for the rights and dignity of all our fellowmen within our gates, so our national policy in foreign affairs has been based on a decent respect for the rights and dignity of all nations, large and small. And the justice of morality must and will win in the end.

Gives National Policy.

"Our national policy is this:

"First, by an impressive expression of the public will and without regard to partisanship, we are committed to all-inclusive national defense.

"Second, by an impressive expression of the public will and without regard to partisanship, we are committed to full support of all those resolute peoples, everywhere, who are resisting aggression and are thereby keeping war away from our hemisphere. By this support, we express our determination that the democratic cause shall prevail; and we strengthen the defense and security of our own nation.

"Third, by an impressive expression of the public will and without regard to partisanship, we are committed to the proposition that principles of morality and considerations for our own security will never permit us to acquiesce in a peace dictated by aggressors and sponsored by appeasers. We know that enduring peace cannot be bought at the cost of the other people's freedom.

Little Political Difference.

"In the recent national election there was no substantial difference between the two great parties in respect to that national policy. No issue was fought out on this line before the American electorate. Today, it is abundantly evident that American citizens everywhere are demanding and supporting speedy and complete action in recognition of obvious danger.

"Therefore, the immediate need is a swift and driving increase in our armament production.

"Leaders of industry and labor have responded to our summons. Goals of speed have been set. In some cases these goals are being reached ahead of time; in some cases we are on schedule; in other cases there are slight but not serious delays; and in some cases—and I am sorry to say very important cases—we are all concerned by the slowness of the accomplishment of our plans.

"The army and navy, however, have made substantial progress during the past year. Actual experience is improving and speeding up our methods of production with every passing day. And today's best is not good enough for tomorrow.

Not Satisfied with Progress.

"I am not satisfied with the progress thus far made. The men in charge of the program represent the best in training, ability, and patriotism. They are not satisfied with the progress thus far made. None of us will be satisfied until the job is done.

"No matter whether the original goal was set too high or too low, our objective is quicker and better results.

"To give two illustrations:

"We are behind schedule in turning out finished airplanes; we are working day and night to solve the innumerable problems and to catch up.

"We are ahead of schedule in building warships; but we are working to get even further ahead of schedule.

"To change a whole nation from a basis of peacetime production of implements of peace to a basis of wartime production of implements of war is no small task. And the greatest difficulty comes at the beginning of the program, when new tools and plant facilities and new assembly lines and ship ways must first be constructed before the actual material begins to flow steadily and speedily from them.

Some Facts Kept Secret.

"The congress, of course, must rightly keep itself informed at all times of the progress of the program. However, there is certain information, as the congress itself will readily recognize, which, in the interest of our own security and those of the nations we are supporting, must of needs be kept in confidence.

"New circumstances are constantly begetting new needs for our safety. I shall ask this congress for greatly increased new appropriations and authorizations to carry on what we have begun.

"I also ask this congress for authority and for funds sufficient to manufacture additional munitions and war supplies of many kinds, to be turned over to those nations which are now in actual war with aggressor nations.

"Our most useful and immediate rôle is to act as an arsenal for them as well as for ourselves. They do not need man power. They do need billions of dollars worth of the weapons of defense.

Ability to Pay Lessening.

"The time is near when they will not be able to pay for them in ready cash. We cannot, and will not, tell them they must surrender, merely because of present inability to pay for the weapons which we know they must have.

"I do not recommend that we make them a loan of dollars with which to pay for these weapons—a loan to be repaid in dollars.

"I recommend that we make it possible for those nations to continue to obtain war materials in the United States, fitting their orders into our own program. Nearly all of their material, would, if the time ever came, be useful for our own defense.

"Taking counsel of expert military and naval authorities, considering what is best for our own security, we are free to decide how much should be kept here and how much should be sent abroad to our friends who, by their determined and heroic resistance, are giving us time in which to make ready our own defense.

"For what we send abroad, we shall be repaid, within a reasonable time following the close of hostilities, in similar materials, or, at our option, in other goods of many kinds which they can produce and which we need.

Suggests Pledge of Aid.

"Let us say to the democracies: 'We Americans are vitally concerned in your defense of freedom. We are putting forth our energies, our resources, and our organizing powers to give you the strength to regain and maintain a free world. We shall send you, in ever increasing numbers, ships, planes, tanks, guns. This is our purpose and our pledge.'

"In fulfillment of this purpose we will not be intimidated by the threats of dictators that they will regard as a breach of international law and as an act of war our aid to the democracies which dare to resist their aggression. Such aid is not an act of war, even if a dictator should unilaterally proclaim it so to be.

"When the dictators are ready to make war upon us, they will not wait for an act of war on our part. They did not wait for Norway or Belgium or the Netherlands to commit an act of war.

"Their only interest is in a new one way international law, which lacks mutuality in its observance, and, therefore, becomes an instrument of oppression.

"The happiness of future generations of Americans may well depend upon how effective and how immediate we can make our aid felt. No one can tell the exact character of the emergency situations that we may be called upon to meet. The nation's hands must not be tied when the nation's life is in danger.

"We must all prepare to make the sacrifices that the emergency—as serious as war itself—demands. Whatever stands in the way of speed and efficiency in defense preparations must give way to the national need.

Right to Coöperation.

"A free nation has the right to expect full coöperation from all groups. A free nation has the right to look to the leaders of business, of labor, and of agriculture to take the lead in stimulating effort, not among other groups but within their own groups.

"The best way of dealing with the few slackers or trouble makers in our midst is, first, to shame them by patriotic example, and if that fails, to use the sovereignity of government to save government.

"As men do not live by bread alone they do not fight by armaments alone. Those who man our defenses, and those behind them who build our defenses, must have the stamina and courage which come from an unshakeable belief in the manner of life which they are defending. The mighty action which we are calling for cannot be based on a disregard of all things worth fighting for.

Speaks of Domestic Problems.

"The nation takes great satisfaction and much strength from the things which have been done to make its people conscious of their individual stake in the preservation of democratic life in America. Those things have toughened the fibre of our people, have renewed their faith and strengthened their devotion to the institutions we make ready to protect.

"Certainly this is no time to stop thinking about the social and economic problems which are the root cause of the social revolution which is today a supreme factor in the world.

"There is nothing mysterious about the foundations of a healthy and strong democracy. The basic things expected by our people of their political and economic systems are simple. They are:

"Equality of opportunity for youth and for others.

"Jobs for those who can work.

"Security for those who need it.

"The ending of special privilege for the few.

"The preservation of civil liberties for all.

"The enjoyment of the fruits of scientific progress in a wider and constantly rising standard of living.

Improvement Needed He Says.

"These are the simple and basic things that must never be lost sight of in the turmoil and unbelievable complexity of our modern world. The inner and abiding strength of our economic and political systems is dependent upon the degree to which they fulfill these expectations.

"Many subjects connected with our social economy call for immediate improvement. As examples:

"We should bring more citizens under the coverage of old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

"We should widen the opportunities for adequate medical care.

"We should plan a better system by which persons deserving or needing gainful employment may obtain it.

"I have called for personal sacrifice. I am assured of the willingness of almost all Americans to respond to that call.

Must Pay More Taxes.

"A part of the sacrifice means the payment of more money in taxes. In my budget message I recommend that a greater portion of this great defense program be paid for from taxation than we are paying today. No person should try, or be allowed, to get rich out of this program; and the principle of tax payments in accordance with ability to pay should be constantly before our eyes to guide our legislation.

"If the congress maintains these principles, the voters, putting patriotism ahead of pocketbooks, will give you their applause.

"In the future days, which we seek to make secure, we look forward to a world founded upon four essential human freedoms.

"The first is freedom of speech and expression—everywhere in the world.

"The second is freedom of every person to worship God in his own way—everywhere in the world.

"The third is freedom from want—which, translated into world terms, means economic understandings which will secure to every nation a healthy peacetime life for its inhabitants—everywhere in the world.

"The fourth is freedom from fear—which, translated into world terms, means a world-wide reduction of armaments to such a point and in such a thoro fashion that no nation will be in a position to commit an act of physical aggression against any neighbor—anywhere in the world.

"That is no vision of a distant millennium. It is a definite basis for a kind of world attainable in our own time and generation. That kind of world is the very antithesis of the so-called new order of tyranny which the dictators seek to create with the crash of a bomb.

"To that new order we oppose the greater conception—the moral order. A good society is able to face schemes of world domination and foreign revolutions alike without fear.

Revolution Goes On.

"Since the beginning of our American history we have been engaged in change—in a perpetual peaceful revolution—a revolution which goes on steadily, quietly adjusting itself to changing conditions—without the concentration camp or the quick-lime in the ditch. The world order which we seek is the coöperation of free countries, working together in a friendly, civilized society.

"This nation has placed its destiny in the hands and heads and hearts of its millions of free men and women; and its faith in freedom under the guidance of God. Freedom means the supremacy of human rights everywhere. Our support goes to those who struggle to gain those rights or keep them. Our strength is in our unity of purpose.

"To that high concept there can be no end save victory."

LAY KEEL OF U. S. BATTLESHIP TO COST 100 MILLION

New York, Jan. 6 [Special].—The keel of the 45,000 ton battleship Missouri, one of the six floating fortresses being built under the expanded naval program, was laid at the Brooklyn Navy yard today alongside her sister ship, the Iowa, under construction.

Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward, commandant of the yard, drove the first rivet. The second was driven by Capt. Harold V. McKittrick, who has just come to Brooklyn as yard captain.

The battleship will cost $100,000,000 and take four years to complete. It will be 850 feet long, have a main battery of nine 16 inch guns in revolving turrets and antiaircraft guns. It probably will carry airplanes and have a speed of more than 30 knots. Thirty per cent of the ship will be welded to save weight which can be devoted to armament. There will be 10-inch deck armament and also underwater protection from torpedoes.

M'LANE TRAILING IN BARKEEP RACE; CROWLEY AHEAD

Business Agent Lags in Close Union Election.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

James Crowley last night was leading a close ballot race for president of Local 278 of the bartenders' union, which recently was ousted from membership in the Chicago and Illinois federations of labor.

George B. McLane, candidate for reelection as business agent, was running well behind Joseph McElligott, an unemployed bartender who made no election campaign.

McLane had brought the union into receivership under Circuit Judge Robert Jerome Dunne on his complaint that Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, gang chief, had seized control. McLane also had accused Crowley of being a Nitti man, but later he became Crowley's ally and running mate.

Crowley Ahead 416 to 345.

Returns up to 2:30 a. m. gave Crowley 696 votes to 529 for Austin. Steeves, leader of the Progressive slate, in the race for president. McElligott led McLane 733 to 405 for business agent.

A total of 2,104 votes was cast in the election, which was held in the county building courtroom of Judge Dunne and was under the judge's supervision.

The vote represented a turnout of approximately 63 per cent of the members eligible to cast ballots. The union has about 4,000 members, 700 of whom are tavern owners not permitted to vote. Many others had been ruled ineligible because of failure to pay dues.

The counting was proceeding slowly with Attorney Charles J. McGuire, counsel for Receiver Roy D. Keehn, announcing the votes and a dozen or more clerks, six of them official, doing the tallying. The polls closed at 9 p. m., but the tallying did not start until after 10.

Weakness Quickly Shown.

It was seen then that the Crowley-McLane alliance was not polling its expected strength. On the basis of the early returns it appeared that many Crowley supporters voted for McLane's opponent or refrained from casting a ballot for business agent.

McElligott, who was said also to be a friend of Crowley, was not present during the count. His name was left on the ballot after two other candidates for business agent had dropped out of the race. He is 35 years old, unmarried, and lives at 5553 South Green street. He has been a bartender for five years.

It was indicated last night that the union's troubles will not be over if Crowley is elected president. State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney has taken a personal interest in the affairs of the union and has offered all the help of his office to its membership in dethroning gangster rule. Courtney said last night he has no intention of slowing up his campaign against the Nitti gang and its big three—Nitti, Danny Stanton, and Murray Humphreys.

Crowley is scheduled to appear today before Judge Dunne on a citation for contempt of court growing out of litigation involving the union. The citation was issued because of a campaign letter in which Crowley sought to blame Keehne for the union's ouster from the state and city federations of labor. The letter said Keehn had failed to pay the union's per capita dues to the federations.

60 MILLION DREAM IMPRISONS 2 FOR BOND FORGERIES

New York, Jan. 6 [Special].—Francis J. McDermott, former deputy state commissioner of insurance and son of Leo J. McDermott, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's former budget director, today was sentenced to one year and a day in prison by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert for one of the most fantastic fraud schemes ever uncovered by federal agents.

Walter A. Stegman, a certified public accountant, was sentenced to serve a year and a half for his part in the plot to run a $7,500 debt into a $60,000,000 fortune.

The plotters, the government charged, had fake bonds of nonexistent companies printed by an obscure printer, and then set out to obtain money on these bonds, planning to use the money to get control of an insurance company and other large corporations.

They began by borrowing $7,500 on bogus bonds using this to obtain control of Financial Shares corporation, an investment trust. Then they substituted fake bonds for good securities and so, the government charged, got $24,000.

They had armored cars to transport their bogus bonds thru the streets. They came close to getting $900,000 once.

Judge Hulbert said he had spent the holiday recess deliberating on the sanity of the defendants.

Car Dealer Named Head of Equestrian Association

W. Earl Butler, a Chicago automobile distributor, was elected president of the Town and Country Equestrian association at its annual dinner in the Sherman hotel last night. Frank W. Lorber, outgoing president, reported that for the first time in its history the association's membership had exceeded 1,000.

JAPAN, FRANCE RENEW TALKS ON INDO-CHINA PACT

Exchange Economic Data in Tokio.

TOKIO, Jan. 6 (AP).—Negotiations by which Japan expects to obtain economic concessions in French Indo-China, including valuable supplies of rubber and rice, were resumed today after a New Year recess.

The cabinet information bureau announced that Rene Robin, head of the French delegation, and Ambassador Hajime Matsuiya, Japan's special negotiator, met for three and a half hours, "continuing the exchange of concrete information on economic problems."

Informed observers believed that the negotiators were attempting to reach fundamental principles for an economic accord.

Denies Japs Seek Saigon.

HONGKONG, Jan. 6 (AP).—Admiral Jean Decoux, governor general of French Indo-China, in a message published here today, denied reports of Japanese designs on Saigon, chief city and port of southern Indo-China, and Camranh bay, naval base on the southeast coast.

British and Chinese reports have said Japan was demanding the right to land troops at Saigon and use Camranh bay, which would make a powerful base for any move against the Dutch East Indies or British Malaya.

Says France to Resist.

The Decoux message was addressed to Louis Reynaud, French consul general here, who, in releasing it, said the implication was that France was determined not to relinquish control of these two strong points.

Decoux also denied reports that the Japanese were demanding exclusive use of the railway from Haiphong and Hanoi to the Chinese border at Langson. The Japs have troops garrisoned at Haiphong and Hanoi.

Jap Bombs Damage Bridge.

Japanese planes inflicted heavy damage on an important bridge over the Mekong river yesterday in an attack on the Burma road, supply line to China from British Burma, a Japanese naval communique reported today. It also said Chinese provincial government headquarters in Kunming, at the Chinese terminus of the road, were bombed intensively and many government buildings destroyed.

Siamese Cross Indo Border.

BANGKOK, Thailand, Jan. 6 (AP).—Thai [Siamese] troops crossed the French Indo-Chinese border at Aran Pradhesa on the heels of retreating French forces and occupied several villages in "reprisal" raids, the Thai command announced tonight. The French suffered heavy casualties and lost considerable equipment, and Thai airplanes bombed five French military centers in Indo-China, officials here understood. The Thai command said one French plane dropped 30 bombs near Udorn early today but there were no casualties.

Chinese Hurl Back Japs.

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 6 (AP).—Three columns of Japanese were flung back with casualties of 3,000, the Chinese Central News agency reported tonight, in a four day battle on the northern front where some of the severest fighting of the war has occurred in the last two weeks.

REPORTS APARTMENT LOOTED.

Miss Lillian Leahy, an official of the La Salle Paper company, 855 Adams street, tolk police yesterday that burglars broke into her apartment at 5718 Kenmore avenue and stole a fur coat valued at $585 and jewelry valued at $300.

BARRETT PLANS TO CONFER WITH CASSIDY TODAY

Attorney General Elect George F. Barrett will confer today at Springfield with the outgoing attorney general, John E. Cassidy, in regard to cases which will be pending when Barrett assumes office next Monday. Both men announced they would cooperate to avoid delays in carrying on the undecided cases.

"I appreciate the invitation from Attorney General Cassidy," Barrett said. "There should be no delays caused in state business because of the forthcoming change in administrations. If the grave problems of Illinois are to be solved, there must be coöperation all the way down the line."

Barrett also disclosed that he has requested a conference with J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, shortly after the inaugural. He wants Hoover's permission to make a study of F. B. I. methods and equipment as a basis for his proposed creation of an Illinois bureau of investigation to improve crime detection and prevention in this state.

35 Park Areas Flooded So Chicagoans Can Skate

Thirty-five areas in parks thruout the city have been flooded and are ready for ice skating, George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the Chicago Park district, said yesterday. Seventy-two other areas will be opened within the next few weeks.

ASK INDICTMENT OF SEX CRIMINAL ON FIVE CHARGES

Samuel Papanek, assistant state's attorney, said yesterday he will ask the grand jury today to indict a twice paroled sex criminal on three charges of taking indecent liberties with children and two of robbery.

The parolee, Norman E. Smith, 18 years old, 1428 North Tripp avenue, was identified at the sex offense bureau by eight girls ranging in age from 8 to 15 years. They said Smith had molested them, and three of the girls said Smith took small sums of money from them.

Smith was arrested Saturday night by Austin police as he followed a young woman from a theater. Police said he confessed more than a dozen sex crimes. He was sent to the St. Charles School for Boys in March, 1936, to serve a two year term for taking indecent liberties with children.

Service Station Attendant Vanishes; So Does $260

Gibson City, Ill., Jan. 6 [Special].—Quentin Paul, 30 years old, night attendant at the farm bureau service station here, was missing today. So were $260, 10 gallons of gasoline, 5 quarts of oil, a new tire, a new tube, and his car. His absence was discovered this morning. His wife said he hadn't been home. Investigators were considering the possibility that Paul had been kidnaped at gun point.

The great strength of the United States is not its billions of gold, its tons of metal or its giant industrial capacity. It is the native mechanical skill and inventive power of its people. In a crisis, this democracy always gives us the men and the ideas the nation needs.
Usually, we imagine that these ideas come from the scientific laboratories or from the drawing boards of engineers. Many do. But just as many and just as great ideas come from the men at the machines of industry.
For scientists, there is the Nobel Prize. For engineers, a score of awards. But there is no award for the gifted men now working at the lathes, forges and work benches of industry.
As a contribution to our national security, Revere Copper and Brass Incorporated is establishing such an award—a Nobel Prize for the workmen in America's metal working industries.

The REVERE AWARD

for Wage Earners in America's Metal Working Industries

THE Revere Award is made by Revere Copper and Brass Incorporated to help speed national defense by encouraging the mechanical genius and inventive talent of American wage earners.

The Revere Award totals $10,000.00 divided as follows:

1st Award	$5,000.00
2nd Award	2,500.00
3rd Award	1,000.00
4th to 9th Awards	250.00 each

The Revere Award is open to all wage earners (foremen and workingmen) in the metal and metal-working industries and to all machine maintenance men.

Each entry remains the property of the sender.

Selection will be made by an impartial Jury of Award consisting of men high in science, labor, the Army, the Navy and industry. The decision of the Jury of Award will be final.

Winners will be chosen for the inventions, devices, improvements or ideas which, in the Jury's opinion, contribute most to speeding up America's Defense Program.

It is desired that all entries be placed at the command of the Defense Advisory Council at Washington, D. C., subject to the entrant's own written consent.

Two or more men may cooperate in any entry.

The Defense Advisory Council would appreciate the cooperation of men in industry—from top to bottom—in bringing the Revere Award to the attention of all men who might be interested.

To help you do this, the following aids have been prepared and are available, free.

AN EXCITED SPOKESMAN.

The President revealed himself in his annual address to congress to be in an excited frame of mind. The text, filled as it is with alarms, hasty generalizations, contradictions, and threats to Europeans and Americans alike, is not the work of a man facing a situation dispassionately; the tones of his voice went even farther to indicate that Mr. Roosevelt is in no mood to view the nation's problems calmly and to think them thru.

There is no doubt that America today is ill-prepared and must quickly acquire the arms which will assure our safety. There is also no doubt that Americans quite generally are agreed that it is desirable that we extend aid to Britain as generously as a regard for our own welfare will permit. And there is no doubt that Americans are prepared to make very substantial sacrifices to achieve both these ends.

In asking these things Mr. Roosevelt could count upon the support of the people and of congress. There was no occasion for passionate denunciations, no occasion for angry words, and exhortations. What was needed and still is needed is a reasoned, temperate account of the situation, and a program for increasing the productivity of our armament industries.

Mr. Roosevelt failed at both points. It therefore remains for congress to do what he has shown himself incapable of doing: Keeping a clear head. At the moment the British are not in grave danger of being overwhelmed. They have not been knocked out by the air attack and they and their Greek allies are continuing to hold the initiative with considerable success in the middle east. The attacks on merchant shipping are severe, but they are not decisive nor at the worst are they likely to be decisive for many months to come. Certainly the United States is in no immediate danger and neither is any other country in the western hemisphere.

That being so, what this country can least afford is to yield to hysteria. To do so not only will hamper our effort to rearm ourselves but also will impede the flow of supplies to Britain.

The problems of production will not yield to emotional pressure. They require for their solution a painstaking analysis to disclose what is lacking and an equally painstaking search for the means of filling the need.

Congress received no guidance from the President. It therefore remains for congress to discover what things we and the British need, the order in which these things are desired, and the means by which they can be obtained. If congress catches the President's contagion it is certain that we shall continue to fail in our duty to strengthen our own defenses and will disappoint British expectations as well.

FROM JOHN TO WINSTON CHURCHILL.

Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, in a speech in Kent Sunday said that Prime Minister Churchill was "our victory" because of his "unequaled courage, drive, and endurance." If Britain had to fight this war in the situation in which it finds itself, Mr. Churchill was probably the greatest gift it could have. For so great an emergency he has all the qualities. Events do not daunt him and his spirit is contagious. It may occur to him more frequently than to other people that he stands where one of his ancestors stood. One of the fine literary works of the many-sided British prime minister dealt with the character of that ancestor, John Churchill, the duke of Marlborough.

The duke of Marlborough had the task of saving Europe and England from the then dominant power of Europe. The then tyrant was a Frenchman and the then aggressor was France. Now it is Hitler and Germany, but it is a story as old as Europe.

When Marlborough undertook to save Europe from the Bourbons, the elector of Brandenburg had just been given the title of king of Prussia, and the German speaking people were divided into several hundred independent political units, some of which were about as big as a large country estate, with rulers who were free to hire out their soldiers to the highest bidder. The map of that Europe shows the small area of Brandenburg and Prussia, divided then, as in 1939, by the Polish corridor and overshadowed by a Poland which contained a great deal of present-day Russia.

France and its satellite, Spain, pushing forward, was about to overrun the Dutch united provinces, to subdue Austria, and establish itself as the absolute power in Europe. Marlborough defeated the French king and he successfully defended the English policy that no great military and naval power should have the Low Countries or be dominant in continental Europe.

History has made many changes in the map of Europe from John Churchill's day to Winston's, but the policy remains. The overshadowing Poland disappeared and reappeared and now has disappeared. The small shaded portion of the map which represented Prussia has spread until it now occupies nearly all of the continent, and the problem is there again. It speaks a different language, its characters are strangely different from what they were even 20 years ago, but it has the same substance and same appearance. The story began before Marlborough; it continued after him. Churchill is writing a new chapter in it. Twice within 25 years force has swept over Europe, changing the map, changing governments, adding power here and taking it away there and leaving the problem behind in its wake.

ARGENTINE MYTH.

Many persons appear to believe that a great trade can be developed between the United States and Argentina, the richest of the South American countries. If, say they, we will but seize the opportunities which lie before us now that Europe is at war, we can establish a permanent trade relationship which will not be disturbed with the coming of peace.

An examination of the trade statistics should reveal what the possibilities are. There can be no question that Argentina could use if she could pay for many of our manufactured products. But a nation pays for its imports with its exports. In order to buy great quantities from us a customer must be prepared to ship us great quantities of goods which we do not produce for ourselves.

Argentina in 1937 sold 758 million dollars worth of goods abroad, Europe taking 500 million dollars worth, or nearly ⅔, and the United States about ⅛. The next year Europe took 79 per cent of Argentina's exports and we took 9 per cent.

We are such a poor customer because Argentina, having climate and soil like ours, produces the same raw materials. She produces principally those products we already have more of than we know what to do with.

Argentina's big export in 1937 was corn. Three hundred fifty-seven million bushels of it were shipped abroad, enabling the Argentines to buy 196 million dollars worth of foreign products. With our bulging corncribs we wouldn't be in the market for any of that.

Number 2 export down there is wheat. One hundred forty-two million bushels of it were sent out in 1937 and fetched 156 million dollars. With an excessive supply here we wouldn't take any from Argentina. Other important exports are hides, beef and many other meat products which the American farmer is prepared to supply in more than ample quantities. An inspection of the trade statistics does not reveal any important items which Argentina is prepared to sell us and we are prepared to buy.

Moreover, Argentina has strong financial ties with Europe. The British, Germans, Dutch, Belgians, and Italians have 3½ billion dollars invested there. That is seven times as great as the American stake.

Jose Maria Cantilo, veteran Argentine statesman, last year declared, "We Argentines cannot undertake alliances or make commitments that overlook the fact that our market is in Europe, not the United States." He said that the policy of his country was to maintain an army and navy to defend herself against possible invasion, but to straddle the fence on other nation's quarrels. "But, in my opinion," Cantilo said, "Argentina cannot make commitments that would block channels of business between our country and the ultimate masters of Europe, be they British or Germans."

Argentina has made it perfectly clear that she wouldn't want the United States to defend her. Last June Buenos Aires told Washington she didn't want any more American warships putting in at the Argentine ports.

A year ago it was announced that attempts to arrange a reciprocal trade agreement with Argentina had failed. Shortly afterward a member of the United States tariff commission stated at a congressional committee hearing that the negotiations had broken down because Argentina refused to extend to us the same concessions she gave to two European countries.

What Argentina must have is an outlet for her raw materials. That cannot be here. Her natural economic affiliation is with Europe. It is sheer nonsense to talk of an alliance of Argentina with the United States.

GHOST DANCING FOR WAR.

A letter from William Allen White of Emporia, Kas., to John T. Graves, a fellow journalist, disappeared between editions of the Birmingham [Ala.] Age-Herald. It was in the early and out of the later run of the paper. In his letter Mr. White, lately of the White committee, said that he resigned as chairman because he did not agree with any one who "wants to make a climate in which the war bug will grow."

"In two of our chapters," Mr. White wrote Mr. Graves, "New York and Washington, we have a bunch of war mongers, and under our organization we have no way to oust them, and I just can't remain in an organization which is being used by those chapters to ghost dance for war." The letter was withdrawn at Mr. White's request. He has already had a taste of ghost dance bitterness because he said the Yanks were not going abroad this time.

Mr. White did not use his Kansas common sense when he allowed himself to be used as a midwestern front for the easterners who organized to make this war vicariously their own. Kansas will be bleeding Kansas again if this happens. It took Mr. White some time to find out what the purpose of the organization was, but no one is now in a better position to know.

SPELL OF CHRISTMAS BLACKED OUT AGAIN.

[The Lutheran Companion.]

It was a striking cartoon by Carl Somdal which appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on Christmas day, and it was as simple as it was striking. The drawing revealed a figure arrayed in white garments, standing on the clouds of the heavens and knocking on a darkened world. The caption above the drawing quoted the words of Jesus recorded in Revelation 3.20: "Behold, I stand at the door and knock."

No one could fail to catch the meaning. He who alone can save a perishing world from its sins comes anew to that world which rejected Him so many years ago, and still He is pleading that men might find room for Him. And never was the urgency of His knocking felt more clearly than on Christmas day, 1940. The whole world seemed to have been caught in the spell of the day and its message of peace and good will. Even the warring nations observed an undeclared truce, and the instruments of murder and destruction were silenced for a day.

Then from countless hearts welled up the pleading cry: "If they can stop their insane carnage for a day, why can't they stop it altogether in the name of the Prince of Peace?"

Men grew hopeful. A spirit of joyous optimism filled the very air. Calloused editorial writers and worldly-wise commentators spoke of how the spirit of love was still the strongest force in the world, and perhaps Christ's way would still work if men would only try it. Let America suggest the idea, they said. Let its President remind the warring nations of their desperate sin and folly, and urge them to walk in the way of peace. Let him say to them, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God."

Four days went by, the spell of Christmas still lingered, and all the world waited breathlessly on a quiet Sabbath evening for the word of hope which only one man seemed to have the power to speak.

"Nonsense!" said the voice from the White House. And the peace hopes of a world were again blacked out.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS RISES AND SHINES.

6th Jan.—Did spend the Twelfth Night quietly at home, recovering from a party of the night before; and it happened in this wise: I did go to my club for a stag dinner to welcome the new members of the past year, an ancient custom, not knowing what else was in the wind, and they made me sit at the head of the table. Presently, when we had consumed several sides of beef, the toastmaster, who is also chief of the clan MacArthur, arose and began to pour his oratory upon my defenseless head. The gist of what he said was inscribed upon a scroll, which he gave me, and it reads thus:

"Whereas our most Loyal Brother has served This Brotherhood with unremitting industry since the moment it was but a twinkling in the eye of its noble founders, it is hereby ordered, resolved, and decreed that he shall henceforth be known as the Grand Sommelier and Official Bungstarter of the Esoteric Circle, the Order of the Eastern Bar. It is further ordered that to the affection we have always given Our Brother there is now to be added the Respect due to his great Responsibilities and the Authority with which he is now vested."

Then I was formally garbed in the robes and endowed with the insignia of this high office, to-wit: A wine steward's or sommelier's leather apron, reaching from the neck to the ankles; a bungstarter or mace for broaching casks of ale, and a silver chain three feet long, of massive links, garnished with a corkscrew and bottle opener, this to be worn about the neck.

Thus arrayed, and needing but a crown of champagne corks to be a more august spectacle than King Gambrinus, I waved my scepter and commanded that joy be unrefined, and after that one good story led to another until our sides ached from laughter. It was a merry party and Mr. Pepys will never forget it, altho he was a sadder and wiser man on the morning after.

CONSIDER THIS WORLD.

Look once again upon this world you know;
Mark well the gracious things you cherish here . . .
The charm of quiet living, and the glow
Of lamplight in the dusk; all this will disappear,
For men in horrid haste destroy their own,
And dreams for which we strived have come to naught.
For all must reap what but a few have sown
And all must pay for power, dearly bought.
Yet we have these that cannot be despoiled:
The wonder, infinite, of growing things;
The deathless purity of snow, unsoiled;
The song of courage that the robin sings.
And we have hearts, that, phoenixlike, will rise
Victorious, from all our tears and pain;
And laughter ring once more beneath the skies,
And willing hands begin to build again.

The Duke Starts the New Year as Usual.

When they dished out my allotment of brains I must of had my feet on tha pillow or else I was laying on my stummick cause they certainly didn' shove em in my head. They even made a mistake at tha christening; instead of Duke, it shooda been Fluke. Whatta cluck! Whatta sucker! My plan fer New Year's Eve was to dust off tha family Bible, read a few scriptures, help tha kids popping corn, drink one egg-nog [I coodn drink 2 of those hospital cocktails on a bet], at 12 o'clock sharp sing "Holy Night," an go to bed.

Well I didn do any of them except tha singing act, an I did that tha next day, but I coodn get tha words just right cause I caught myself saying, "What a night!" Seems about 4 o'clock Tuesday aft., Dec. 31, a flock of little imps in red tights and pitchforks perched upon my shoulder an started coaxing. I'm still a HE man with big heap will power, an I tole tha President of tha clique that he's just wasting his time. Then tha Chairman of the Board gavels him down and sales-talks me with, "Now Dookie if ya limit yerself to 3 drinks at hour intervals and dont eat any of tha French junk, just stick to red meat an go home at 1 o'clock, ya cant go far wrong."

So I seys to me that that sounded like good logic and we went. Wed. aft. 4 bells P. M. I regain semi-conscious an mosey down to the living room. I know I aint entitled to this kind of a room but we aint got a private morgue, an I no sooner plant my corpse on tha sofa when that dam cat of ours goes out in tha kitchen an laps up her milk so loud that tha roar of Niagara Falls wood of been more welcome.

Then in walks tha pooch. He starts biting tha fleas on his tail an I'm telling you when each flea was about to die the long sorrowful final wail went thru me like a knife. Two minutes later our darling daughter Mary starts throwing bread out to tha sparrows in tha yard, and just to aggravate me she feeds em crusts instead of soft stuff. Those birds took particular delight in giving me an imitation of subway riveters.

Then tha telephone cow-bell starts. Tha 1st goof tells me to try Worchester sauce with horseradish. Tha next lug suggests oyster stew, but to use stale beer instead of milk. No. 3—try eatin 6 raw eggs with a fork. By this time I'm ready to croak, so I calls up good old Doc Melendy an he asks me if I tried sticking my finger down my throat, and when I told him it didnt work he suggests my going over to tha plumbers and borrowing a plunger. Duke Bakrak.

P. S. Mama, pleeze, pleeeeze! Don't knit so loud.

A TOURIST'S DREAM.

The burnished samovars purr pleasantly
And dishes click on tables carved and brown;
Sleek-haired ladies lift their hands ecstatically
And, faintly smiling, set their teacups down.
The breeze, thru latticed windows, faintly brings
The distant, muted din of the bazar;
And from the growing gloom a voice that sings
Forgotten, plaintive songs to Isdubar.
Pale wistful songs; a voice no longer gay,
That softly bids a glowing world adieu,
And tells of days that long have gone their way
When love was old and even Time was new.

PNEUMONIA IN CHILDHOOD —A VALUABLE ANTIDOTE.

ORDINARILY the lungs carry on without giving us much trouble. We may wonder at their stability because the air sacs are so delicate and fragile. But inflammation may strike these lacelike areas—with ensuing pneumonia. We try to prevent such catastrophes by careful attention to colds as we realize that trouble within the breathing apparatus is serious, particularly with infants and children.

Fortunately we have many helpful remedies—including oxygen, serum, and sulfanilamide and its derivatives. With these modern supports we can look upon the ailment as dangerous—yes—but with a high percentage of recoveries.

A recent report on 167 little patients who were given sulfathiazole points out that all but five returned to robust health. Two of the latter received so little of the preparation that it had no chance to prove its power. The remaining children were placed under treatment within two or three days after the onset of the illness. The medicine was crushed to a powder and administered in milk or fruit juice. Whenever possible the amount was large—1 grain per pound of body weight each day.

What happened? In most subjects the temperature dropped within 48 hours. Altho there were individual differences in the response, the fever disappeared in 81 of the cases within 24 hours. Naturally the question arises, did the drug prove harmful in any degree? Some of the tots were able to take each dose regularly and without the slightest discomfort. Vomiting, however, was observed in 21, and diarrhea occurred in three. The absence of blueness about the nose, lips, and fingers—so common when sulfanilamide is employed—was quite striking. In no single instance was anemia noted, altho the concentration of the chemical in the blood was high.

But pneumonia may be complicated by other conditions. A 4 year old girl in this group developed an abscess in the pleural space. Desperately ill, both serum and sulfanilamide were utilized. After two withdrawals of pus by syringe suction the temperature dropped to normal. This victim remained in the hospital for a little over two weeks. Had it not been for the presence of this pus pocket undoubtedly the period of invalidism would not have been prolonged.

Among other interfering disorders mention must be made of middle ear disease. In this series it appeared in 87 of the sufferers. Here again, convalescence was rapid, altho in 31 drainage was necessary and the drum was opened by means of a slight incision.

Apparently we have an exceedingly effective product in this substance, especially with youngsters. So quickly were the toxic effects of the malady eliminated that delirium, abdominal distention, and heart failure were not seen.

Physicians emphasize, however, the importance of watching for blood in the urine which would indicate injury to the kidneys for which the drug is responsible. This means that a daily microscopic examination is necessary, as the red blood cells may be few in number and hence escape detection by the naked eye.

In this connection we may recall the great value of sulfapyridine in the treatment of adult pneumonia. This special compound can be taken—not with impunity—but with reasonable safety, as it seems to delight in pursuing and punishing harmful microbes.

DANGER IN PRINTER'S INK?

E. T.: Can a person who works daily with printer's ink contract tuberculosis?

REPLY.

About as readily as one who works in a cheese factory or an office—but no more so. Fortunately, carbon particles from the ink will not injure the lungs. Those who live in a smoky atmosphere will inhale more soot in a month than can be obtained from years of contact with lampblack [employed in the manufacture of ink]. Tuberculosis may be contracted thru association with any one who is expectorating live bacilli.

CHILDREN'S WANTS.

H. S. writes: When children demand more than the family budget can provide, should this situation be explained to them?

REPLY.

As a rule, youngsters are imaginative. They may want the world with a fence around it. As soon as understanding comes they should be told that father and mother can do only so much. It is perfectly proper to express the hope that they can be clothed and fed adequately and given a good education. Don't try to keep up with the Joneses.

LUMP ON WRIST.

R. S. writes: I have a lump on my hand near the wrist and was told it was a "sinew." What does this mean?

REPLY.

This is probably a small cystic tumor, which is often referred to as a "ganglion." As a rule the sac is filled with gelatinous material termed "colloid." Occasionally these growths absorb, either before or after rupture of the sac. If they persist, however, surgical removal is advised.

REPELLING GERMS.

S. I. writes: I have been told that sprinkling sulfur into my shoes will ward off the flu. How much should I use?

REPLY.

I know that influenza germs are low lived organisms, haunting dark places, but even they avoid the feet. This would be a waste of a good remedy. Useful for chiggers, but this is not the season.

ALKALINE URINE.

A. R. D. writes: What does an alkaline urine indicate?

REPLY.

Nothing, if there are no other symptoms. The urine, as a rule, is slightly acid. This reaction may vary from day to day according to the diet. The test should be applied to a fresh specimen in order to be accurate. One that is two or three hours old may become alkaline.

FLAT FEET.

Mrs. N. writes: My son, 13 years old, was told by the school doctor that he has flat feet. Is he too young to wear arch supports?

REPLY.

Not if needed. Exercises, plus proper shoes, should render these devices unnecessary. An orthopedic surgeon can help him.

YOUNG ARTERIES.

A. B. C. writes: My mother has worked hard all her life. She was told by her physician that her arteries are in good condition. Is this possible? She is 66 years old.

REPLY.

Yes, indeed. She is fortunate that she possesses "rubbery" blood vessels.

MONEY LOANED.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. My father borrowed $2,000 from a man about 10 years or more ago. He is now trying to collect. Is there a law in Illinois saying a debt cannot be collected after seven years?

2. My father lives in another state at the present time. Can you cross the state lines to collect a debt?

About five years ago this man put a lien on my father's house and this house was sold for the best offer at the time.

3. In other words, a foreclosure thru this man's action. A $17,000 home was sold and my father had on it a $9,000 mortgage.

4. My father received $200 for the title or sale of the deed.

5. This man received [6] his proportionate share thru the sale of this house altho he did not hold a mortgage on this building. It was our understanding that the sum he accepted at that time was all he could get, as he was the one who sued for the money and brought about the foreclosure.

7. Did he seal the debt when he accepted his share on this house?

He has now put his case into the hands of some collecting agency in the Chicago loop and [8] they now ask for $2,500.

9. How could this be when the original sum was only $2,000 and he received a settlement thru the bank? A. D.

1. No. The Illinois limitation period on written contracts is five years and on oral agreements 10 years from the maturity date.

2. Yes, if the statute of limitations has not run in other state.

3. This implies that he obtained a judgment which would supersede the original debt.

4. An execution sale is in some ways like a foreclosure but is not identical.

5. It is not clear from whom he received the $200.

6. Do you mean the judgment creditor?

7. In general it would not be a matter of proportionate shares.

8. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing which party you are talking about.

9. They are the best source of information as to how they calculate the amount of their claim. Conceivably interest may be the explanation.

PAYMENT BY CHECK.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A issued a check to B for $100 in good faith. B cashed check with C and C deposited check, and for no reason at all payment was stopped. C can't get the money from B. C, being an innocent party, can't he demand payment from the bank? A has no reason for stopping payment. E. K.

No. In general the holder of an uncertified check has no action against the bank.

A LOAN TO BRITAIN.

Chevy Chase, Md., Dec. 31.—Britain needs money to buy planes and ships.

I should like to submit a suggestion whereby Jesse Jones might utilize a combination of good British collateral and idle American gold to work out a loan to Britain.

The American dollar is described as "elastic currency." Against collateral of 40% gold and 60% eligible commercial paper, federal reserve banks for more than a quarter century have issued certificates technically described as federal reserve notes but called "dollars."

For some time American business men and economists have been worried about the 20 odd billions of dollars of idle gold at Fort Knox, Ky. Without impairing the gold standard of our outstanding currency, at least 4 billions of this idle gold might now be matched against 6 billions of choice British stocks and bonds to produce 10 billions of "elastic currency" dollars with which to finance the production in America of airplanes and ships.

As long as this loan should be outstanding the 4 billions of gold and the 6 billions of dollars of British collateral could be held in trust in the vaults at Fort Knox. Meanwhile, the 6 billions of collateral could be administered by a board of trustees, the majority selected by the British parliament, as respresentatives of the original owners. The entire collateral should be held intact until all the 10 billion dollars had been withdrawn and canceled. If the British should fail to repay the 10 billions of dollars the collateral by default would become the property of the American government, to be administered by a government agency similar to the present Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Such a loan would make possible the advancing immediately of 10 billions of dollars of credit to Britain for ships and planes without British capitalists having to sell their choicest investments in world-wide British properties at forced sale or liquidation prices. Thus, British industries would be preserved and the British empire as a commercial institution held intact in spite of the present urgent British need for money.

ART.

Frankfort, Ill., Jan. 2.—In a recent issue of your paper I read a statement quoting an official of the Art institute as indicating that if it weren't for WPA art projects we poor hicks out here in the country would never get to see any worthwhile pictures.

Tho only a farmer, I do avail myself of an occasional opportunity to visit your Art institute, an enjoyable event, but I feel sure that a majority of the visitors to that institution would agree with me in saying that a few, at least, of the so-called artists who paint certain carnal monstrosities to be found on those walls should be hung right alongside their evil works. CLARENCE M. CLEVELAND.

OUR FLAG.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—I wish to express my appreciation to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for its new feature, "Our Flag—In Crosswords."

The study and thought necessary to find the solutions should greatly increase our knowledge of the origin and correct use of our flag, and such increased knowledge should increase our love and respect for it and for the country of which it is the beautiful symbol.

LITERATURE SUNDAY.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—Let the men and women of this nation unite with our many organizations and newspapers in promulgating and publishing a call for a "Literature Sunday," a Sunday upon which all our churches will discuss the subject of the character and kinds of literature coming these days into the possession of our children and young people.

Many of the cheap magazines [there are books, too] eagerly bought by our boys and girls are nothing but erotic filth and their harmful effects, hidden as they are, are beyond calculation. The publishers of this evil stuff are beneath contempt, and if a million were hanged about their necks and they were cast into the midst of the sea humanity would say "Amen!"

The preservation of a nation is basically dependent upon religion and morals. These are the vital factors of liberty. Fifty-six years ago Matthew Arnold in his famous address upon "Numbers" in New York City predicted that France would ultimately suffer because of the very apparent lack of these two virtues, a lack which cannot be otherwise than devastating to any nation, even to ours.

Train up our children in the way our fathers and mothers were trained, and when they grow up they will not depart from it. DAVID HERRIOTT.

MR. WHITE'S RESIGNATION.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—A salute to William Allen White, who wanted to defend America!

He stuck faithfully with the committee which bore his name, until it was completely in control of the eastern war hawks, and it became painfully apparent that the committee was misnamed.

Perhaps the name should now be the Committee to Keep America Defenseless by Giving Away Everything We Own—or maybe the America Second committee or the Get America Into War committee.

Let all citizens ponder the decision of the liberal Kansas editor, who came to the conclusion that our country can best be served by nonmembership in the interventionist committee. How many more former White committee members will now follow his patriotic example?

BEHOLD I STAND AT THE DOOR.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Today I heard a well known Chicago pastor refer to the marvelous cartoon in your paper, "Behold, I Stand at the Door and Knock." He used it as the text for his sermon at Chicago's Noonday chapel in the Grand Opera house.

When I saw this unusual cartoon a few days ago I pinned it up on the wall to look at it daily, and now, after hearing today's sermon, I feel it is the outstanding cartoon of the year.

Truly Jesus, the Prince of Peace, stands outside the world's door today, anxiously waiting to be invited in and bring peace and joy to the world.

The shameful exhibition of a frenzied animal, maddened with torture and fear, dispatching his tormentor should sicken with its revolting cruelty and horror any normally balanced human.

A world without such atrocities is not for us until mankind has been reeducated and imbued with the principles of mercy and abolition of maiming and killing as an amusement. PEARL AMOS.

STELLE AND U. S. JUDGE INTERVENE IN UNION QUARREL

Act to End War Between Rival Mine Groups.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6 (AP).—Gov. John Stelle and Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle today intervened in a labor controversy affecting members of rival coal miners' unions employed in a mine here.

The governor's action came in the form of a letter to Ray Edmundson, state president of the United Mine Workers of America [C. I. O.] and William Keck, Illinois head of the Progressive Mine Workers [A. F. of L.], asking a peaceful solution of the dispute, and adding that in the event of failure to negotiate a settlement, "nothing will deter me from the use of the forces of state government."

Judge Briggle ordered four members of the United Mine Workers to appear before him next Saturday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for violation of a federal injunction against violence on the premises of the Mine B Coal company, where the disagreement arose.

Charged with Beating Miner.

Those named in the citation are Lee Bumgardner of Dawson and Ed Heckleback, William Lansky and Charles Bohannan, all of Springfield. They were named in a petition by John R. Kane, counsel for the Progressive Mine Workers, who charged they were involved in the severe beating of Joseph Gedman, a Progressive Miner, last Tuesday while he worked underground in mine B.

Both unions have contended that they represent a majority of men employed by the company, but the Progressive union has been designated sole bargaining agency for the mine's employés. Kane said the beating of Gedman climaxed a series of instances of "intimidation" of Progressive Miners in recent months.

United States Attorney Howard L. Doyle last Saturday said he would ask federal bureau of investigation officials to investigate the situation at the mine, which he said "may foster the worst type of violence."

Quarrel Three Years Old.

The representation dispute is of long standing, going back before Dec. 9, 1937, when the nonviolence injunction was issued by Federal Judge J. Leroy Adair.

The governor's letter to the mine union presidents reminded them of a pledge he said had been made by them prior to the recent pardoning of five Du Quoin men imprisoned for a mine war slaying in 1933. The letter said:

"I am sure that as heads of the unions involved in this alleged controversy, you will keep the pledge made to the people of Illinois to settle all differences in a peaceful and American way.

"As governor, I want you to know that nothing will deter me from the use of the forces of state government to bring about such a settlement if the mine unions fail to keep their pledge."

Tonight Edmundson countered by asking Stelle to conduct a secret poll of miners employed in the open shop coal mine to determine which of the two unions represents a majority of the coal diggers, and to avert a possible open clash between the rival factions.

TWO MOTORISTS GET JAIL TERMS IN SAFETY COURT

Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Safety court yesterday sentenced two motorists to the County jail for 10 days on charges of driving while intoxicated and suspended their driving privileges for 90 days. The two are Fred Reitz, 35 years old, a farmer of Palatine, whose automobile injured a woman in a collision Sunday at Harlem avenue and the Northwest highway, and Adam Jarmus, 23, of 10946 Mackinaw avenue, who was involved in a crash Sunday at 85th street and Burley avenue.

KEEPS MONEY IN STOVE; ROBBED.

Two bandits yesterday took $264 from Vincent Kijak, owner of a butcher shop at 1401 Noble street, after forcing him to disclose the hiding place of the money in an unused coal stove.

LAW FINDS DOORS LOCKED, HORSE (BOOKIES) GONE

Chicago's bookmakers weren't at home yesterday when Lewis M. Nowlan called at 11 establishments.

Nowlan is assistant to Attorney General John E. Cassidy. He had been instructed to notify the bookies that Judge Maurice V. Joyce of St. Clair county wants to see them about the blanket injunction he issued Dec. 3 against bookmakers thruout the state. All Nowlan found was closed doors, many barred by brand new padlocks. He went back to Belleville last night.

Meanwhile, 100 injunction defendants, including the Bulletin Record Publishing company, 608 South Dearborn street, and the Winning Horse corporation, 10 North Clark street, had announced they would fight the case in the St. Clair county district court. The two Chicago companies, charged with distributing race horse information in violation of the injunction, have been ordered to show cause Thursday why they should not be held in contempt of court.

GIRL, 4, KILLED AS SHE DARTS BENEATH TRUCK

Sandra Scofield, 4 years old, 4125 Drexel boulevard, was injured fatally yesterday when she broke from her mother's grasp and ran under the rear wheels of a truck at Cottage Grove avenue and 42d street. The driver was Henry Kroll, 1426 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn.

Robert Christophersen, 32, of 4047 North Central Park avenue, a clerk, died in his home last night, apparently of injuries incurred Nov. 10 when he was struck by a car driven by Matthew Robertson Jr., 18, of 1435 Henry avenue, Des Plaines, in front of 2639 Elston avenue.

Frank Williams, 52, colored, 3025 Federal street, died in county hospital of injuries suffered Jan. 1 when he was struck by a taxicab at 25th street and Cottage Grove avenue. The driver was Arthur Smythe, 1354 East 62d street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 22 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 17 were killed in Chicago, where 398 were injured in traffic during the same period.

SUPREME COURT ENFORCES SIGNED LABOR CONTRACT

Upholds NLRB Ruling in Heinz Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—The United States Supreme court held in a far reaching decision today that employers are compelled by the national labor relations act to embody in signed contracts agreements reached with labor unions respecting wages, hours, and working conditions.

Justice H. F. Stone.

The court's opinion, delivered by Justice Harlan F. Stone, acknowledged that the Wagner act does not compel employers to enter into agreements with employes. But refusal to sign a contract embodying an agreement, once it is reached, constitutes refusal to bargain collectively in violation of the law, the court held. The decision was unanimous, with Justice James C. McReynolds taking no part in the case.

The court's decision resulted from an appeal by the H. J. Heinz company against an order of the National Labor Relations board requiring it to disestablish an alleged company union, to recognize and bargain collectively with the Canning and Pickle Workers' local, No. 325, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and to sign a written contract embodying any agreement which it might reach with union representatives.

Little Steel Balks.

The labor board first asserted its authority to require the signing of contracts embodying agreements with unions during the violent strike of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, in the Little Steel industry in 1937. Some of the independent steel companies agreed to bargain collectively and posted notices complying with the demands of the union respecting wages, hours, and working conditions, but refused to sign a contract.

Various so-called "written contract" cases were appealed to the Supreme court after conflicting decisions by the Circuit Court of Appeals, but the Heinz case was the first decided.

"It is true that the national labor relations act, while requiring the employer to bargain collectively, does not compel him to enter into an agreement," said Justice Stone's opinion, "but it does not follow, as petitioner argues, that, having reached an agreement, he can refuse to sign it, because he has never agreed to sign one. He may never have agreed to bargain, but the statute requires him to do so. To that extent his freedom is restricted in order to secure the legislative objective of collective bargaining as the means of curtailing labor disputes affecting interstate commerce.

Must Reduce It to Writing.

"A business man who entered into negotiations with another for an agreement having numerous provisions, with the reservation that he would not reduce it to writing or sign it, could hardly be thought to have bargained in good faith. This is even more so in the case of an employer who by his refusal to honor with his signature the agreement which he has made with a labor organization discredits the organization, impairs the bargaining process and tends to frustrate the aid of the statute to secure industrial peace thru collective bargaining.

"Petitioner's refusal to sign was a refusal to bargain collectively and an unfair labor practice. . . ."

In another labor board case the Supreme court reversed the judgment of the Circuit Court of Appeals of Chicago, which had refused to enforce an order requiring the Link-Belt company to disestablish an alleged company union. The Circuit Court said the evidence did not support the finding of the labor board that the independent union of craftsmen was a company dominated union. The Supreme court's opinion, delivered by Justice William O. Douglas, said "the whole congeries of facts before the board supports its findings."

BLACK TOM AWARD UPHELD

The court unanimously upheld the validity of $50,000,000 in damage awards assessed against Germany as a result of the Black Tom and Kingsland, N. J., explosions.

The explosions occurred before America entered the world war, and a German-American mixed claims commission which conducted a long inquiry made the awards to various American claimants.

Government officials expressed the opinion that the ruling wrote the last chapter in the litigation which had been before an international tribunal since 1927.

The decision means that $24,000,000 plus interest of $2,000,000 held in the treasury as a German special deposit account soon will be turned over to the Lehigh Valley railroad, the Bethlehem Steel company, the agency of the Canadian Car and Foundry company, and Insurance Underwriters who lost heavily as a result of the explosions at Black Tom, the railroad's Jersey terminal, and at the munitions assembly plant at Kingsland. All ammunition destroyed was destined for the allies.

The decision, written by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, held that congress had the "constitutional authority" to give the secretary of state the power to consider and pass upon the validity of awards made by the German-American mixed claims commission.

In so ruling, the court dismissed the challenge of the awards brought by the Z. and F. Assets Realization corporation and the American-Hawaiian Steamship company. They contended they held prior claims of $2,600,000 and that the commission's $50,000,000 awards were invalid because Dr. Victor L. F. H. Huecking, the German commissioner, had withdrawn from the final deliberations.

The court said, however, that under the settlement of war claims act of 1928 a certificate from the secretary of state for the purpose of paying the claims "must be deemed to be conclusive."

In a concurring opinion, Justice Hugo L. Black and Justice Douglas agreed that the courts were without power to consider the subject matter at all.

Justice Owen J. Roberts, who served as umpire of the commission, did not participate in the court's consideration of the case.

Involves State Sovereignty.

In another case which involved state sovereignty to some extent, the court ruled that a federal court deciding litigation in accordance with state law must change its decision if the state law subsequently is altered.

Virginia Vandenbark of Newark, O., sued the Owens-Illinois Glass company for damages on the claim that she contracted silicosis as an employé in 1935. A federal District court found against her on the basis of a state Supreme court decision that there was no cause for action, but while her federal appeal was pending the Ohio court reversed its interpretation and the state enacted a workmen's compensation law covering the case.

Justice Stanley F. Reed's opinion took note of the argument "that appellate courts will review a judgment only to determine whether it was correct when made" and that "any other review would make the federal courts subordinate to state courts," but concluded:

"While not insensible to possible complications, we are of the view that . . . the duty rests upon federal courts to apply state law . . . in accodance with the then controling decision of the highest state court."

Scratched by Cat

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MISS ANITA GEIGER.

A cat scratch yesterday brought Miss Anita Geiger, daughter of the health commissioner of San Francisco, into the office of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health.

Miss Geiger, 15 and a student at Ferry hall in Lake Forest, received the scratch before leaving San Francisco Thursday. At the suggestion of her father, Dr. C. J. Geiger, who as assistant head of the board of health here from 1923 to 1927, she consulted Dr. Bundesen about precautionary antirabies treatment.

Examination of the cat, killed by an automobile before it could be caught for observation, is not yet complete, Dr. Bundesen learned after a conversation with Dr. Geiger. In the meantime Miss Geiger will be kept under close observation at Ferry hall.

FBI OPPOSES PAROLE OF MARTIN DURKIN; SLEW FEDERAL AGENT

W. S. Devereaux, head of the federal bureau of investigation in Chicago, and T. F. Mullen, an assistant, appeared yesterday before a subcommittee of the state parole board in Joliet to oppose parole of Martin Durkin, who is serving 35 years in Stateville penitentiary for the murder of Edwin C. Shanahan, a federal agent, in 1925. Durkin automatically was granted a hearing by the board on the completion of one-third of his sentence.

Devereaux and Mullen told Max Dreznal and Guy C. McGaughey, board members, that Durkin's record as a killer and lawbreaker should bar his release. They reminded the board members that Durkin is under federal sentence of 15 years for transporting a stolen car across state lines, and that an indictment charging him with the murder of Sergt. Harry Gray of the Chicago police can be reinstated against him at any time.

Members of Durkin's family appeared later to urge his release.

CONTRACTS LET FOR TWO GRADE SEPARATION JOBS

The county board yesterday awarded contracts for the construction of an overpass at Tower road and the tracks of the North Western railroad and the North Shore electric line in Winnetka and for the construction of an underpass replacement at Touhy avenue and the North Western tracks in Park Ridge.

The Winnetka project will cost $60,387. The contracts were awarded as follows: $42,184 for concrete work, the Superior Concrete Construction company; $15,386 for steel work, the American Bridge company, and $2,817 for lighting and signals, the White City Electric company.

The Park Ridge job will cost $221,463 and will create an underpass 40 feet wide in place of the present 18 foot width. The contracts are as follows: $143,540 for concrete work, the Leininger Construction company; $56,294 for steel work, the American Bridge company, and $21,629 for lighting, the Street Lighting Service company. All the bids were the lowest submitted, Commissioner Daniel Ryan, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, said.

Now is the Time to Beware of Contagious Colds!

At a treacherous time like this, with contagious colds all around you, what you do today may save you and your family a lot of sickness, worry and trouble later.

Follow these simple rules of health: Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Take some exercise daily—preferably outdoors. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

Then use these two time-tested treatments when needed.

AT THE FIRST SNIFFLE, SNEEZE OR SIGN OF NASAL IRRITATION . . . put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril right away. This helps to prevent many colds from developing, because Va-tro-nol is expressly designed to help Nature's own defenses against colds. (If a head cold causes stuffiness, you'll find that a few drops of Va-tro-nol helps clear the clogging mucus and makes breathing freer and easier.)

IF A CHEST COLD OR COUGHING COLD DEVELOPS (some colds get by all precautions) depend on Vicks VapoRub to relieve miseries. Rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub acts to bring relief 2 ways at once. It stimulates surface of chest and back like a warming poultice. At the same time it releases helpful medicinal vapors that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages.

Both Va-tro-nol and VapoRub have been tested through years of use in millions of homes. When you use these two medicines you are not experimenting, you are not taking needless chances. Remember: If the condition of the cold fails to respond quickly to treatment—or if more serious trouble is indicated—call your family physician right away. In the meantime be prepared! Get a bottle of Vicks Va-tro-nol and a jar of Vicks VapoRub today—have them handy, ready to use.

★ THE RULES ★

Who Can Enter? This offer is open free to men, women, boys and girls everywhere—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families.

What To Do? Each week day a Crossword Puzzle will be printed in the Daily Tribune until 40 have appeared. Each puzzle contains the missing words of the informative item beneath the puzzle. Solve the puzzles, find the missing words and write them in the spaces provided. Missing words will appear automatically as you solve the puzzles. Hold all answers until you have the complete set of 40. Do not send them in separately. You may send facsimiles if you wish. It is not necessary to solve ALL correctly. Prizes will be paid for entries ranking highest.

Where To Send? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "Flag Puzzles," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. With your entry send a letter giving your name and address and stating in 25 words or less why you like to live under the protection of the flag of the United States. Letters will be considered only if two or more persons submit equally correct solutions to the puzzles; in which event judgment will be based on sincerity and originality. Entries must be in by midnight one week after Puzzle No. 40 has been printed.

Judgment? Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree that the judges' decisions will be final. 430 cash awards totaling $5,000 will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved complete sets of puzzles. No one shall be entitled to more than one prize. Elaborate entries will receive no more consideration than simple ones. In case of ties duplicate awards will be paid.

Feb. 8 Is Set for Wedding by Alice Blair

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT IS doubtful if even the bride or bridegroom—and the latter usually is the most excited person at a wedding, as any married person can testify—will be as thrilled at the marriage ceremony of Miss Alice Blair and John T. Llewellyn II. as the 8 year old flower girl, Peggy Blair. The 14 year old junior usher, Thomas B. Blair, will be excited inwardly, of course, but no young man that age would show any sort of emotion, even at his big sister's wedding.

The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 8, in Christ church, Winnetka, with the rector, the Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, officiating. The bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Elliott of Blackthorn road, Winnetka, will open their home for the reception, to which more guests will be invited than to the ceremony. The bride's father, Parker Blair, who also lives in Blackthorn road, will give the bridal dinner for his daughter the night before the marriage at the Indian Hill club.

Miss Lydia Elliott to Be Cousin's Maid of Honor.

Miss Lydia Elliott will be her cousin's maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Cynthia Aldrich, who will be married to David Rowe on Feb. 16; Miss Suzanna Allen, Miss Edith Porter, Miss Carol Harrison, Miss Barbara Buchanan, Mrs. John I. Marshall Jr., Miss Natalie Bliss of Scarsdale, N. Y., who was the bride's roommate at Farmington, and the bride's cousin, Mrs. Louis G. Johnson [Anne Cox of Dayton] of Atlanta.

De Witt Buchanan Jr. will be best man for the son of Mrs. Jack C. Sturtevant and ushering with Tom Blair will be the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Harry O. Owen Jr., John Elliott, Frederick H. Scott Jr., H. Ross Bornaman of Chicago and Elkhart, Ind., Luther Davis of New York, Dinwiddie Lampton of Louisville, Edward Shumaker of Merchantville, N. J., and Stephen Frye of Milwaukee.

Mr. Llewellyn is a reserve officer and expects to be called soon for military training, so he and Miss Blair are making no plans for a residence in Chicago for another year or more. They will go to the Pacific coast on their wedding trip and then will be at home in some army camp, probably.

Janet Wilder's Betrothal of Interest in Chicago.

Of interest to Chicagoans is the engagement announcement that Mrs. Amos Parker Wilder of New Haven, Conn., is making. Her daughter, Janet, is engaged to Winthrop Saltonstall Dakin, son of Mrs. Arthur Hazard Dakin of Amherst, Mass., and the late Dr. Dakin. Miss Wilder obtained a doctorate at the University of Chicago and has many friends here. Her sister, Miss Isabel, has visited here several times, and their brother, Thornton Wilder, is well known here.

Mr. Wilder, the novelist, is a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago. Miss Janet at present is an instructor in zoölogy at Mount Holyoke college, where she was graduated in 1933. Her fiancé, a cousin of Gov. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, prepared for Princeton at St. Mark's. He went to the Harvard law school after finishing at Princeton in 1930.

Martha Elizabeth Muckley's Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Muckley have announced the engagement of their sister, Martha Elizabeth Muckley, to Youart Herbert Kerslake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Kerslake of Washington, D. C. Miss Muckley studied music in Fontainebleau, France, and was graduated from Miss Madeira's school and from Wells college. Mr. Kerslake is a graduate of the Friends' school, Haverford college, and George Washington law school. The wedding is planned for May.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Patterson McKinnon to C. Marshall Rogers Jr. will take place on Saturday, Jan. 18, in the Church of the Messiah, Detroit. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. William Wood, father of one of the bridegroom's University of Michigan classmates. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald N. McKinnon, will give the reception at the Hotel Whittier.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Marshall Rogers Sr. of Evanston will arrive in Detroit in time for the final prenuptial festivities, including a luncheon which the McKinnons will give on the day of the wedding. Others going to Detroit for the ceremony are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lord, the Dennis Gents, and Miss Nina Winans of Evanston, the Cloud Wamplers of Highland Park, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McDougall of Glencoe, and the Walter Noble Gilletts of Kenilworth.

Miss Gordon, Book Seeker.

If, in recent days, you saw a slim, bright eyed woman with a face you would look at a second time because of its glowing charm, poking among books for girls in a secondhand book store it probably was Ruth Gordon, star of Here Today, the play recently at the Selwyn. She was looking for books in the editions she loved and read as a child, certain of the Dorothy Dainty series, the Five Little Pepper series, and other girls' books. And she always has hoped that by some streak of luck she might find some of the very books she herself sold in an effort to improve the family fortunes.

Miss Gordon, looking like a schoolgirl in a little round hat and a red sweater buttoned up to the throat, started to talk about those old books in the Pump room Saturday midnight after the final performance of her play. All of them—the Dorothy Dainty books, the Little Colonel books, the Five Little Pepper series and others, she packed up one day, when she was a child in Wollaston, Mass., and carted into Boston to the Corn Hill bookstore.

"And I got something like $2.50 for the lot, which didn't improve the family fortunes very much," narrated Miss Gordon.

A few of those books she never has been able to find again, among them Little Miss Boston of the Dorothy Dainty series, and When Molly Was Young. And she never has been able to find any of the same books she sold. The thrill Author Anne Parrish had in a secondhand book stall in Paris when she ran across a book she had loved in her childhood, with her own name, in her own childish handwriting scrawled on the flyleaf.

"I loved the Five Little Pepper books because the Five Little Peppers were adopted by rich old Mr. King, who had servants and a butler. I was poor, so I loved stories about little girls who had servants to wait on them. Their adoption by old Mr. King meant they went up in the world. One day Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney told me she loved the Five Little Pepper books, which astonished me. She was brought up in a home with servants, so I couldn't see where the kick was in it for her."

Short Version.

The program committee of a medical organization met at the Palmer House last week-end and one of the matters discussed was the inclusion of medical papers in the bulletin. It was decided that the name selected, Transitions, Bulletin of the American Academy of Opthalmology and Otolaryngology was too long, so they left out the word bulletin. It is now called Transitions of the American Academy of Opthalmology and Otolaryngology.

Returns to College.

Miss June Sterling, daughter of the James R. Sterlings of East Walton place, returned early this week to Stephens college, where she will star in the forthcoming production of "Everyman." Miss Sterling, who is on the dean's honor roll, was elected secretary of the junior class, one of two elective offices open to her class.

Antonia Brico Makes History for Symphony

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Illinois Symphony orchestra has had many conductors during its five year history, but up to yesterday they had invariably been members of the so-called stronger sex. This was all changed last night when Antonia Brico directed the orchestra's regular Monday night concert at the Great Northern.

She is the founder of the New York Woman's Symphony orchestra and the conductor of the Brico orchestra, a co-educational New York enterprise. On this, her first Chicago appearance, she revealed herself plainly as an eager, modest person with a good musical sense and a knack for getting her conceptions thru to her audience.

She conducts like the intense, hot blooded, strong willed person she obviously is, but she does not attempt to subordinate the composer's ideas to her own. In the performance of the Brahms Fourth Symphony, for example, she unquestionably molded many of the phrase lines in an individual manner, but the sturdy metrical pulse which she maintained prevented her work giving any hint of that dreadful, chopped up quality which is the trademark of some virtuoso conductors. And her tone colorings remained austere. Indeed, the first movement was as acid as the strictest guardian of the Brahms tradition could demand.

The program offered a first Chicago performance of Ravel's Piano Concerto for Left Hand Alone. The soloist was Perry O'Neil, 18 year old Chicagoan.

The concerto is not at all the dreary tour de force one would expect. It has some gravely beautiful, almost lyrical passages, as well as a profusion of pleasantly hectic, jazz-like rhythms. Considering the fact that only five solo fingers may be used, the piece has an astonishingly bravura character—especially in its opening and closing pages.

Young Mr. O'Neil played it fluently and brilliantly, with well thought out tonal effects and a general air of knowing exactly what it was all about. The performance was followed by a major ovation in which the shouts from a nest of O'Neil's contemporaries up in the gallery were plainly to be heard above all the noise of pounding palms.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

A skilful application of eye shadow can transform commonplace eyes into really dramatic soul windows. A bit of blue will make pale blue eyes look bluer and an orchid shade can make dark brown eyes look softer and larger.

Eye beauty isn't necessarily something you're born with. A discreet bit of makeup and some intelligent grooming can give at least the illusion of beauty to eyes that aren't quite perfect in color or size.

Women who need glasses and won't wear them pay for their folly in more ways than one. The eyes themselves suffer, but one of the minor casualties is the development of the bad habit of squinting, which is responsible for those fine lines that make the face look old before it should. Vanity, if nothing else, should spur you on to take good care of your eyesight.

There's a place for eye lotions and pads that cleanse and rest the tired orbs. They are no substitute for professional attention if it's needed, but they do help in keeping you bright eyed and rested looking.

But it's in grooming and makeup that you can really accomplish minor miracles. Maybe your brows are too low, giving you a stern look. Maybe your brows droop too pronouncedly at the temples, making you look world weary. You can change this easily—or rather, have it changed by an expert. Brows that flare out too close together over the bridge of the nose will make your eyes look small. Clear this space and presto! you look wide-eyed.

You can give the illusion of greater intensity of color by using eye shadow. A bit of blue will make your blue eyes bluer; a soft lavender does wonders for brown eyes. And, depending on your costume color, you can do some skilful dramatizing with greens and grays and smoky browns.

Christmas to Be Observed Today by Orthodox Church

Christmas will be observed today by the Orthodox church—Greek, Russian, Serbian, and Assyrian—which follows the Julian calendar. The western world adopted the Gregorian calendar, and the difference in reckoning of 12 days was made legal in Great Britain in 1752.

Bishop Leonty will celebrate at Trinity Russian cathedral, 1121 North Leavitt street, at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Service of the Divine Liturgy will be sung at the Hellenic Orthodox church, 1017 North La Salle street, at 9:30 o'clock. The Rt. Rev. Archimandrite, rector of St. Michael's Russian church, has planned a Christmas celebration, which will last till Jan. 20, beginning with celebration at 10 o'clock this morning.

The Rt. Rev. Mar Shimun XXI., patriarch of the Assyrian church, will hold the Christmas service at 8 o'clock this morning in Our Saviour's Episcopal church, 530 Fullerton parkway. The service will be sung in Aramaic.

New Sagless Knit Costumes Justly Popular

BY REA SEEGER.

Hand knitted costumes are staging one of the most sensational comebacks ever recorded! There was a time when the finest, most expensive hand knitted clothes were carefully folded on display cases lest they sag. You know the difference now between the old and the new, for your knitted creations this year are hung on the regulation hangers used for silk and wool dresses. Even the machine knitted fabrics have that same sag resistance.

Two piece outfits of the machine knitted materials are particularly smart. Such costumes are the ideal answer for the gadabouts and the many smart, well groomed women who live in the country the year 'round. But town shoppers also approve and wear these clever new knits for excellent reasons.

This material is now easily cut in gores, cut in circular outlines and plaited in smart swing skirts. None of them sag, no matter how carelessly they are tossed around or packed. You will find lots of trim long sleeved tops teamed with short cut skirts. Details are simple, but telling. Vee necklines are the most flattering especially in the jacket type tops. The tops that look like trim, neat jackets have notched lapels, narrow collars, cuffs, and expertly made pockets. Decorative buttons prevent these casual clothes from being too utilitarian in outline.

The colors and contrasts are delightfully different. There's one clear bright gold-yellow crossed with a pattern of gay green and red plaid checks about four inches wide. The pale gray has the same design in red and white and darker shades with light color.

Horizontal ribs are effective textures, using two shades or tones, while the classic nubbed or knotty texture is available in many interesting colors such as sage green, copper, and dubonnet red.

These new knits are grand buys, not only because of the modest price marks and the new nonsagging texture, but for wear under casual topcoats on a cold day. Pastel and white models are ready for the southbound baggage in the same unusual styles.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 6.—As I reported the other day about Jane Withers' first smack, screen kissing for Hollywood's little girls who are big girls now is always a weighty problem.

Today's subject is Deanna Durbin. She has been lightly pecked in a couple of pictures, but last week on the "Nice Girl" set she got it and got it good from Franchot Tone. After all, she's old enough to get married and thru with that puppy stuff and el oh vee ee is the backbone of the nation's sixth industry.

A group of Universal executives saw the rushes the night after Tone did his stuff, and they approved of his job.

Shooting starts this week on Frank Lloyd's "The Lady from Cheyenne," and the story back of the picture is typical of the hawklike way Hollywood scenarists work. These men and women follow the news closer than Lowell Thomas. For instance, when Lisbon became the great wartime bottleneck thru which refugees are filtered via Clipper, at least a half dozen writers snatched the topic out of the news columns and started weaving plots. At the moment two films about Lisbon are being produced.

Some months ago there was a small news item from Cheyenne stating that Wyoming was celebrating the 70th or 71st—I forget which—anniversary of woman suffrage, it having been the first state to grant ladies the vote. Immediately six writers or writing teams went to work, independently. A couple of them made sales to studios.

Then an agent left with Lloyd a couple of scripts, one unthrillingly called "The First Woman Voter." Lloyd said "phooey," but he read it anyhow—and grabbed it immediately. When he announced imminent production, the two other studios shelved their own plans. Loretta Young will be the first lady politician.

Conscription, of course, put all of the plot factories in high gear. Buddy De Sylva is doing a Bob Hope film called "Caught in the Draft," and almost every Hollywood studio has at least one army film. It's a race, and the likely winners are Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, who finished today a comedy called "Buck Privates." Bud is a necktie pitchman and Lou is his shill, and they run from a cop. They see a line in front of a theater and they hide in it, deciding they might as well see a show. But the theater has become a draft board headquarters; the fellows in uniform

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright 1941: By Raynard Kendrick.]

INSTALMENT XLIV.
CODE LETTER.

The sergeant said, "Gentlemen, if you'll excuse me, I'd better be traveling. I have a report to make. Are you coming, Mr. Cameron?"

"No," said Cameron. "I have some things to talk over with the captain. I think I'd better stay."

The sergeant paused at the door. "If you turn up anything that will throw a light on the murder in this house, for God's sake let me know."

"I will," said Duncan Maclain.

Pierce's footsteps sounded in the hall. When the butler rapped, Sergt. King opened the door and said, "I'm just leaving, Pierce. Mr. Cameron's staying. If you don't mind, you can go down and lock up after me."

"Yes," said Pierce. He hesitated a moment, looking about the room. "I'm afraid I'm getting a bit nervous, gentlemen, but something peculiar happened after the Tredwills left. I thought I'd better report it altho I imagine it's nothing more than a petty theft."

"What's that?" Maclain asked quickly.

"It's so silly that I almost hate to bring it up at such a time," Pierce went on. "I heard a noise downstairs about an hour before you arrived. I went out on the side porch to investigate and found that somebody had stolen the untrimmed Christmas tree."

"A Christmas tree!" Cameron exclaimed.

The sergeant's face was a study. He adjusted his uniform jacket to a closer fit and looked at Maclain. The captain lay motionless, staring unblinkingly with hypnotic intensity at a bright bulb in the table lamp. It made the sergeant's eyes water. He shifted his gaze to Cameron, then back to Pierce again.

"It wasn't exactly stolen," Pierce corrected in the steady manner he had of getting everything right to a T. "Somebody took it from the porch and dragged it down the hill at the end of the house to the edge of the driveway. I found it there and brought it back again."

"Probably some kid who lost his nerve," said Sergt. King. "I really must go."

The butler told Cameron, "There's an empty room across the hall. I can supply you with everything you need if you decide to stay."

"Thanks," said Cameron. He stood in the doorway watching Sergt. King and the butler until they disappeared downstairs. When they were out of sight he closed the door.

"There's whiskey in my bag," said the captain. "Will you join me?"

Cameron lifted the lid of the suitcase and said, "Will the angels sing?" He poured two stiff drinks, handed one to Maclain and tossed his own down.

"There's something queer going on, Capt. Maclain," he remarked as he took the empty glass from the captain's hand. "I phoned the Boston police as well as Col. Gray. They have no record of Thad's daughter being found at all."

"I was afraid of that," said Maclain. "I thought that something important had made you decide to stay."

Dr. Trotter came, left sedatives for Chell and Maclain, and went away.

Cameron sat on the foot of Maclain's bed and said, "It's heartless not to let you sleep, but the lives and property of a lot of people are in terrible danger, and the time is slipping away. We've broken the back of a spy organization which has wormed itself even into the army and navy. It was thru you that we turned up their headquarters."

The captain heard a match strike and smelled tobacco.

"The FBI wants to know, Capt. Maclain, how you got wind of this House of Bonnee."

"There's a stencil and a copy of a letter in a false compartment in the top of my gladstone bag, Mr. Cameron. You'll find a brass stud in each corner of the bag in the inside. If you pull them, the lining will come free."

He lay quiet while Cameron secured the stencil and the copy of the letter made by Bunny's secretary. He pressed his fingers to his eyebrows and listened as the FBI man read the letter aloud.

"It sounds like an ad," said Cameron.

"It's intended to sound like an ad." The captain was thinking of Spud and fighting an apprehension which threatened to dull his every faculty. "Actually, Mr. Cameron, that's a code hiding a message which says that I have information much more important than Gilbert Tredwill's plans, and telling the agents here in Hartford to concentrate on me."

"You found the code?"

The captain felt the movement of the bed as Cameron leaned forward. His snapped out question indicated his tenseness. He went on speaking, holding himself still.

"Let me tell you what that means, Capt. Maclain. We don't know how many tons of high explosives set with time bombs have been planted thruout this country today. We've found some, it's true, but enough others exist to cause a holocaust tomorrow if they're not uncovered. The prisoners we've taken either don't know where these bombs have been planted or they refuse to say. If you've found a code, Capt. Maclain, for God's sake give it to me. Col. Gray believes that the information we're seeking is buried somewhere in a lot of dummy contracts taken from the files of the House of Bonnee."

"The code is based on the odor of violets," said Duncan Maclain, and swung his feet to the floor. "The key to it is the abbreviation for the name of violet, the word Vi. Lay the letter you're holding down on the writing table, and make a perpendicular fold down the middle. See that the edges meet all the way around."

The captain heard the rustle of paper, and Cameron said "Okay."

"Now take a ruler—you'll find one in the drawer. From the upper lefthand corner of the letter draw a line to the middle of the page at the bottom. It must be exact. From the bottom draw another line upward to the righthand corner. You should have a V covering the entire page bisected by an I."

"Now read down on the left only those words touched by the lefthand line of the V, and up on the right, the same."

Cameron read down. "City's vital points and defensive more important," and up on the righthand side, "than balm sight use force to obtain."

Almost unbelievingly, he grouped them together and read it aloud once more. "City's vital points and defensive more important than balm sight. Use force to obtain."

"You see," said Maclain, "it's right before you in plain English. I possessed, locked in my head, the knowledge of the city's vital points and defensive. This was the tip-off to get that information by force. If it hadn't been for your swift, clever work, I'm afraid—"

"Skip it," Cameron hastened to say. He wrinkled his forehead and muttered, "Balm sight."

"For bomb sight," said Duncan Maclain.

Most Children Have Splendid Set of Values

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Children, let alone, have, I believe, a fine set of values.

"If we were very, very rich and we had a million dollars I wouldn't want anything more than I have now. I've everything I need to make me happy, and I have you and daddy. We've lots of good food and clothes, and a nice place to live. I'd like to go on living just the way we do now. We could just put the million dollars in the bank."

This was an outburst from a youngster not long ago, after hearing a discussion of what various grown people would do if they suddenly had a million dollars.

Money always has had great power, of course, but it seems as tho in these days [we're always talking about "these days," aren't we?] the world is so full of things that money alone can buy, that we are likely to overemphasize its importance.

Some call this an era of materialism. It may be, but it is an era of ideas and idealism, too. Yet I wonder how many of us are personally stressing "things," the possession of "things," the desire for "things," the importance of "things" to such an extent that our children are doing it, too.

Things are wonderful, beautiful, necessary, but we can have all and have nothing. We can be rich in things and poor in body, mind and spirit. There is so much else of richness in life that we must see that our children sense it. The boy who said what was quoted at the beginning of this article must already have gained a consciousness of this, must already have gotten a good set of values.

It is so easy to make a fetish of things, your house, your clothes, your car, your radio, your investments, your money in the bank. If you do, your children may. Give them a more permanent set of values than that.

Right Lighting Important to Your Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Proper lighting is important to a woman's beauty. It can show up or hide defects.

Why do you suppose theatrical electricians spend hours of preliminary planning and technical fussing over stage lighting? For no other reason than to get the right lighting effect for whatever time of day the action of the play takes place, and, most important of all, to give glamor to actresses who, in spite of their beauty, must have the right lighting to show off their loveliness to best advantage.

There's a little "actress" in most of us women. Because of no training in this highly technical field, however, many of us are not "on" to the secret of appearing at our best before an audience of family, friends and relatives. But there's no reason in the world why we shouldn't know a few of the simpler tricks of stage artistry.

For instance, every actress applies her makeup in a strong light. These lights usually form a row around her mirror. But for the home dressing table several lamps, with daylight bulbs in them, placed at each side of your mirror will serve the purpose. In your drawing room you may use lamps, placed at strategic points, with varying degrees of candle power to flatter your beauty. If in doubt as to the proper candle power of light bulbs for reading, for general illumination, for a soft, colorful glow to lend enchantment to you and your surroundings, we're sure a good electric supply house would gladly give you the information you seek.

Background of Home Favorable to Young Girls

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"We met a crowd of boys last summer and they proved to be fun. They never did take us out to any special affair, but they'd treat us to sodas and such. We saw them nearly every night, and as we couldn't keep on standing in front of our doors we started going to the park with them.

"For a while everything went along smoothly. We were all enjoying good clean fun. And then, suddenly, the boys began showing us that they had little respect for us. Their actions were difficult to understand, when they'd been so nice before. We suspect it all started when one fellow, who is older than the others, began putting ideas in the heads of all of them. Well, after a while we girls decided to drop them because their actions made us feel so cheap. The older fellow has dropped out of the crowd and now the other boys want us all to get together and have fun this winter.

"If we do get together, should we have an understanding with them and fight it out over those summer incidents? THE GIRLS."

If we took up with the boys again we'd say nothing about the past experience, as long as you feel the bad influence in their group is out. BUT we would be even a little more careful of our own behavior, letting it do the fighting-it-out for us. Instead of trotting off to the park in summer or some other public place in winter, why don't you girls arrange evenings at your homes, taking turns?

This is the season to keep a bowlful of shining red Delicious or Jonathan apples on the table where members of the family may help themselves between meals. It's the season for baking those big Rome Beauties, filling their core cavities with mincemeat or with sugar and cinnamon. There are more eating apples than cooking apples to be found in the market, but Jonathans as well as Rome Beauties make excellent desserts.

Baldwins, McIntoshes, and Winesaps also may be used in these recipes with delectable results.

Maple Sirup Apples.

[Serves Four]

4 apples
½ cup maple sirup
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
Whipped cream or plain cream

Cut apples in halves and scoop out core. Place in buttered baking pan and pour sirup and water over them. Add dots of butter and bake at 350 degrees until apples are tender and sirup is thick. Serve warm or cold with whipped or plain cream.

Dutch Apple Pie.

Unbaked pie shell
6-8 apples
1 cup sour or sweet cream
1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup white sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons flour

Wash, peel and quarter apples. Remove cores. Mix brown and white sugars with cinnamon and flour and spread half the mixture over the bottom of the pie crust. Arrange apples over the mixture. Mix cream with rest of sugar mixture and pour over the top. Bake in a 450 degree oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat and bake at 325 degrees until apples are translucent and tender, about 45 minutes.

Almond Crusted Apples.

Use Delicious or Rome Beauties. Peel and core. Fill centers with apricot jam. Brush the surface of each apple with slightly beaten egg white and roll in a mixture made of equal amounts of brown sugar, sifted bread crumbs and ground almonds. Bake in a 400 degree oven until tender.

Apple-Licious.

Butter a baking dish and line with vanilla wafers. Cover with a layer of peeled, sliced apple, another layer of wafers. Repeat until ½ pound of wafers and six large apples have been used. Pour over the mixture 2 cups sweetened condensed milk diluted with a cup of water. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Uncover and bake for 10 minutes longer.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

are not ushers but soldiers, and before they know it Bud and Lou are in the ranks.

I hope Abbott and Costello are hits as a movie team, for they are very funny guys on stage and radio and their partnership is an interesting one. Their act is really a ten year long rummy game.

Lou was a burlesque comedian ten years ago, and Bud was cashier of a Brooklyn burleycue house. They struck up a friendship which led to a rummy game in Costello's dressing room between performances. They heckled each other, making their fake fights realistic enough to fool kibitzers. They had a dim notion that an act could be made of this squabbling, and one night when Lou's regular straight man fell ill Bud stepped in and they tried it.

The rummy game still goes on. Costello always wins and Abbott conservatively estimates it has cost him $3,000 to date.

Bud was bon in a Coney Island circus tent. His mother was a bareback rider for the Ringling circus, and his father was an advance man for the show. Bud has been a candy butcher, lion trainer, sign painter, tab show producer and burlesque chain operator. Bert Lahr, Joe Penner, and Billy Gilbert used to play Abbott houses.

Lou Costello's story is more colorful. He was born Louis Francis Cristillo in Paterson, N. J., and when he was a kid in the 1920s he got the movie bug. Despite the entreaties of his parents and of his parish priest, he bummed his way to Hollywood to become an actor. No job. To keep from starving he got a job shifting scenery at Metro for "The Big Parade."

Lou was bound to become an actor somehow, so he signed on as a stunt man. Dressed in a black wig and a cancan costume he doubled for Dolores Del Rio in "The Trail of '98," jumping out of a burning saloon. In "Rose Marie," he fought with trappers in a joint run by Polly Moran. Finally he got a bit of a reputation as a funny man and his career as a comedian got off to a slow start—just as talkies came in. His squeaky voice was deemed no good for sound, so Lou hit the road in burlesque.

Modes for Younger Set

JUMPER DRESS AND SPORTS OUTFIT.

The younger set is favored in the two patterns today, styles which demand the slim figure of youth and fresh faces to go with them. One model is a jumper dress with full skirt and novel pockets, the other a two piece sports number which combines jerkin, skirt, and blouse.

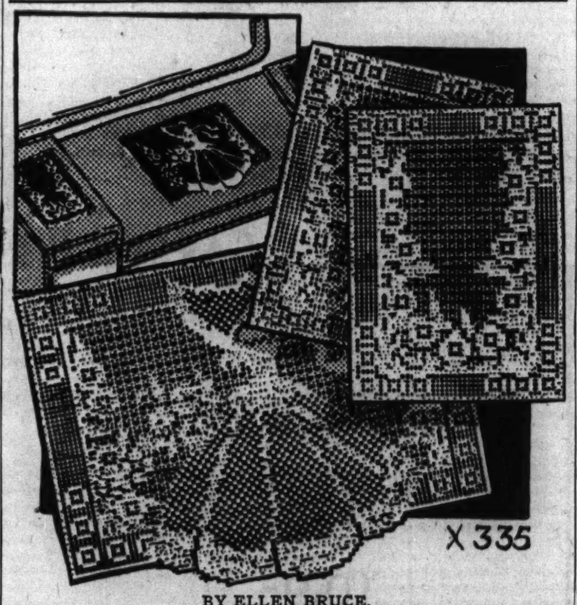
Style No. 3491 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 2⅞ yards of material for the jumper and 1⅞ yards of material for the blouse.

Style No. 2612 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires ¾ yard of 54 inch fabric for the jerkin, 1⅞ yards for skirt, and 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for blouse.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Dainty Filet Vanity Set



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Make yourself this clever "sunbonnet girl" filet vanity set and you will have an addition to your bedroom ensemble which will be admired by every one. The crochet worker looking for something dainty to make will enjoy this quaint and clever design.

For instructions in crocheting this filet vanity set, No. X-335, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 320 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Hadassah Groups Open Tithe Campaign Today

All district groups of the Chicago chapter of Hadassah will open their annual tithe campaign at organization luncheons today in various parts of Chicago. Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization of America, through this fund raising drive provides the means to support its vast network of public health services in Palestine and also to carry on the Youth Aliyah program to rehabilitate central European refugee children in Palestine. Mrs. S. H. Soboroff is president of the Chicago chapter, and Mrs. James H. Olshan chairman of the tithe campaign.

quet club to precede the club's Twelfth Night ball, which, however, will be on Jan. 17. Twelfth Night was last night, as every one knows. Ralph Hines, the Philip Mahers, and the Edward Byron Smiths are others who will be dinner hosts before the ball. Invitations have been sent to a limited number of persons who are not members of the club. There are to be prizes for the best costumes.

Sharing the spotlight with next Saturday's bride in the Arthur T. McIntosh family is the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. McIntosh Jr., who was born on New Year's day. Arthur Tuttle McIntosh III. and his pretty mother will be going home from the Evanston hospital on Saturday—the day on which the baby's aunt, Miss Jane McIntosh, becomes the bride of John Ellsworth Sheldon of Boston.

Heather McIntosh, who is 2½ years old, is anxiously awaiting her new brother's homecoming. The children's paternal grandfather is Orville Caesar of Barrington, and their mother is the former Miss Athalie Caesar.

The Fashion Group Giving Luncheon at Arts Club.

Members of the Fashion Group and their guests will have the pleasure today of hearing Dorothy Liebes and William Pahlmann talk at a luncheon meeting of the group at 12:30 o'clock at the Arts club. Mrs. Liebes, who arrives this morning to spend a few days at the Drake, lives in San Francisco but has been in New York since early fall. She is one of the leading textile experts of the country. Mr. Pahlmann, a New York decorator, is credited with being instrumental in putting lightheartedness and fun into decorating. Both he and Mrs. Liebes will be entertained extensively during their Chicago visits.

Wallace R. Deuel, newspaper correspondent who has just returned from his post in Berlin, will report on current German conditions when he addresses the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations at luncheon on Friday. The talk, which will be given in the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel, is entitled, "The World Counter-Revolution."

Subdebs Anne Badger and Consuelo Barker, who have been at home for the Christmas holidays, departed Saturday to return to their classes at the Sandia school in Albuquerque, N. M. Miss Badger is the daughter of Mrs. Winterbotham Badger and Miss Barker is the daughter of the Walter R. Barkers.

Universal day—Keep poised but flexible, as well laid plans may go awry.

Vocations—Those born on the 7th of any month are usually not expressive socially, and are usually serious and reserved. They are often religious, altho not always in the orthodox religions, and have a philosophy of their own. They like to read, and are interested in foreign travel, the mysterious, the unusual, and often are individualistic in their creative efforts either as poets, writers, painters, and especially on the screen, since this is another "behind the scenes" profession in which they succeed.

Among those born on the 7th are Gary Cooper, Sinclair Lewis, Ann Harding, and among the poets, Browning and Wordsworth.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The most important point in "trapping" the opponents is not to overdo it. It is sound, even shrewd, to give them enough rope to hang themselves, but if you give them too much rope, they are likely to allght, comparatively safely, on the ground.

In the deal shown below a defender's "killer instinct" overrode his judgment.

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	Pass	Pass

I strongly approve West's pass to one spade and, less strongly, his second pass to two no trump. By playing 'possum in this way it appeared that he might lure the opponents into a contract that could be doubled with crushing effect, but when North signed off with three clubs and South, in the face of this warning, raised to four clubs, it was nothing but wild optimisim on West's part that made him hope for further bidding. It should have struck him as amazing enough that, with four honor tricks in his own hand, the opponents had ventured to such a high level, and it was inconceivable that North could have the values to bid game. South, by opening the bidding, then going to two no trump, and finally raising the clubs, had announced great strength [far more than he actually held!] and West should have realized that neither North nor East could hold so much as one honor trick if South's bidding were remotely correct. West should have congratulated himself that his extra ordinary restraint thus far had panned out so well and should not have pinned any faith on a miracle. He should have entered the auction over South's four club bid with a quiet but firm double, and then sat back waiting for the plums to drop in his lap.

Against the undoubled contract, East opened the heart ten. Dummy's jack covered and West's queen won. Not being able to count on East for such an exalted card as the diamond king, West now exited with a low club. Declarer's nine spot held and East signaled with the eight of diamonds, thereby showing West a simple line of defense. The result was that the declarer was helpless. With all the key cards, the spade king, the heart ace, and the club king, lying over South's strength, he could not avoid the loss of six tricks, one spade, two hearts, two diamonds, and a club, hence was down three on his contract.

The 300 points this represented was very light punishment for the overvigorous bidding that South had done. By the same token, it was woefully inadequate profit for the defenders, who should have translated the 300 points into 800 by the simple utterance of "double" on West's part. In bridge, as in the stock market, it is very expensive to "overstay one's market."

MOVIE TO SHOW CAVALCADE OF TRIBUNE SPORTS

Hold Film Premiere Friday Night.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

"The All American Way," the Chicago Tribune's sound motion picture, will be given its première Friday night in the main studio of W-G-N. Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will present checks to representatives of the United, Catholic, and Jewish Charities during the program.

Avery Brundage.

Admission to the première will be by invitation but, beginning next Monday, the film will be available to fraternal and commercial organizations, high schools, and colleges, luncheon clubs and other groups interested in sports. Arrangements for the feature can be made thru The Tribune Public Service bureau, 1 South Dearborn street.

A Panorama of Sports.

"The All American Way" carries the spectator thru the entire range of all the famed Tribune sports promotions. There are shots of the Silver Skates to start the calendar with January, then on thru the seasons—Golden Gloves, the first major league baseball All-Star game, the climax coming with some great first showings of play in the 1940 football game between the College All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers. The flycasters, the golf school, the interscholastic regatta, the swimming meet, all have their innings in the film which is at once entertaining, informing, and inspirational.

The entire sports panorama is woven together with exceptional artistry, to the accompaniment of a musical theme and explanatory text by Narrator Bob Elson.

The Story Behind the Film.

The title of the picture is discussed at the start in a shot of a lead paragraph of "In the Wake of the News"—"The All American Way; just a phrase—often lightly spoken; yet the living expression of all the ideals of courage, free initiative, fair play and good sportsmanship which have made us a great people."

More of the purpose of the film is discussed by the narrator: "Many years ago THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE recognized sport as a vital stimulant to the essential characteristics of clear thinking, aggressiveness, and physical fitness. Thru the years Tribune sports promotions have been expanded to cover the entire year, inspiring thousands and thousands of men, women and children of Chicagoland to try their skill and stamina in their favorite athletic endeavors.

A Chance for All in Athletics.

"Fostered in the finest traditions of democracy, this sports program gives every one, regardless of caste, color or creed, a chance to excel according to his or her abilities. Today, unknown, tomorrow some of these may hear their names saluted by the roar of the crowd. We all love a fair contest, spiritedly waged, and from the turnstiles that lead to Tribune sports events have flowed hundreds of thousands of dollars, helping to sustain charitable enterprises devoted to the unfortunate and handicapped. Again, a practical expression of the best traditions of democracy."

Sports Leaders to Speak.

Among the speakers on the première program will be Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee; Will Harridge, president of the American league, and Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director of Northwestern university.

The checks which Mr. Ward will present to the three Chicago charities are the profits from the 1940 All-Star football game. Dexter Cummings will receive the check for the United Charities, Bishop Bernard J. Sheil for the Catholic Charities, and Samuel A. Goldsmith for the Jewish Charities.

YOUNG ALLERDICE BETTER; FATHER IS STILL SERIOUS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6 (AP).—David Allerdice Jr., 22 years old, Princeton university football star, was reported in good condition and improving nicely tonight at Methodist hospital where he and his 53 year old father are under treatment for burns suffered early yesterday in a fire which took the lives of Mrs. Allerdice Sr. and her youngest son.

The father, who was captain of the University of Michigan football team in 1909, was "still serious" and his condition was unchanged, attendants said.

Mrs. Cornelia Keasbey Allerdice, 43 years old, and Anthony Allerdice, 7 years old, were suffocated in the blaze which swept their second floor apartment.

First Big Check

JOHNNY BULLA.

Bulla's 281 Takes Coast $10,000 Open

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6 (AP).—Johnny Bulla, a North Carolina boy who made good in the big city of Chicago, came from behind today to win his first tournament in four years of major competition—the $10,000 Los Angeles open.

The former Greensboro, N. C., shotmaker blasted out a sub par round of 69, two under par for the 7,000 yard Riviera Country club course, overhauled long hitting Jimmy Thomson and outdistanced the rest of the field to post a 72 hole score of 71—66—75—69—281.

Victory Brings $3,500.

The victory, worth $3,500 to the 26 year old Bulla, was cheered to the echo by the crowd which had installed him as the popular favorite after a two stroke penalty for playing the wrong ball had set him behind Thomson in yesterday's third round.

Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., sneaked into second place and $1,700 of the rich purse with a 68 today for 283, while the pace setting Thomson faded with a 74 for 285—one stroke back of Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., who had a 70, and Benny Hogan, White Plains, N. Y., who also had a 70.

Plays First Nine in 34.

Bulla went into the last round trailing Thomson by one stroke. Still irked by that two stroke penalty imposed for playing Jug McSpaden's ball yesterday, he toured the first nine holes in 34, one under, and clipped another stroke off par for 35 on the way home.

Thomson needed 36 strokes to get around the first nine, and six to get untrapped and down on the tenth. His game became as uncertain as the weather, which turned from sunshine to rain and back to sunshine from noon on to dusk.

Willie Goggin of Miami, Fla., finished in a tie with Thomson. Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., turned on the heat with his putter and posted a 69 for a 286.

Iowa State Five Beats Montana State, 41 to 27

Ames, Ia., Jan. 6 (AP).—Iowa State, the only unbeaten basketball team in the Big Six circuit, wound up its non-conference play by defeating Montana State university, 41 to 27, tonight. In scoring their eighth consecutive victory, the Cyclones gained an early advantage and were leading 20 to 12 at half time.

HOPPE WINS TWO OPENING BLOCKS FROM SCHAEFER

Champion Takes 120 to 67 Lead in Title Match.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

William Frederick Hoppe, silver haired, 53 year old master of big league billiards, is resting very comfortably, thank you, ensconced up in Bensinger's arena, 131 South Wabash avenue, with a 120 to 67 lead over Challenger Jake Schaefer after the first two blocks of their personal battle for Hoppe's three cushion cue championship yesterday. After taking the matinée session, 60 to 28, in 39 innings, Willie returned in the evening to increase his margin with a 60 to 39 decision that required 49 innings.

Not only the luckless Schaefer, but several of those who will join him in the free-for-all marathon fight for Willie's title next week, were aware after yesterday's show that Hoppe will be, if anything, a touch tougher than he was last year when he took the crown with 20 victories in as many matches.

Hoppe Puts On a Show.

While Schaefer was having no run of fortune, Hoppe was making all of the shots in the billiard book. You couldn't keep track of all the cushion first tries he wrought, and in the evening he contributed among other strokes a magnificent short angle shot, a teasing dead ball effort, a three-quarters masse, and a crosstable half masse that had the clients blinking, then cheering.

Hoppe's high run for the day was an afternoon eight, not to mention a brace of evening sevens, the first of these being followed by a string of 11 consecutive point-making frames. Schaefer's best single frame of the day was the night's eighth, in which he ran seven.

Since the play in the challenge match is continuous, Hoppe actually will be playing his 87th inning in the third block this afternoon, the position of the balls being just as they were at the end of last night's play. His 39th inning of yesterday afternoon really continued into the first inning of his evening block, as will his 87th of last night into this afternoon's session.

Play Six More Blocks.

Six more blocks will be played, two today, two tomorrow and two Thursday, making a total of 480 points. All afternoon blocks will begin at 2:30 o'clock and all evening sessions at 8:30 p. m.

The opening half of the evening block didn't run quite as swiftly as its afternoon predecessor, largely due to defensive tactics. Hoppe, picking up where he had left off in the matinée session, got three in the first inning of the evening block, and soon went into an 8 to 4 lead, but Schaefer soon adjusted this and ran seven, his best cluster to that point, in the eighth inning for an 11 to 10 edge. He added to that advantage until he was in front by 23 to 18.

It seemed as tho the champion never would quite catch up, but he finally clicked seven in the 29th, which left him ahead, 32 to 26, at the intermission.

After Hoppe had drawn a blank in his side of the evening 30th, he dished up 25 points in the next 11 frames, including three threes and a seven in the 41st. Then he had to toil eight more innings to make the closing three billiards. After the intermission Schaefer's high was a six in the 34th.

He's the Same Old Hoppe.

In the first portion of the afternoon block, Hoppe required just 20 innings to arrange an intermission, scoring 33 points in that span and climaxing the performance with a run of six billiards, only two less than his high run of eight for the first half of the afternoon's work. The best Schaefer could do in the meantime was a paltry three in the fourth inning and a four in the 19th. Jake could count in only seven of the first 20 frames, while Willie scored in all but eight. Hoppe ran eight in the third inning.

Hoppe went into the finishing half

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE most highly paid figures in sport probably are Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, owners and stars of the Ice Follies. . . . Each earned $133,000 in 1939. . . . Charley Gehringer, the Tiger veteran, never misses a home hockey game of the Detroit Red Wings. . . . In an effort to prevent an epidemic of colds, Coach Cliff Keene of the University of Michigan wrestling team has warned his boys to wear hats. . . . The penalty is a run of six laps around the track in Yost fieldhouse. . . . The grapplers are wearing hats. . . . Eighteen hundred owners have shared in the distribution of purses at the Santa Anita race track in the last six years. . . . There has been a new outcropping of débris throwing at the Blackhawks' games in the Chicago Stadium recently. . . . Which means that some of these nights a few hoodlums will be grabbed by the scruff of the neck by some of Andy Frain's husky ushers and tossed into the street. . . . Ted Esser, sophomore forward on Northwestern university's basketball team, becomes so nervous before a game he has difficulty in lacing his shoes. . . . Part of Babe Hollingbery's strategy as coach of the West teams in the annual Shrine game in San Francisco is to have the East publicized as 2½ to 1 favorite every year as soon as the tickets go on sale. . . . Except in the pro-Hollingbery press, the East has not been the favorite for a half dozen years. . . . John Coleman, president of Ducks Unlimited, estimates 7,500 tons of grain are distributed over the California feeding grounds for wild fowl each year. . . . Under the new Pacific Coast conference rule which gives all member schools a slice of the Rose bowl melon, Stanford's share of the 1941 receipts was approximately $45,000. . . . This is less than half of what its cut would have been in other years. . . .

Jimmy Wilson, the Cub manager, experienced no end of kidding after the deal which brought Shortstop Billy Myers from the Reds for three players, but the quip that stopped him cold was offered by a Chicago baseball writer during the winter major league meetings. . . . Wilson was encountered in one of the rooms of the Cub suite and, having a shave in mind, he had doffed his shirt. . . . "Have you seen Bill McKechnie?" the scribe inquired. "No, why?" was the reply. . . . "Well, I see you've lost your shirt," answered the newspaper man.

You Can't Go Home Again.

The halo of glamor that hovers around
The things that we used to do,
That tender, warming glow at the thought
Of the folks that we one time knew,
That faint little tug of loneliness
At the thought of the old town square
Are all in our minds, mayhap in our hearts,
For they're really no longer there.

Life is only a one-way street,
There is never a turning back—
We pass this way but once and then
Time gently covers the track
Of the countless wayfarers passing thru,
Destined for where or for when?
There is no U-turn on the road of life,
You cannot go home again!

Good Old Joe.

Time after time, when some cutiepie had come into my friend Joe's store and made a purchase and departed, I had asked him interestedly who she was. Last night when a veritable beauty came in the front door, Joe looked at me out of the corner of his eye, sighed, and whispered resignedly as he passed me to go up to wait on her, "I'll find out, Clancy —I'll find out."

Things We Miss.

There are other homes that are finer far
Than our modest domicile,
But they lack so many features that
Have their own familiar thrill.
In the dead of night there's the bathroom door
With its plaintive squeak so clear,
And you know you're home when that strident note
Sounds within your drowsy ear.

On the kitchen wall is a spot that tells
Of a splash from the Irish stew,
And we have one lock that will only yield
To the touch of a favored few.
There's a tap that drips and a window loose
That we miss when afar we roam,
And a host of things we're accustomed to
That help to make home sweet home.

MAROONS WHIP PRINCETON IN OVERTIME, 32-31

Notre Dame Tops Wabash; Loyola Beats Ripon.

Chicago's Maroons, trailing at the half, tied Princeton at 29 apiece at the end of regulation time, then went on to win, 32 to 31, in an overtime basketball game before 2,500 in the Midway fieldhouse last night. Chicago led with five seconds to go in the overtime period after Sophomore Mike McMahon had hooked the final basket. Then McMahon took a jump ball and batted it offside as the game ended. Capt. Joe Stampf of Chicago led the scoring with 16 points on six baskets and four free throws. Capt. Dan Carmichael of Princeton won individual runner-up honors with 13 points.

Maroons Take Lead.

Trailing 15 to 14 at the half, Chicago took a 5 point lead on three successive baskets by Stampf, but Carmichael scored three while Jack Fons was making one and Chuck Wagenberg was tossing a free throw for the Maroons. Chicago led, 24 to 22, midway in the second period.

Stampf made another basket and a free throw to give Chicago a 6 point lead with four minutes to go, but Bowersox scored once and John Munda twice on hooks to tie the score as time ended.

NOTRE DAME WINS, 53-38

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 6 [Special].—Cy Singer, Jasper, Ind., junior, scored 14 points in 25 minutes to lead Notre Dame to a 53 to 38 victory over Wabash tonight. Singer was shifted from center to guard last week. He made six of his first eight shots tonight.

Ray Greve, sophomore forward, led Wabash with 11 points, making 9 of them in a second half assault which saw the visitors score 24 points to Notre Dame's 23.

The Irish led 30 to 14 at the half. Wabash rallied to make it 31 to 19, but Notre Dame pulled away again as reserves streamed into the game. Sixteen saw action for the Irish. Lineups:

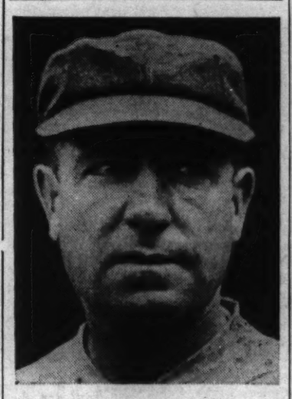
Ex-Tiger Dies



CHARLES O'LEARY.

O'Leary, Star of Old Time Tigers, Is Dead

Charles T. O'Leary, whose first professional baseball engagement was with the White Sox and who later became a cog in Hughey Jennings' Detroit Tiger pennant winning machine, died yesterday morning in the Woodlawn hospital after a brief illness. Death was caused by peritonitis.

Born in Chicago Oct. 15, 1882, O'Leary was an elevator operator at Mandel's and a member of the company baseball team when he was summoned by the White Sox in 1900 to fill in for an injured shortstop. Later he was sold to the Des Moines, Ia., club and after three seasons there was purchased by Ed Barrow, then boss of the Tigers. He was a regular infielder with the Tigers until supplanted by Donie Bush in 1909.

Was Coach of Yankees.

After filling various rôles in the minors, among them the management of the Indianapolis club, O'Leary returned to the majors as a coach. He served in that capacity with the Yankees during the reign of Miller Huggins as manager and also one year under Bob Shawkey.

When Joe McCarthy, after being released as Cub manager, signed with the Yankees he took with him Jim Burke, one of the Cub coaches. To make room for his first lieutenant McCarthy released the one time Tiger star.

Signed by Cubs.

O'Leary was immediately signed as a Cub coach by Rogers Hornsby who succeeded McCarthy in Chicago.

In the last few years O'Leary was employed by the Sanitary district. Surviving are a brother, Frank O'Leary, and two sisters, Ann O'Leary and Mrs. Mae Cassidy. Funeral will be held Thursday at 9:30 a. m. from the residence, 7615 South Morgan street, to St. Leo's church.

ALICE MARBLE WINS; PLAYS IN STADIUM NEXT

New York, Jan. 6 [Special].—Alice Marble, world's foremost woman tennis player, tonight launched her professional career in Madison Square Garden with a victory over Miss Ruth Mary Hardwick of Great Britain, 8-6, 8-6, before 12,371 spectators who paid in $25,614. The troupe appears next in Chicago Stadium on Wednesday night.

The English player, also in her first match as a professional, surpassed anything she had shown in America as an amateur.

Donald Budge, the world's champion, subdued Big Bill Tilden, the 47 year old veteran, 6-3, 6-4, in the leading supporting match on the card. Budge won without unduly extending himself.

Miss Marble and Tilden defeated Miss Hardwick and Budge in mixed doubles, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

ILLINI RALLY TO BEAT PURDUE QUINTET, 49-34

Wisconsin, Michigan Defeated.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 6 [Special].—Illinois soundly trounced Purdue, 49 to 34, in its Big Ten basketball opener here tonight. Coach Doug Mills' Illini won before a crowd of 7,183 after trailing the defending champions, 20 to 15, at half time.

Keymen in the Illini victory were Arthur Mathisen, sophomore center, who dominated play under both baskets and Robert Richmond, senior guard.

The first half was a nip and tuck battle, the score being tied six times. The Boilermakers took the lead late in the half after Coach Mills withdrew Mathisen and John Drish, with the score tied at 15-all. Forrest Sprowl's basket and two free throws by Forest Weber, substitute center, and another by Don Blanken, gave the Boilermakers their five point lead at the half.

Sachs Starts Rally.

Harry Sachs, who substituted for Vic Wukovits at guard in the Illinois lineup, as the second half opened, started the rally with a shot from the center of the floor. Richmond's free throw and basket cut Purdue's lead to 22 to 20, the champions having scored two points on free throws by Blanken.

After Donald Blemker connected for a Purdue basket to give the Boilermakers a four point lead, Mathisen scored from beneath the basket and made good his free throw on Charles Caress' foul. Sachs connected with another long shot which put Illinois ahead, 25 to 24.

Blemker's two free throws put the Boilermakers into the lead, but Richmond got a basket to put Illinois ahead again, 27 to 26. The Illini drew steadily in front with a free throw by Mathisen, two baskets by Drish and a basket and another free throw by Mathisen before the Boilermakers again scored on Sprowl's long shot. OHIO WHIPS MICHIGAN

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 6 [Special].—Jack McLain, Ohio State's junior center, led a spirited second half rally tonight as the Buckeyes swept to a 49 to 39 victory over Michigan in the Big Ten basketball opener.

The Wolverines held a 21 to 20 margin at half time, but soon thereafter McLain went to work, aided by Dick Fisher, forward, and dominated the second half play. McLain's three baskets and six free throws accounted for 12 points during the final period and, combined with his one field goal early in the game, made him the high point man of the evening.

Fisher Next to McLain.

Fisher dropped thru six field goals and a foul to take second scoring honors with 13 points. His total was tied by Capt. Herb Brogan who paced the Wolverines.

Thruout the first half the teams battled to a virtual stalemate and the score was tied four times. A three goal spurt by Sophomore Center Jim Mandler enabled Michigan to hold its one point advantage at half time. The

DEFER ACTION ON WEIGHING IN AT ZALE BOUT FRIDAY

Boxing Heads Split on Change in Procedure.

The Illinois Athletic commission late yesterday postponed action for 24 hours on Promoter Bill Rand's application for permission to have Tony Zale, middleweight champion, and Steve Mamakos weigh in at ringside for a 10 round nontitle bout in Chicago Stadium Friday. Chairman Joe Triner made the announcement after conferring for three hours with Commissioner James R. Fitzpatrick. Sheldon Clark, the third member of the board, who is on a business trip in California, will be contacted for an opinion.

Triner had recommended that the proposal be approved, but Fitzpatrick refused to concur, maintaining approval would be contrary to the rules, which provide that boxers weigh in at 1 o'clock in the commission offices on the afternoon preceding the contest.

Ask Ceremony at 8 P. M.

The original plan was to have the boys step on the scale in the Stadium dressing room at 8 p. m. Friday, two hours before they are scheduled to fight, wearing full fighting equipment, including gloves. The promoter submitted the proposition with the approval of Sam Pian, manager of Zale, and Matt Twomey, representative of Mamakos.

Because of Fitzpatrick's opposition, however, Triner amended the application so that the fighters would weigh in without ring apparel, between 4 and 5 p. m. Friday in the commission offices. If the weigh-in ceremonies are held after 5 o'clock they will be conducted in the Stadium.

Comes In at 156 Pounds.

Mamakos never has weighed more than the 156 pounds he carried while beating Milt Aron in the Coliseum on Nov. 25. This is five pounds less than the agreed weight for Friday's bout.

Promoter Irving Schoenwald has postponed his boxing show in the Coliseum from Jan. 24 to Jan. 27. At the same time, he closed a 10 round encounter between Arne Anderson, Minneapolis heavyweight, and Frank Greene for presentation in Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . Ten amateur boxing matches and two wrestling bouts will be held tonight in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Parkway.

A team of major league baseball players defeated the Pabst Blue Ribbon bowlers, 2,871 pins to 2,760, in a C. Y. O. needy youth benefit match on the C. Y. O. alleys last night. Frank Gustine of the Pittsburgh Pirates was high for the ball players, with 531, while 18 year old Glenn Gersch, a substitute, paced the losers with 585. The teams tied at 954 pins in the last game, after the ball players had won the first two. The ball players used a six man team.

THE GUMPS—AN ARTISTIC FLOP

Elgin Team in Silver Skates Led by Boy, 14

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Walter Rust Jr. heads the speed skating team from Elgin, Ill., which will compete in the 24th annual Silver Skates Derbies in Garfield park Jan. 18 and 19. Rust's leadership, altho he is only 14 years old, is founded on two previous Silver Skates championships gained in the meets sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Three years ago Rust won the midget Derby for boys under 12 years of age. Last year he was first in the juvenile class and now he is eligible for the junior Derby. No champion may defend his title in the same age division, altho he may qualify by age for the attempt. A champion, however, may move to the next class.

Elgin Has Team of 15.

The Elgin Skating association will have a team of 15. Five are entered in the men's senior Derby, the original race in Silver Skates which has now been expanded to eight events. Robert Roth, Ruben Walbaum, John Tennant, Edward Gathman, and Kenneth Wahl are the senior skaters. Ronald Olson and Robert Creed will compete in the junior class. David Schlie and Robert Broeker are in the juvenile division. The girls on the team are Margaret Daly, intermediate; Arlene Creed, Peggy Rust, Joan Wahl, and Gail Creed, juniors.

The La Crosse, Wis., Skating club also plans to send a team to the Silver Skates Derbies. In other years Cedar Rapids, Ia., has competed and skaters from that city have won championships. La Crosse is joining in the development of outdoor sports in the upper Mississippi valley.

Entries Close Sunday.

Entries for this year's Derbies close at midnight Sunday. Skaters on these lists will remain eligible even if it is necessary to postpone the races. Team entries may be made by coach, captain, or manager if ages and addresses are specified. A silver cup will be awarded the team which has the largest number of contestants actually competing in the trials Jan. 18 and 19.

The Derbies will be conducted by the same group of officials which has been in charge for a number of years. Many of them have served since 1917. Among these is Jimmy Patton, 75 years old. Patton can remember every champion from Art Staff, the first winner, to George Shimek of Iowa, the 1940 champion.

WILSON BEMOANS SLIM HOPES FOR TRADING OF CUBS

Jim Wilson, manager of the Cubs, commuted into Chicago from Philadelphia yesterday but his baggage didn't include any trading ideas.

"I'll trade, but with whom?" was the Wilson response to an inquiry as to whether he might find some strength where it is most needed.

"There seems to be a notion abroad in the land that I am some kind of a Santa Claus," said the Cub leader. "I talked business with some of the National leaguers at the meeting here last month. I have seen some of them since. They don't want to trade, they want something for nothing. They'll gladly take Hank Leiber, Claude Passeau, and Vern Olson, giving in return some fellows not even good enough to become regulars. I'm not making that kind of swaps."

Wilson will be present when the National league holds its annual schedule meeting in New York next month but, at the moment, doesn't see where he'll be able to do himself any good. Wilson will be one of the guests tonight at the annual dinner of the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers' association in the Hotel Morrison. James Dykes, the Sox leader, also a guest, will arrive from Philadelphia this morning.

James Gallagher, Cubs' business manager, yesterday received the signed contracts of Coaches Charley Grimm and Charles [Dick] Spalding.

Ice Skate Derby of C. Y. O. Set for Tomorrow Night

The C. Y. O. ice racing derby will be held tomorrow night in Lincoln park on the Waveland ice rink, it was announced last night by Pete Miller, president of the Illinois Skating association. The C. Y. O. derby was originally scheduled to be held Dec. 29 in Garfield park, but was postponed because of the unseasonal weather. The first event starts at 7:30 p. m.

Ice conditions on the Waveland rink are perfect, since the events in the season opening derby last Sunday showed that all of the events were skated in near record times. Youngsters in the boys and girls juvenile divisions looked particularly promising in their first start.

Jerry Fahrenbach of the C. Y. O. and his teammate, Don Lazer, last year's midget champion, battled it out over the 220 yard course in one of the closer finishes of the day, while little Misses Virginia Mazetta of the C. Y. O. and Mary Allen of the Northwest S. C. indicated a rivalry will develop between them for the rest of the season.

More than 400 skaters are entered in the 20 event program tomorrow night, with two events for class A men and a pair of contests for senior women and intermediate boys.

Hoppe Takes 120 to 67 Lead in Cue Match

of the afternoon block as tho he were going to put an end to it before dusk fell. The dapper New Yorker began the 21st inning with a cluster of five and thereafter scored in all except one of the next 11 innings, taking a 55 to 23 margin before running into another blank in the 33d frame. He was forced to toil another six innings before gaining the required five points, but Schaefer's best in the same stretch was four points, his neatest maneuver being a bank shot in the 36th. Hoppe retorted to this in his half of the same frame with a five cushion bank that brought the customers to their feet.

The score by innings:

TYGH WINS OVER MIKE GAMIERE IN TEN ROUNDS

Jimmy Tygh, Philadelphia lightweight, who was defeated by Nick Castiglione in his last previous Chicago appearance, regained lost prestige by pounding out a decision in 10 rounds over Mike Gamiere, 1935 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight champion, in Marigold Gardens last night.

Gamiere was never afforded a chance to land his powerful right on a vulnerable spot. In the third round Mike walked into a left to the jaw which dropped him for a three count and in the ninth another left opened a cut over his right eye. A crowd of 1,425 contributed a $1,677.98 gate.

Jimmy Pierce, West Allis, Wis., 152 pound fighter, defeated Tito Taylor in a five round semi-final. Billy Pierce, middleweight brother of Jim, also scored a victory, beating Leif Erickson in four rounds. Matt Milovich, Milwaukee lightweight, conquered Andy Canal, and Frank McBride, Chicago middleweight, beat Jack Whittinghill in additional matches of four rounds.

Blackhawks and Rangers to Clash Tonight

Games Tonight

Chicago at New York Rangers.
Detroit at Boston.
Toronto at Montreal.

New York, Jan. 6 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks arrived here today for their second game of the season against Lester Patrick's Rangers in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. It will be the fourth meeting of the teams. In three previous matches the Hawks won, 4 to 1 and 3 to 1, in Chicago, and tied the Rangers, 3 to 3, in the single New York game.

The Hawks will face a Rangers' squad that is intact, for Capt. Art Coulter and Alex Shibicky, who were out with injuries when the teams met the last time, have returned to the Stanley cup holders' lineup.

LoPresti Faces Kerr.

Sammy LoPresti, Hawk goalie who broke even with Frank Brimsek of Boston Sunday night in Sammy's first appearance in big league company, faces Dave Kerr tomorrow night. Kerr is the present holder of the Vezina goal keepers' trophy.

Many things can happen in the league standings in the three hockey battles scheduled for tomorrow night. If the Canadiens, on their own ice at Montreal, defeat or tie the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Rangers vanquish the Hawks, the Chicagoans will drop to sixth place in the race, only a half game ahead of the last place New York Americans.

Canadiens—Then Wings.

Should Toronto beat the Canadiens and the Bruins defeat the Detroit Red Wings, right now the hottest team in hockey, the Leafs will regain the league lead.

Immediately after the Rangers' clash the Hawks will leave for Chicago, where they meet the Canadiens Thursday and face battling Giacomo Orlando and the Red Wings Sunday.

IOWA WINS, 43-22

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 6 [Special].—Iowa's basketball team completed a perfect nonconference season here tonight by running roughshod over the University of North Dakota, 43 to 22. It was the Hawkeyes' seventh consecutive victory.

Vic Siegel led the way as the Hawks took a 14 to 3 early lead before the reserves were called in. They held an 18 to 11 half time advantage. The varsity played long enough in the final half to boost the total to 35 to 17.

DRAFT BOARDS USE PSYCHIATRY TO BUILD ARMY

Mentally Unsuited Get Jobs Out of Ranks.

A new accent is being placed on psychiatry in the examinations of men under the draft law, according to Maj. Lester Johnson, chief medical adviser of the Illinois selective service board.

Maj. Lester Johnson.

So great is this emphasis in Illinois that efforts are being made to place a psychiatrist at the head of each of the 32 medical advisory boards in the state, the major said. The medical advisory boards, composed of specialists, have been created to pass on the draftee whose condition requires special diagnosis.

"Observations during the world war and the continued study of mental cases produced by the war have convinced us that many men physically fit for service have no place in the ranks because of emotional instability," Maj. Johnson said. "It does not follow, however, that these men may be of no value to the service. Many of them may become staff officers, supply men, or work into key positions back home."

Examine Draftees Closely.

Medical examiners at the local boards are admonished to give careful attention to the mental attitude of each man. The key to this attitude is in the draftee's speech and in his reactions to questions concerning his ambitions, the officer said. He is watched closely for any signs of anxiety, apprehension, or inward tension.

"The local examiners are told to draw each man into conversation, to get him to talk about his hopes and ambitions, to tell about his background with a view toward revealing his true personality," said Major Johnson. "If there is any indication that he might become weak under stress, he is turned over to the nearest medical advisory board. Many of the 32 such boards in Illinois are headed by psychiatrists. We wish we had a psychiatrist to head each one of them."

World War Mistakes Cited.

It is as useless to send an emotional man into the ranks of the army as it would be to send a high-strung race horse into the cavalry, the officer added. He admitted, however, that this mistake was made many times in the last war. This was confirmed by Clarence A. Dykstra, director of the draft, in a recent bulletin from Washington, D. C.

"In the world war a great many men who were inducted into the army were not capable of meeting service conditions which aggravated the handicap of some, and permanently disabled others who could have been useful had they remained in civilian life," Dykstra said.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED BY HAIRDRESSERS

The Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association last night held its annual installation of officers in the Hotel Sherman. The officers are Gene Pesce, president; Mrs. Letty Parsell, vice president; Thomas Frank, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth McNichol, financial secretary, and Marc Gartman, treasurer. Mrs. Margaret Condos, retiring president, becomes chairman of the board. The prize for the most attractive hair dress went to Carmen Fouts, 290 Deerpath, Lake Forest. Her "coiffure chic," designed especially for business women, is a modified pompadour, swept up off the forehead, with shadow waves at the back swept to the left and finished in rows of sculpture curls.

FATHER AND SON PERISH IN FIRE; 2 KIN NEAR DEATH

An inquest into the deaths of Harvey Sutton, 29 years old, and his son, Charles, 8, who perished in a fire early yesterday morning in their home at 9823 Lawrence avenue, in Fairview, north of Schiller Park, was continued until Feb. 28. Deputy Coroner Edmund J. English said he learned that burns also may prove fatal to Sutton's wife, Agnes, 28, and a son, Harvey Jr., 9.

The fire in the two room frame home was believed to have started when bedclothes were ignited by an overheated kerosene stove. Sutton, a WPA worker, was burned to death when he reëntered the house after he rushed his wife and Harvey Jr. outside. Mrs. Sutton had managed to drop her baby, Joseph, 18 months old, out a window, while another boy, George, 12, jumped thru the window. The father went back in the house for Charles, who died of suffocation.

Mrs. Sutton and Harvey Jr. suffered severe burns before being taken from the house. At County hospital their condition was said to be critical.

SEX ABSTINENCE CHARGE STRICKEN BY 'I AM' JUDGE

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6 (AP).—Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich ruled today that even if the nine "I Am" movement leaders on trial charged with using the mails to defraud had "caused a million homes to be broken up, it still wouldn't be mail fraud."

He granted a defense motion to strike all testimony by government witnesses that the "I Am" leaders taught sex abstinence and that this had broken up many homes.

First defense testimony was given by A. G. Grant of Shasta City, Cal., who said that he had met the late Guy Ballard, founder of the "I Am" movement, on Mount Shasta in 1930.

The government had sought to cast doubt as to whether Ballard ever had conferred with the "ascended master" St. Germain on Mount Shasta, as he related in his writings. Grant testified he knew Ballard had been to the mountain.

SURFACE LINES FIGHT BUS FEE FOR PARK BOARD

The Chicago Surface lines yesterday asked the Illinois Commerce commission for authority to install two proposed bus extensions without obtaining permission from the Chicago Park district. This request was made in reply to the park district's contention last week that the bus lines cannot be installed without its permission.

The two routes would run in Division street from California to Montjcello avenues and from 25th street and Central Park avenue to Kimball and Wrightwood avenues. Each route would be operated for about a half mile on park roadway.

The park district has demanded compensation of 2 cents per bus mile for the operation on Park roadway.

The commission ordered a hearing for Jan. 13.

$16,000 TO BE PAID FOR BOY'S LOSS OF LEG IN CRASH

A settlement of $16,000 for Richard Monaco, 11 years old, 833 Grand avenue, was approved yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court, for the loss of his right leg in a street car accident. The settlement was reached between attorneys for the surface lines and the boy's lawyer, H. H. Patterson. Richard was injured last Sept. 7 when he rolled on his scooter into a Halsted street car at Grand avenue. The boy, walking on crutches, appeared in court with his widowed motl.er, Mrs. Francesca Monaco, whose husband died several weeks ago.

SCHEDULE STEEL RATE AT HIGHEST POINT IN HISTORY

Week's Mill Operations 97.2% of Capacity.

Steel production in the United States this week will be the largest in the nation's history, operating schedules showed yesterday. Other news from industry included announcement that a coke producer plans a large plant expansion, and reports from more air transport companies showing record traffic in 1940.

Steel operations this week will rise to 97.2 per cent of theoretical plant capacity, representing a record tonnage, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated. This compared with 95.9 per cent last week and 96.9, the former record in the week of Dec. 2. A month ago output was at 96 per cent of capacity and a year ago 86.1 per cent.

$2,000,000 Coke Plant Project.

Donner-Hanna Coke corporation, Buffalo, N. Y., jointly controled by Republic Steel corporation and National Steel corporation, disclosed it is considering a $2,000,000 plant expansion program. The project will include 55 new coke ovens and modernization of the by-products unit, which could make such defense items as benzol. The company has filed with the war department an application for permission to amortize the cost of the program over a five year period.

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and Pennsylvania-Central Airlines reported passenger traffic increases.

Chicago Traffic a Record.

T. W. A. announced that the number of passengers boarding its planes in Chicago for New York was 100 per cent larger in 1940 than in 1939. The number boarding planes here for Los Angeles, Cal., on the air line rose 80 per cent the company said. In both cases alltime records were set.

A 72 per cent increase in revenue passenger traffic and a 77 per cent gain in revenue passenger miles flown were reported by Pennsylvania-Central Airlines for 1940.

CATERPILLAR TRACTOR.

Has Caterpillar Tractor received any large orders from the army for armored tanks? How is the company doing?—H. L.

Answer: Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., has not been awarded any defense orders for army tanks, despite its foremost position in the manufacture of track type tractors. The company has never constructed military tanks.

Besides tractors, the company builds Diesel marine engines and electric generators, elevating and blade graders, and road building and maintenance machinery. The machines are used in the construction, road building, logging, oil drilling, mining, agricultural, and other fields.

In the first 11 months of 1940 the company's net income rose to $7,295,920, equal to $3.88 a share, compared with $5,305,573, or $2.55 a share, in the corresponding period of 1939. Net sales climbed to $66,181,407 from $54,295,893. Sales in 1940 were reported at an all-time peak.

The earnings and cash dividend record of the company in recent years follows:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1935	$ 5,949,307	$3.16	$2.00
1936	9,849,592	5.24	2.50
1937	10,168,690	5.24	2.00
1938	3,235,709	1.41	2.00
1939	6,004,892	2.55	2.00

Outstanding stock of the company consists of 1,882,240 shares of no par common stock. Dividends have been paid on the stock without intermission since 1925, when the company was formed. Payments on the stock totaled $2 a share in 1940.

LET 33 MILLION ENGINE AWARD TO STUDEBAKER

Day's Arms Orders Top 87 Millions.

With Studebaker corporation sharing to the extent of $33,657,580, new national defense contracts and orders totaling $87,760,093 were announced yesterday by the war department at Washington, D. C. Also announced was President Roosevelt's approval of a contract by which Wright Aeronautical corporation will build a new airplane engine plant at Lockland, O., at a cost of about $42,480,000.

The number of airplane engines to be produced by Studebaker under the 33 million dollar order was not given, but it was expected part of them would be turned out in a new plant to be built in Chicago.

Last week the company contracted to build the Chicago plant and two others—in South Bend and Fort Wayne, Ind.—at a total cost estimated at $49,000,000 for land, construction, and equipment for plane motor production.

Studebaker's First Order.

Yesterday's order is the first received by Studebaker under the expension program. The Chicago plant will produce precision parts, and will employ about 4,000 workers.

Included in the department's $87,760,093 batch of orders was one for $31,507,635 let to Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company, Pontiac, Mich., for trucks. Others were:

Chase Brass and Copper company, Inc., Waterbury, Conn., artillery ammunition components, $715,644; Bendix Aviation corporation, Eclipse Aviation division, Bendix, N. J., electric starters, $739,240; York Safe and Lock company, York, Pa., gun carriages, $1,043,328; Evans Products company, Detroit, Mich., tripod mounts, $1,278,440; Chain Belt company, Milwaukee, Wis., artillery material, $2,747,708; United Engineering and Foundry company, Pittsburgh, Pa., artillery material, $3,221,294; Bendix Aviation corporation, Eclipse Machine division, Elmira Heights, N. Y., artillery material, $5,848,653; C. H. Cowdrey Machine works; Fitchburg, Mass., artillery material, $3,566,800; McCord Radiator and Manufacturing company, Detroit, Mich., small arms material, $958,584; Bates Shoe company, Worcester, Mass., small arms material, $636,000.

Let Construction Contracts.

Olson Construction company and Dobson & Robinson, both of Lincoln, Neb., construction of increased ammuntion loading facilities at the Ogden, Utah, ordnance depot, $708,500; Cummins Construction corporation and Riggs Distiler & Co., Inc., Baltimore, Md., supplemental contract for plant facilities at Edgewood arsenal and Aberdeen proving ground, Md., $1,130,684.

No details were announced concerning the Wright Aeronautical contract. Announced along with it was the approval of a $6,954,735 contract let to Otis Elevator company for construction of a new plant at Harrison, N. J., for manufacture of crankcases for Wright engines.

The navy department announced more than $500,000 of contracts, including one to J. Klein & Son, Chicago, for $370,390 of iron and steel pipe.

International Harvester company, Chicago, received two orders from the war department, as follows: Tractor parts, $103,599, and Diesel tractors and parts, $261,771.

Trend of Employment and Pay Rolls in Manufacturing Industries 1919-1940

Predict Large 1941 Business in Furniture

Merchants whose stocks of home furnishings had been almost cleared out by this year's heavy run of Christmas buying arrived in Chicago yesterday by the thousands to purchase new wares at two 14-day trade shows in the American Furniture mart and the Merchandise mart. The experts predicted a booming business for 1941 that will recall the golden year of 1929 in the furniture industry.

At the Furniture mart 850 exhibitors, occupying two million square feet of floor space, have 70,000 items on display in the 35th annual National Home Furnishings exposition. Exhibitors at the International Home Furnishings market in the Merchandise mart have approximately 50,000 pieces assembled on 1½ million square feet of show space.

Expect About 24,000 Buyers.

Registrations indicated that 12,000 buyers would attend the show at the Furniture mart. The Merchandise mart looked for a record attendance of 11,700. Registrations from Central and South American countries were greatly increased over previous years. But a sharp decrease was noted in the number of buyers from Canadian stores.

Prior to the reciprocal tariff agreement between the United States and Canada, which reduced the duty on furniture from 45 to 27 per cent, United States dealers did an annual business of $170,000 with the dominion. Under the lowered tariff, American exports mounted to $672,000 a year.

But early last month Canada, estimating that between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 a month would be saved on the foreign exchange market by the action, banned a long list of American products, including furniture, radios, phonographs, china, glass, and household appliances, all of which were popular north of the border. It was believed that the Canadians, unable to buy these products, would save the money and help finance the national war effort.

Stress Colorful Outdoor Pieces.

Designed largely for spring and summer buying, the furnishings on display at both markets emphasized colorful outdoor pieces. Patriotic color schemes and gay designs borrowed from South America predominate.

There is a notable increase in the use of plastics by the furniture manufacturers. Almost all of the standard period designs in furniture are affected by the modern influence either in line, color, or space-saving device.

BATTLE LINES DRAWN FOR BOARD OF TRADE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Battle lines were drawn yesterday for the annual election of officers of the Chicago Board of Trade, to be held next Monday.

John G. McCarthy, who expected to retire from the presidency which he has held for two years, and Chester D. Sturtevant were nominated for re-election by petition to oppose Philip

R. O'Brien and G. Willard Hales, regular candidates selected by the nominating committee recently for the positions of president and first vice president, respectively. Hales then withdrew from the race and the nominating committee will meet today to select another candidate for first vice president.

Chicago Area Truck Drivers Get Pay Boost

Approximately 12,000 truck drivers in Chicago and the vicinity yesterday received a $3 a week wage boost when they signed a two year contract with operators. In addition, overtime pay was increased 10 cents an hour, making the total increase in salaries for the next two years almost $5,500,000, according to Walter E. McCarron, general manager of the Illinois Motor Truck Operators association.

The new contract was signed at a meeting between representatives of the operators and two local unions in the La Salle hotel. Negotiations had been under way for two months. The last contract expired Dec. 31.

Represent 700 Operators.

Parties to the agreement were the Illinois Motor Truck Operators association and the Cartage Exchange of Chicago, representing the operators, and two local truck drivers' unions, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, Local 705, and the Chicago Truck Drivers, Chauffeurs and Helpers Union of Chicago and Vicinity.

The IBT is an American Federation of Labor affiliate while the Chicago drivers' union is an independent organization. The two operator associations represent a combined membership of 700 truck operators.

Agree to Drop Vacations.

The drivers gave up rights to vacations in the new agreement. The new contract will run to Dec. 31, 1942, and is retroactive to Jan. 1 as far as wages are concerned.

Drivers of trucks hauling freight under the old contract received $34 a week for vehicles of one ton and less than two tons, and an overtime wage of 85 cents an hour. Under the contract signed yesterday, this wage is boosted to $37 per week and the overtime wage to 95 cents an hour.

Drivers' salaries range up to $46.50 a week on ten ton and larger trucks.

HUGE DEMANDS FOR NEW TAXES BUDGET THEME

Congress Awaits 17 Billion Program.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—Action on drastic revenue legislation to finance the defense program and war supplies for Great Britain today awaited the President's message to congress on an estimated 17 billion dollar budget for the next fiscal year. In his annual message today the President skipped details on how the defense program will be financed, merely covering this phase by saying that taxes must be raised in accordance with ability to pay and that Britain and other countries fighting the Axis powers need billions of dollars worth of war equipment.

Later in the day, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. told newsmen that the administration's plan for turning over war supplies to other nations upon the promise to repay in kind at some later date will change substantially the estimates on the cost of our own defense program.

Plan More Defense Notes.

"The manufacturers expect to be paid and we've got to raise the money to pay them," said Morgenthau, adding that 'a substantial amount' must be raised this fiscal year. He disclosed further that the treasury will ask for another 500 million dollars or more in new money some time this month. The money will be raised by issuing special defense notes, which like the 500 millions in ¾ of 1 per cent defense notes offered on Dec. 11, will be completely taxable by the federal government.

The federal debt now totals more than 45 billion dollars, and boosting of the present legal limit of 49 billions will be requested by the treasury when congress gets ready to work on a tax program. Morgenthau will also request authority to tax completely federal bonds, the same as notes.

Legislative leaders in the meantime are looking to the White House for advice. The house ways and means committee has made no plans for hearings on a tax bill. When Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee, was asked today how soon he expected a tax bill, he replied that, "I haven't had time to think on that phase."

Expect 10 Billion Request.

Advance reports on the budget are that it will include a request for 10 billions for national defense and aid to Britain. The President indicated in his message today that he wants more blank check authority to allocate appropriations at his discretion. The British have already negotiated orders totaling 3 billion dollars to be handled under the equipment swapping plan with complete financing by the United States, and the prospec-

Montgomery Ward, Walgreen Sales Reach New Peak Levels

Two Chicago enterprises, Montgomery Ward & Co. and the Walgreen company, yesterday reported December sales were the largest for any month since establishment of the companies.

Ward's sales reached $70,850,185, a gain of 7.31 per cent over December, 1939, when this Chicago mail order and retail store system did $66,025,061 of business. Sales for the first 11 months of the company's fiscal year which began last Feb. 1, totaled $512,514,216. This also represented a new peak, 8.62 per cent ahead of the $471,840,169 for the corresponding 1939 period.

Walgreen's business aggregated $8,140,131 last month, a gain of 5.7 per cent over December, 1939, sales of $7,985,504. Sales of this national drug store system in 1940 also reached a new peak at $75,594,086, or 6.1 per cent above the 1939 volume of $71,273,027.

Woolworth's Gain 4.3 Per Cent.

F. W. Woolworth company, largest in its field, announced December business of $54,571,092, compared with $52,332,623 in 1939, a gain of 4.3 per cent. Its volume for 1940 was $335,460,253, compared with $318,832,968 in 1939, a gain of 5.2 per cent.

W. T. Grant company's December sales totaled $20,029,698, an increase of 6.1 per cent over the $18,868,317 of the corresponding 1939 month. Highest in its history, 1940 sales were $111,050,295, an increase of 7.4 per cent over the $103,361,729 for 1939.

Spiegel, Inc., Chicago mail order house, reported its December sales were 1.6 per cent higher at $6,758,542, against $6,650,149 in 1939. For the 12 months its sales amounted to $53,768,803, up 1.7 per cent from the $52,860,465 of 1939.

C. E. WILSON ELECTED PRESIDENT OF GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION

New York, Jan. 6 (AP).—Charles E. Wilson, acting president of the General Motors corporation since William S. Knudsen left that post to assist in the national defense program, was elected president today, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, announced. Knudsen was given a leave of absence last June and resigned in September.

Wilson was born in Minerva, O., in 1890. For about 10 years after his graduation in 1909 from Carnegie Institute of Technology as an electrical engineer he was connected with Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Joining General Motors in 1919, he was actively identified with its development from relatively small beginnings into the leading unit in its field with resources of about $1,700,000,000. For some time before his appointment as acting president he had served as executive vice president.

Senator Seeks to Divorce Oil Production and Selling

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—Senator Guy D. Gillette [D., Ia.] asked congress today to divorce producing, refining, and transportation from the marketing of petroleum products. He also offered legislation which would prohibit pipelines from carrying products in which the carriers had an interest and another bill which would forbid producers, refiners, or marketers from operating oil tankers and barges.

INCREASE FARES OR LINE FAILS, SPRAGUE WARNS

Col. A. A. Sprague, receiver for the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad told the Illinois Commerce commission yesterday that unless the road's requested increases in commuters' fares are granted, the abandonment of service is imminent. Col. Sprague said that the federal court, which has jurisdiction over the road, has "several times seriously considered" making application to the commission to shut down the road.

The suggested fare changes would eliminate the present 54 ride and 60 ride monthly tickets. Weekly tickets for 10, 12, or 14 rides would be issued at the same rate per ride as the present 12 ride weekly tickets. Present users of monthly tickets might pay as much as 30 per cent more under the proposed schedule, but riders who commuted only five days a week might save money, officials told the commission.

AMERICAN GOLD STOCK ABOVE 22 BILLION DOLLARS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—The treasury's gold stock today passed 22 billion dollars, roughly 80 per cent of all the monetary gold in the world. The total was $22,020,700,446, or $4,323,455,418.97 more than on the same date last year.

The treasury's huge holdings, however, do not cover all the gold in this country, because foreign governments and central banks had $1,804,000,000 worth of the metal deposited in their own names in the Federal Reserve banks.

MILLION TO FILE TAX RETURNS AT CHICAGO OFFICE

Low Income Groups Will Swell Total.

(Inquiries regarding specific applications of the 1940 revenue act to personal income tax returns will be answered by The Tribune's Investors' Guide department. Each year the department prints a series of articles on how to report your income tax. The series will appear later.)

Almost one million income tax returns, the largest in history, will be filed in the Chicago district this year, Nigel D. Campbell, chief office deputy for the collector of internal revenue, estimated yesterday. The increase of 300,000 to 400,000 returns over last year's total of 600,000 will come mainly from persons who are reporting their income for the first time because of changes in the federal revenue act and improved earning power, he said.

Carter H. Harrison Sr., collector of revenue.

The first revenue act of 1940 lowered personal exemptions from $1,000 to $800 for single persons and from $2,500 to $2,000 for married persons. The law also required income tax returns from all single persons with gross incomes of $800 or more and from all married persons with gross incomes of $2,000 or more. In previous years "net" income was used as a basis for determining whether a return was to be filed.

About Eight Million Affected.

The two major changes affect about eight million persons in the lower income groups in the United States, it has been estimated. Altho many of these will not have to pay income taxes after deducting exemptions, credits, and other allowances, the 1940 law for the first time will dip into

RUMANIAN PHONE PROPERTY SALE IS AUTHORIZED

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—The treasury today authorized the sale to the Rumanian government of the Rumanian property of International Telephone and Telegraph company. The price was $13,800,000.

Treasury approval was necessary because Rumania proposed to pay for the properties with funds frozen in the United States by Presidential order. The treasury licensed release of enough of Rumanian money to complete the deal.

ARE YOU One of the 27%?

According to a recent survey of people with substantial incomes, 27% failed to make wills. The chief reason was procrastination.

If there is no will the property may not go to the persons or in the manner desired by the owner. It may go outright to widows and children with no knowledge of how to conserve investments; the privilege of appointing an experienced and well-qualified executor and trustee is lost; estate shrinkages due to unnecessary taxes and administrative costs may be needlessly increased.

If you are one of the 27% we suggest that you discuss this question with your attorney without delay.

We shall be pleased to send you a booklet telling what becomes of property in the state of Illinois when the owner dies without a will.

SELECTED RISE, LACKING VIGOR, MADE IN STOCKS

Specialties Move Ahead as Steels Cancel Gains.

New York, Jan. 6 (AP).—Selected stocks moved up today for the third session in a row, but the advance was without vigor.

Steels, in front most of the day, slipped at the last, and early gains running to a point or more for other favorites were reduced or canceled in some instances at the close. Strength was displayed by assorted specialties. Transfers totaled 720,800 shares, compared with 506,040 on Friday, the last full trading day.

Brightening earnings prospects based on the rearmament program aided several shares, but bullish inclinations generally were restrained by continued fears this country may become an actual participant in the European conflict. The President's message to congress held the attention of board rooms, altho it had scant price making effect, inasmuch as it was about in line with expectations.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, and Youngstown Sheet finished behind small minus signs after being up most of the day.

Chicago Stocks.

The price trend continued upward yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange in turnover of 24,000 shares. Of the 89 active issues, 51 advanced, 16 declined, and 22 were unchanged. North American Car, one of the volume leaders, gained another ⅛ to 6⅝, setting a 1940-'41 peak for the fourth consecutive trading day. Highs were also recorded for Viking Pump at 32, up ½, and Yates American Machine at 5, up ⅝.

A comparison of several stocks listed both in Chicago and New York, showing the changes here in the hour after the New York close, follows:

	N. Y. Chgo.	Chge.
Aviation Corporation	5¼	5¼ —
Commonwealth Edison	29⅜	29½+ ⅛

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 6 (F).—The bond market was generally higher today with the rail group moving into new high ground for the last year and scattered strength showing in other sections. United States government obligations declined as much as a full point on light offerings.

Foreign dollar loans generally were narrow. Panama 5s bounded 7⅛ points on sale of 2 bonds.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust shares advanced 6 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. First National and Industrial National preferred were a point lower and Industrial National common eased half a point.

TEXAS PRORATION OF OIL UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

Dissent Filed by Roberts, Hughes, McReynolds.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—Texas Railroad commission orders prorating production of oil in the east Texas field were upheld today by the United States Supreme court.

Justice Felix Frankfurter delivered the opinion, applying specifically to a challege of the orders by the Rowan & Nichols Oil company. Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes and Justices James C. McReynolds and Owen J. Roberts dissented.

The majority opinion directed the federal District court to dismiss the complaint.

Declared State's Interest.

"A state's interest in the conservation and exploitation of a primary natural resource," Justice Frankfurter said, "is not to be achieved thru assumption by the federal courts of powers plainly outside their province and no less plainly beyond their special competence."

A similar decision also was delivered in a companion case involving the Humble Oil and Refining company.

In a decision last June 3, also written by Frankfurter, the Supreme court said that "it is not for the federal courts to supplant the commission's judgment even in the face of convincing proof that a different result would have been better."

That decision was on a challenge of another commission order by the Rowan and Nichols company. The two companies contended the present cases were different, and charged confiscation of property as a result of the proration orders.

Limits Tax Deductions.

The Supreme court upheld a limitation sought by the government on federal income tax deductions.

The department of justice contended that losses sustained thru foreclosure of real estate and by accepting part payment for bonds of a corporation or political subdivision in financial difficulties could not be deducted in full under the 1934 revenue act.

Justices Harlan F. Stone and Roberts delivered the opinions, which applied to several contests, and held the transactions were equivalent to "retirement" of the bonds and the deduction was limited.

DEVOE ABANDONS PAINT MAKING IN CHICAGO PLANT

The Devoe & Raynolds company has arranged to abandon its Chicago paint and varnish manufacturing operations and turn the building into a company warehouse, it was learned yesterday.

During the last six weeks a gradual layoff has reduced employment at the plant at 720 North Halsted street, from 130 to about 25. The change was termed an "economy move."

It was reported that the Chicago productive capacity would be absorbed by one of the company's plants in Louisville, Ky. The Chicago plant had an annual capacity of 1,250,000 gallons of ready mixed paints and flat finishes, 1,250,000 pounds of paste colors and 500,000 gallons of enamels, stains, and varnishes.

The company has main offices in New York City, and operates plants in a number of cities. No change will be made in the central and western district sales office at Chicago, it was announced.

Association of Commerce Holds Election Tomorrow

An election of officers who will serve during the coming year will be held tomorrow by the Chicago Association of Commerce, with representatives of more than 4,000 companies participating. Aubrey H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, will be unopposed as candidate for association president to succeed Oscar G. Mayer, meat packer, who has been the president for three years.

Philco Distributors Told of Increasing Year's Trade

Nine hundred distributors, district representatives, and officials of the Philco corporation met yesterday for a three day midwinter convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel. James T. Buckley, president, reported that 1940 was one of the best years in Philco history. He said the company continued to lead the radio industry in number of units sold, and that 1940 refrigerator sales tripled those of 1939.

Lehman Corporation Asset Value Higher as of Dec. 31

New York, Jan. 6 (AP).—The Lehman corporation, an investing concern, today reported an asset value of $29.64 a share as of Dec. 31, 1940, compared with $29.20 on Sept. 30 and $27.46 on June 30. The company's portfolio showed little change in major investments in the last quarter.

BOOK PUBLISHER CITED ON CLAIMS IN ADVERTISING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6 (AP).—The Federal Trade commission issued a complaint today charging the Consolidated Book Publishers, Inc., [Terminal building], Chicago, with misrepresentation.

The commission said that "in circulars and other advertisments" misrepresentations were made concerning "the Standard American Encyclopedia" and "the Universal Dictionary" two of the company's publications.

It asserted that, contrary to the advertisments, "the volumes composing the encyclopedia are not huge, but of ordinary size; that the cost of reproduction was not a million dollars, and that the supply of the encyclopedia is not limited," and that the dictionary "is not new, but is an identical reprint of a 1932 edition," with minor exceptions.

Raymond Fisher, attorney for the company, said that the advertising in question took place more than 2 years ago and that the practices to which the commission objected had been corrected voluntarily long ago.

RETAILER GROUP OPPOSES CHANGE IN JOB INSURANCE

The board of directors of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, meeting in the Palmer House, expressed opposition yesterday to federal domination of the social security act and adopted a resolution favoring the retention of the experience rating provisions. Copies of the resolution will be sent to congressmen.

The board contended that full adherence to the principle of experience rating in unemployment compensation insurance is the only means of developing genuine stability in employment, of rewarding the good and faithful employé, and of keeping job insurance on a sound basis. The federal social security board is opposed to reduction of employers' contributions under the present experience rating provisions whereby graduated payments are permitted by different companies, depending upon their employment records.

Manhattan Shirt Reports Increase in Net Earnings

Manhattan Shirt company reported yesterday for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, net income of $456,915, equal to $2.20 a share on common stock, compared with $445,976, or $2.04 a share, in the preceding year. Plants are in Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Vermont, Maryland, and Georgia.

Seagram Quarter Income Falls Below Level of '39

Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Ltd., yesterday reported net income of $1,294,295, equivalent to 62 cents a share, in the three months ended Oct. 31, 1940. In the corresponding period of 1939 net profits totaled $3,447,902, or $1.86 a share.

MILLION TO FILE TAX RETURNS AT CHICAGO OFFICE

Income Groups Hit First Time to Swell Total.

the incomes of a large segment of the population previously untouched.

Tapping the low income groups under the new law was part of the administration's policy for financing the defense program. President Roosevelt in his message to congress yesterday indicated that even heavier taxes for defense would be imposed against future incomes.

In addition to the lower personal exemptions, the 1940 revenue act assessed a new 10 per cent supertax for defense, which is added to every income tax bill.

Many Clerks Added.

Campbell said that 175 clerks and field investigators had been added to the staff of Carter H. Harrison Sr., the collector of internal revenue, since November.

Campbell urged that persons making returns for the first time file early to avoid being caught in the last minute jam which is expected this year. Returns must be filed on or before March 15.

"We have our staff ready on the first floor of the federal courthouse for those who want to get their returns in early," he said. "Those unfamiliar with the returns should try to file them this month or February."

File if Paid $15 a Week.

For those who are uncertain whether they have to report their 1940 income to the treasury, here is a simple rule: You must file a return if you are single [or estranged from your wife or husband] and earned an average of $15 a week or more last year, or, if married, $38 or more a week.

The effect of the 1940 revenue law on the average taxpayer's pocketbook is an increased tax of $20 [the normal tax rate of 4 per cent on the $500 cut from the personal exemption] for a married person, and $8 [4 per cent of $200] for a single person. Added to this is the 10 per cent supertax.

Increased surtaxes in the law also hit taxpayers in the $6,000 to $100,000 a year income brackets. The effect of the new law on income tax liabilities is demonstrated in the following table comparing the income tax bill under the old and new laws of a married man, with no dependents other than his wife, no partly exempt United States government interest, and no capital gains and losses.

Includes Supertax.

The tax includes the normal tax of 4 per cent, the surtax, and in 1940 the 10 per cent supertax [income up to $14,000 is assumed to be earned income]. Net income is before deduction of personal exemption.

HUGE DEMANDS FOR NEW TAXES BUDGET THEME

Wait Message to Hear Revenue Plans.

tive total of such orders may run to 7 billions.

It is anticipated that the President will ask a tax boost of at least 1 billion dollars and more likely 2 billions, in view of the tax legislation of the last session which raised less than 2 billion dollars in new revenues and was developed before the heavy defense spending and aid to Britain plan got under way.

Ignores Eccles Plan.

Significantly, Mr. Roosevelt in his message today ignored the recommendations on monetary and fiscal policy made last week by Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board. These recommendations, to be incorporated in the board's annual report, called for repeal of the President's authority to devalue the dollar or to issue 3 billions in greenbacks; also, the authority to purchase foreign silver or to issue currency against such silver acquisitions. The board also requested increased powers to raise bank reserve requirements as a curb on any inflationary movement.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., Ohio] has introduced a bill covering these recommendations, but he reported today that he has been promised no action by the senate banking and currency committee.

CHECK VOLUME INCREASES OVER WEEK, YEAR AGO

Christmas checks and year-end pay roll requirements boosted the value of checks cashed in 274 leading cities in the week ended Jan. 1 to $10,608,000,000, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. Check transactions a week earlier totaled $9,977,000,000 while a year ago the total was $10,577,000,000.

Debits to deposit accounts in 158 banks in 41 leading cities in the 7th [Chicago] reserve district last week amounted to $1,638,204,000, an increase of 27.7 per cent over the preceding week and 1.3 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
The Electric Auto-Lite Company
4% Debentures Due 1952

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to the provisions of Section 11 of Article Three of the Indenture dated as of February 1, 1937, between The Electric Auto-Lite Company and Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, as Trustee, The Electric Auto-Lite Company has elected to redeem and hereby calls for redemption on February 8, 1941 all of the $9,000,000 aggregate principal amount of the above mentioned 4% Debentures due 1952 presently issued and outstanding. On February 8, 1941 the above described Debentures will be due and payable at the principal office of Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, 70 Broadway, New York, N. Y.; and all interest thereon will cease to accrue from and after said date. Said Debentures are required to be presented, together with all interest coupons maturing subsequent to February 1, 1941, for redemption and payment at said principal office of Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company. Except as hereinafter provided, the interest coupons maturing February 1, 1941, appurtenant to said Debentures, will be paid apart from the Debentures to which they appertain. Debentures registered as to principal when presented for payment must be accompanied by appropriate instruments of assignment and transfer in blank properly executed by the registered holder thereof and with signatures properly guaranteed.

The Debentures will be payable at 104% of the principal amount thereof, together with interest on such principal amount accrued to such redemption date in the amount of seventy-eight cents (78¢), in the case of the Debentures of the denomination of $1,000, and thirty-nine cents (39¢), in the case of the Debentures of the denomination of $500 (in each case exclusive of the amount of the interest coupon appurtenant thereto maturing February 1, 1941).

THE HOLDER OR REGISTERED OWNER OF ANY DEBENTURE MAY OBTAIN PAYMENT OF THE FOREGOING AMOUNTS (TOGETHER WITH THE AMOUNT OF THE INTEREST COUPON APPURTENANT THERETO MATURING FEBRUARY 1, 1941, IF PRESENTED TOGETHER WITH THE DEBENTURE) AT ANY TIME ON OR AFTER THE DATE HEREOF UPON PRESENTATION OF SUCH DEBENTURE FOR REDEMPTION AND PAYMENT AS AFORESAID

Y-O-U-R O-W-N
B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 for a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 25 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise from your account.

Apply Tuesday at 11 a. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Owen, 2d floor, Standard National Bank Building, 7919 S. Ashland-av.
